Senior Willie Rogers relieves some of his tensions during the game between our cross town rival, Saginaw High. Arthur Hill went on to win a thrilling victory, 22-19.

Class of 92' demonstrate their blue and gold spirit by participating in the homecoming parade. This years parade started at the location of the first Arthur Hill.

The Big Five - O

Over 29,808 students have walked through the halls of Arthur Hill since its existence, and this year the building celebrated its 50th birthday. Originally Arthur Hill is 102 years old, and the first building was located on the corner of Court and Harrison and it served the community from 1888 until the opening of the new building in 1940.

In the 50 years of Arthur Hill, the sports teams have won seven state championships, 105 Valley League championships in 11 different sports and 28 names added to the Arthur Hill Letterwinners hall of fame.

When the school first opened up, the world was in the midst of a war. World War II was on and Arthur Hill was joining in on the wartime effort. This war was not the only war to hit Arthur Hill. In the late 60's and early 70's Vietnam was upon us. The President of that time was Richard Nixon and the news of Watergate was in the air.

Years following Jimmy Carter was elected to Office and in his time the release of the hostages was in the news. Following his administration was Ronald Reagan, and Star Wars was his program. After his term was the start of the Bush administration.

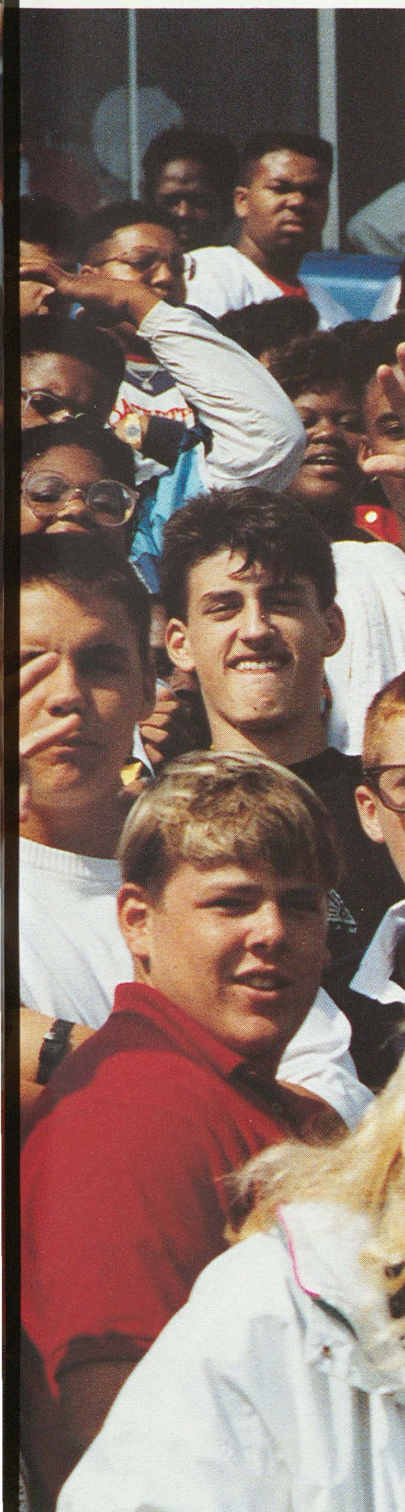

That leads us to the fall of 1990. Because America was involved in the Middle East, this was a time of uncertainties for the soldiers and also their families. Also in the world Germany was reunited after many years.

At Arthur Hill homecoming was celebrated and a new edition was added to the school. A bronze lumberjack weighing over 600 pounds and standing seven foot eight inches now stands in the front of the school in "Friendship Square." It was the end of half a century in 1990 for Arthur Hill and 1991 marked the start of another 50 years.

-Mary Whitney

Arthur Hill Alumni contribute to the 50th anniversary Homecoming parade. Many people showed up to help out make 1990's parade a big success.

The school year started off with a bang when the first pep assembly was held. The Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores cheered when Arthur Hill's fall sports were introduced.

A lumberjack now looks over Arthur Hill in the newly named Friendship Square. A dedication was held to introduce this lumberjack prior to the homecoming game.

The sophomore class get into the swing of things by taking part of the Homecoming parade. The sophomores put a lot of work in creating their float.

Senior powderpuffers form a semi-huddle to discuss their next play. Seniors were victorious with a score of 6-0.

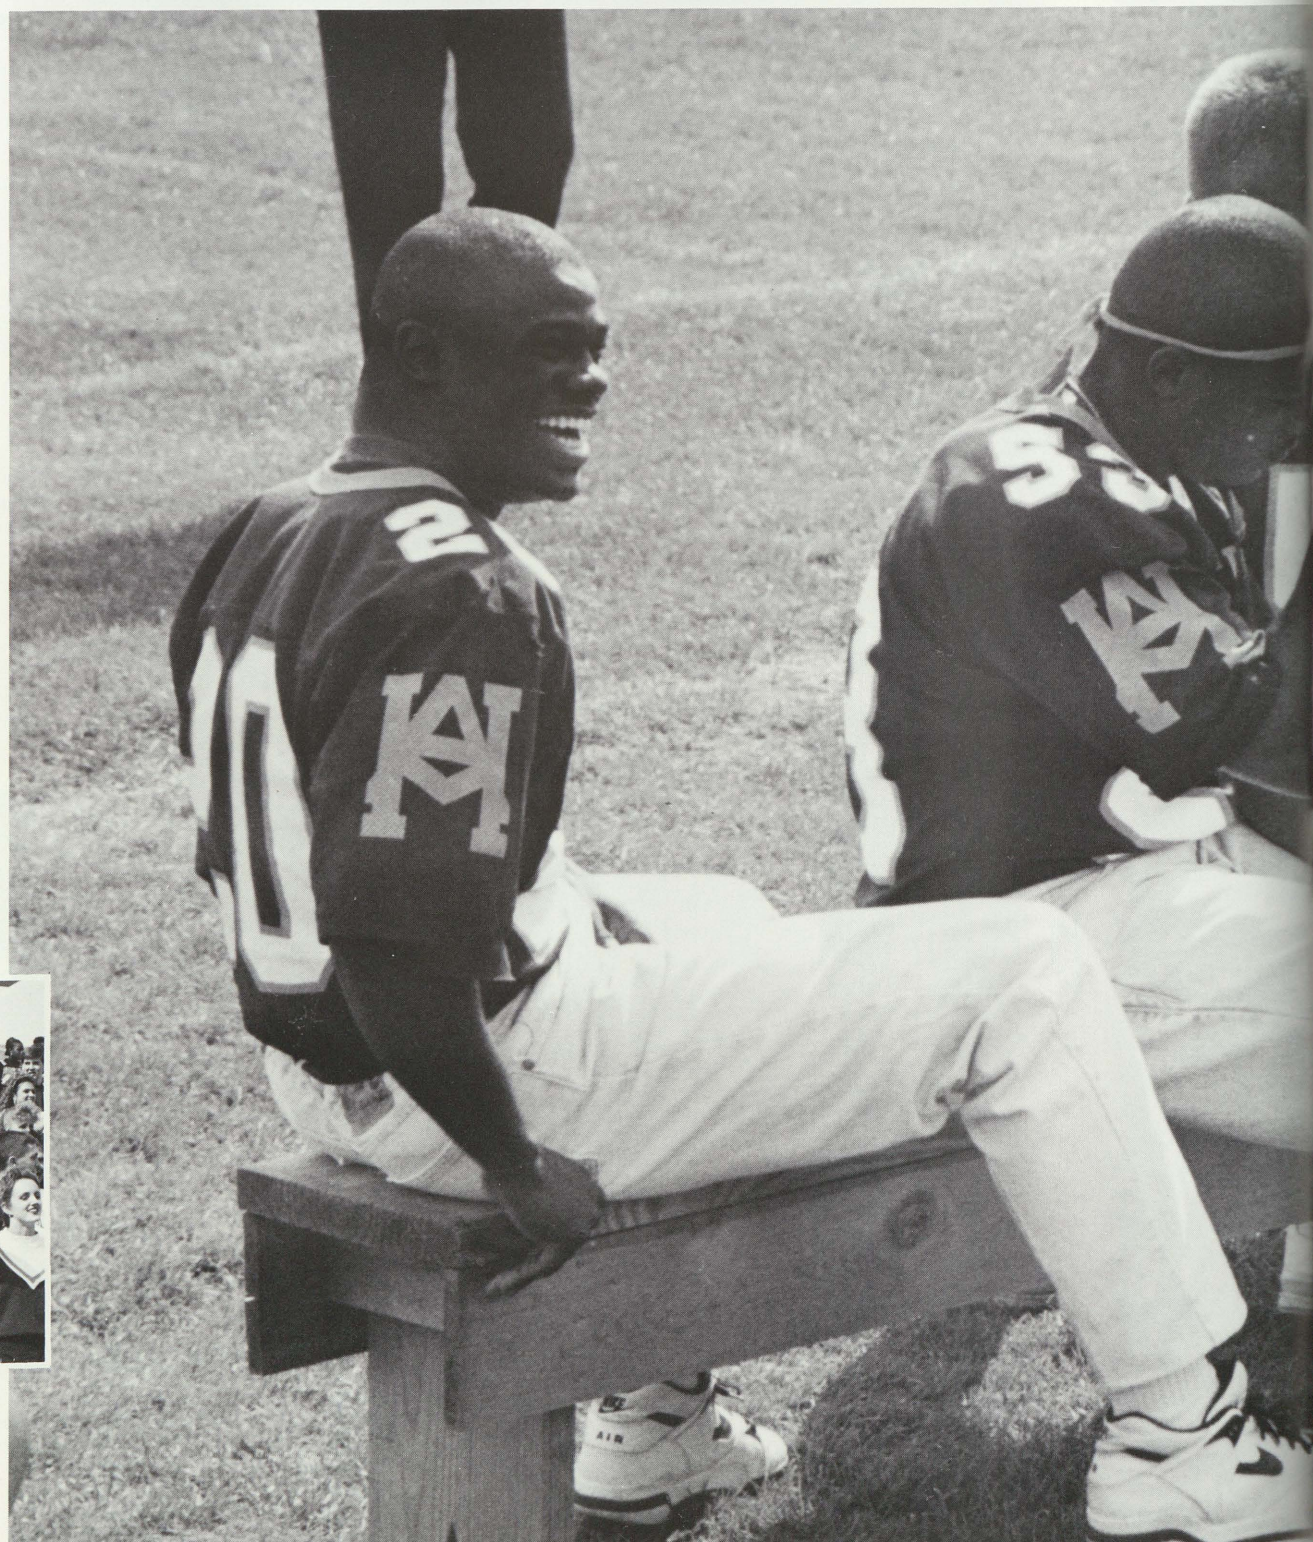

Seniors Jeff Mostek and Steve Riedel clown around during the North/South football game. This event was delayed due to rain.

The class of 91' put all their effort into making the senior float. after the parade was done, a dedication was held to introduce the new statue.

50 Years of fun

Homecoming is one of the most memorable times of the year. This year's Homecoming dance is marked the 50th Anniversary of our school.

Before everyone goes to the dance there are many preparations that must be taken care of. Reservations must be made, fancy dresses bought, dates are found, and the memories begin.

The dance was held on Saturday October 13, 1990 in the Arthur Hill gymnasium. The theme was "Here and Now. Rush Productions D.J. led the dance, which began at 8:00 p.m. and lasted until 12:00 a.m. "The dance was a lot of fun, and I had a great time," said Meika Tanner, '91, "this is one of the best memories I'll have my senior year."

The Homecoming

escorts finally got a chance to do their dance skit to Vanillia Ices' "Ice, Ice, Baby." Even though I made a fool of myself, I did it for fun, I did it for Elvis," said senior, Gerald Lang.

"Homecoming is a time when friends come together and have fun," said junior, Jennifer DeLosSantos. "A time when memories are made that will last forever," says Jodi Saldana, '91.

Homecoming's a time of joy for some people, and for some seniors a time of pain, for they know that their last year here at Arthur Hill will soon come to an end. "I know one thing that I will miss about school," said Julie Martin, '91, "is Arthur Hills' "Blue and Gold."

Hall Decorations

With all the excitement of homecoming: the game, the parade, the dance... hall decorations is yet another exciting event.

Students from each grade gather in their assigned halls on Thursday night. Now the competition begins! Each class strives to be better than the others. Who will have the best hall this year? (Of course everyone knows that the seniors always win!)

Blue and gold is everywhere. Crepe paper streamers drift down from the ceilings. Creativity is abundant; swimmers have their names on blue and fish. Football players have their own little footballs. Soccer players have little soccer balls. Clubs and sports teams alike all participate in some way to fill the halls with spirit. There are balloons, murals, footprints, and class posters for everyone to sign.

Not only does this boost school spirit for the big game, but the students enjoy doing it, too. As one senior said, "It's just fun!" And fun is what homecoming is all about!

Feista Excitement

The powderpuff game between the Seniors and the junors was won by the seniors.

The Festivities were postponed until Halloween because of the untimely weather.

The fact that it was postponed until Halloween made the activities seem more festive.

A lot of the people participated in the festivities by dressing out in blue and gold.

The band sold bake goods, the Latino-Action club sold burritos, the Black Studies club sold T-shirts, the SADD chapter sold carmell apples, Student Counsile sold cotton candy and gave away posters, Pep club held a pie throwing booth, Yearbook sold "you'll never get over the hill" t-shirts.

South beat North in the football game, and people cheered for both sides.

Homecoming Assembly: A Highlight To A Delayed Year

When students entered the auditorium, they didn't know what to expect. The late start caused the senior class to choose the Homecoming Court on the second day of school. The girls nearly represented all the seniors according to their extracurricular activities.

All the girls expressed joy and excitement when they discovered they made court. "When I discovered I made court, I dropped my pencil, my purse,...." stated Ruth Murray. "I was both shocked and relieved that I've made court," stated queen Nikki Taylor. "I was in total shock. To think, I was chosen from all the senior girls," said attendant LeAndrea Williams. This year, Arthur Hill is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary and the girls are taking the pressure in stride. "There is as much pressure on this court than there was last year and there will be next year," stated attendant LaJoyce Eichelberger.

This year's Homecoming theme was "Here and Now," by Luther Vandross. After the girls were escorted to their seats on stage, LaJoyce Eichelberger and LeAndrea Williams were presented their tiaras by escorts Erik Harrison and Brian Pruitt. Former queen Heidi Franz presented Nikki with her crown. William Taylor, Nikki's father, said a couple of words about his daughter. "I have heard some parents say...." "My children need me"....I say.... "I need my children" for without them, my life would be empty and meaningless. Thank you, Nikki, for the seventeen years of sunshine you have provided for me with your warm smile and tender heart." After the choir sang the Arthur Hill alma mater, the girls presented their skit, which consisted of Earth Angel by the Penguins, Knockin' Boots by Candy Man, Ice Ice Baby by Vanilla Ice and Vogue By Madonna.

Although the assembly was shorter than previous years, the memories of the event will last forever. The students will remember the darkness and the excitement as the spotlight shined on the court, but court members will remember the joy and pride they have experienced being on the 1990-1991 Homecoming Court.

Pep it up

The most exciting thing in a new school year besides new faces, new classes, and scary feelings would be the Pep Assemblies.

What are Pep Assemblies? Pep Assemblies occur when the entire school gathers in the Stadium or Gym to cheer, give wonderful speeches to get us really hyped up with school spirit, and to get us excited for the upcoming Football and Basketball games.

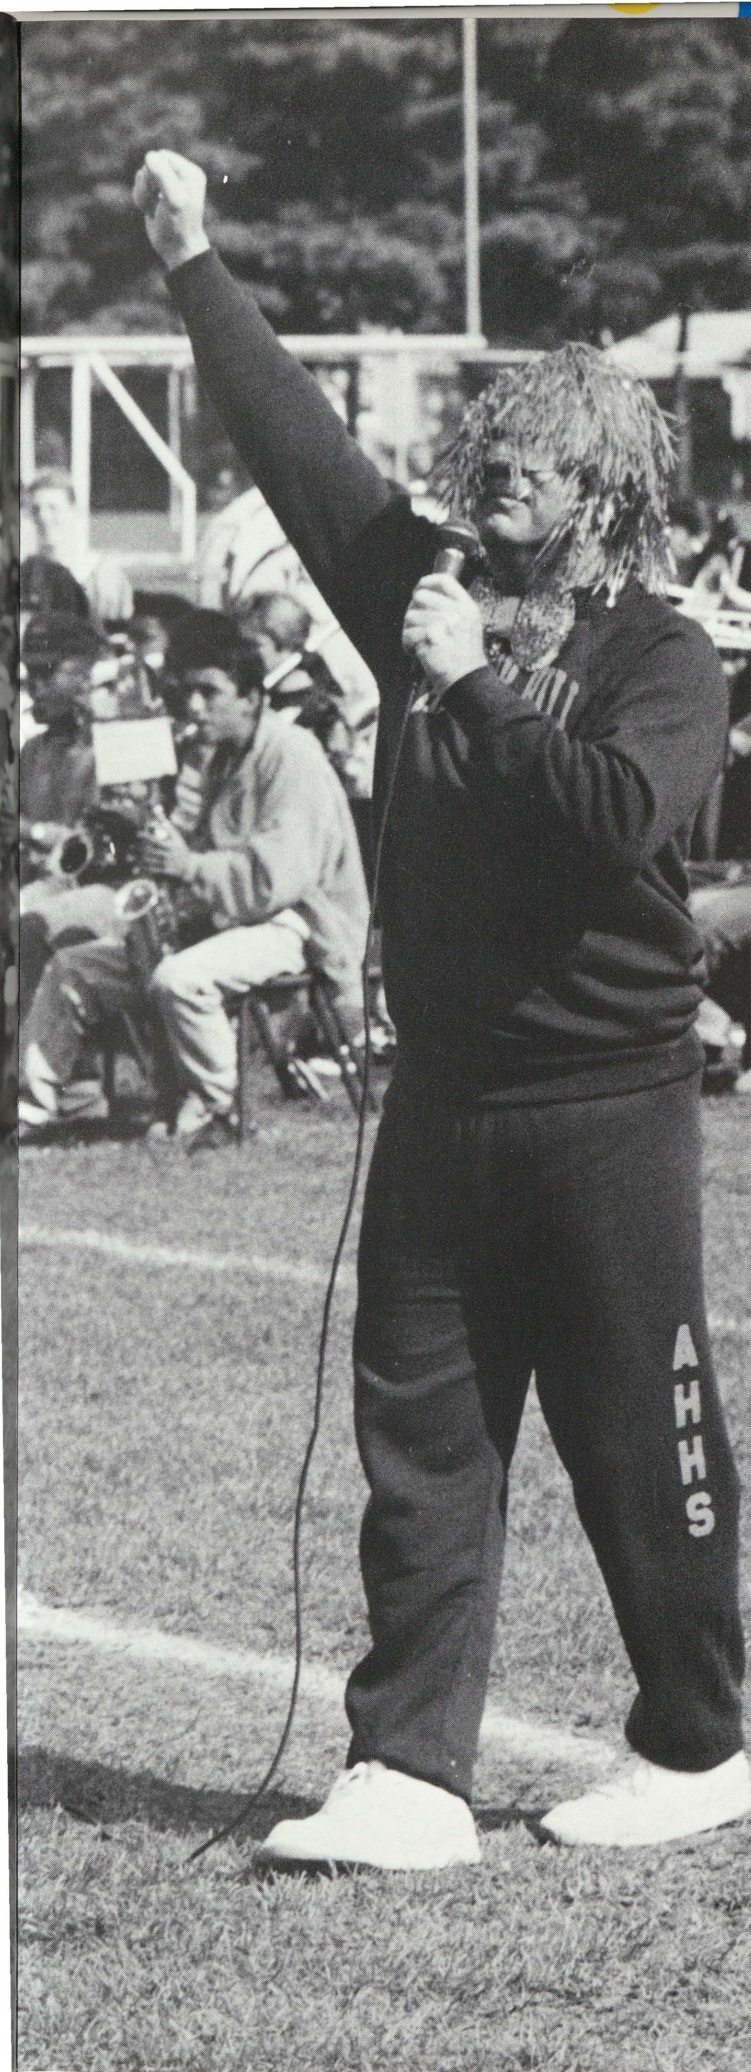

When the question, "What are Pep Assemblies, and How do you get yourself pepped up for Pep Assemblies?" was asked, it was answered in many various ways. "Pep Assemblies are wonderful and fun because it is a chance for everyone to get together and show their school spirit!" said Thomi Engel, Sarah Edwards, and Marie Dudek.

Ursula Jones, Bryant Jones, and Shauntell Shivers said that "Pep Assemblies are HYPE! But only if you go into them with the attitude of showing your school spirit, and that they get really hyped up when cheering, dancing, and being with friends and classmates."

While Willie Rodgers, Antonyo Boone, and MaryLynn Kusowski said "We love Pep Assemblies and enjoy them very much, but there needs to be more of them for the Basketball season."

"Pep Assemblies can be great entertainment or boring, I feel you get exactly what you put into them out of them, I have attended Arthur Hill for three years and every Pep Assembly I have engaged in there was extreme enthusiasm because the cheers and chants are so potent!" said Jeff Gray.

Spirit Week

Throughout the week of February 11th through the 15th, many activities that show the real spirit of Arthur Hill students occurred.

Monday the 11th was Teacher Appreciation Day, students showed their appreciation for the teachers of Arthur Hill.

Tuesday the 12th was Red, White, and Blue Day, everyone with spirit wore the colors of the United States of America. "Wearing our countries colors, in my opinion, show the love of our troops in Saudi Arabia," said senior Mary Whitney, "and since my brother is there I will do whatever it takes."

Wednesday the 13th was Lumberjack Day. On Lumberjack Day students and faculty dress up as our school mascot the lumberjack.

Some of the most outstanding lumberjack look alikes that day were Julie Martin '91, Meika Tanner '91, Jeff Gray '91, and Kim Howie '91.

Thursday the 14th was 70's Day. One of the many who dressed for this day was Meika Tanner, she said, "It was really fun dressing as my parents did when they were in high school, today brought a lot of laughs."

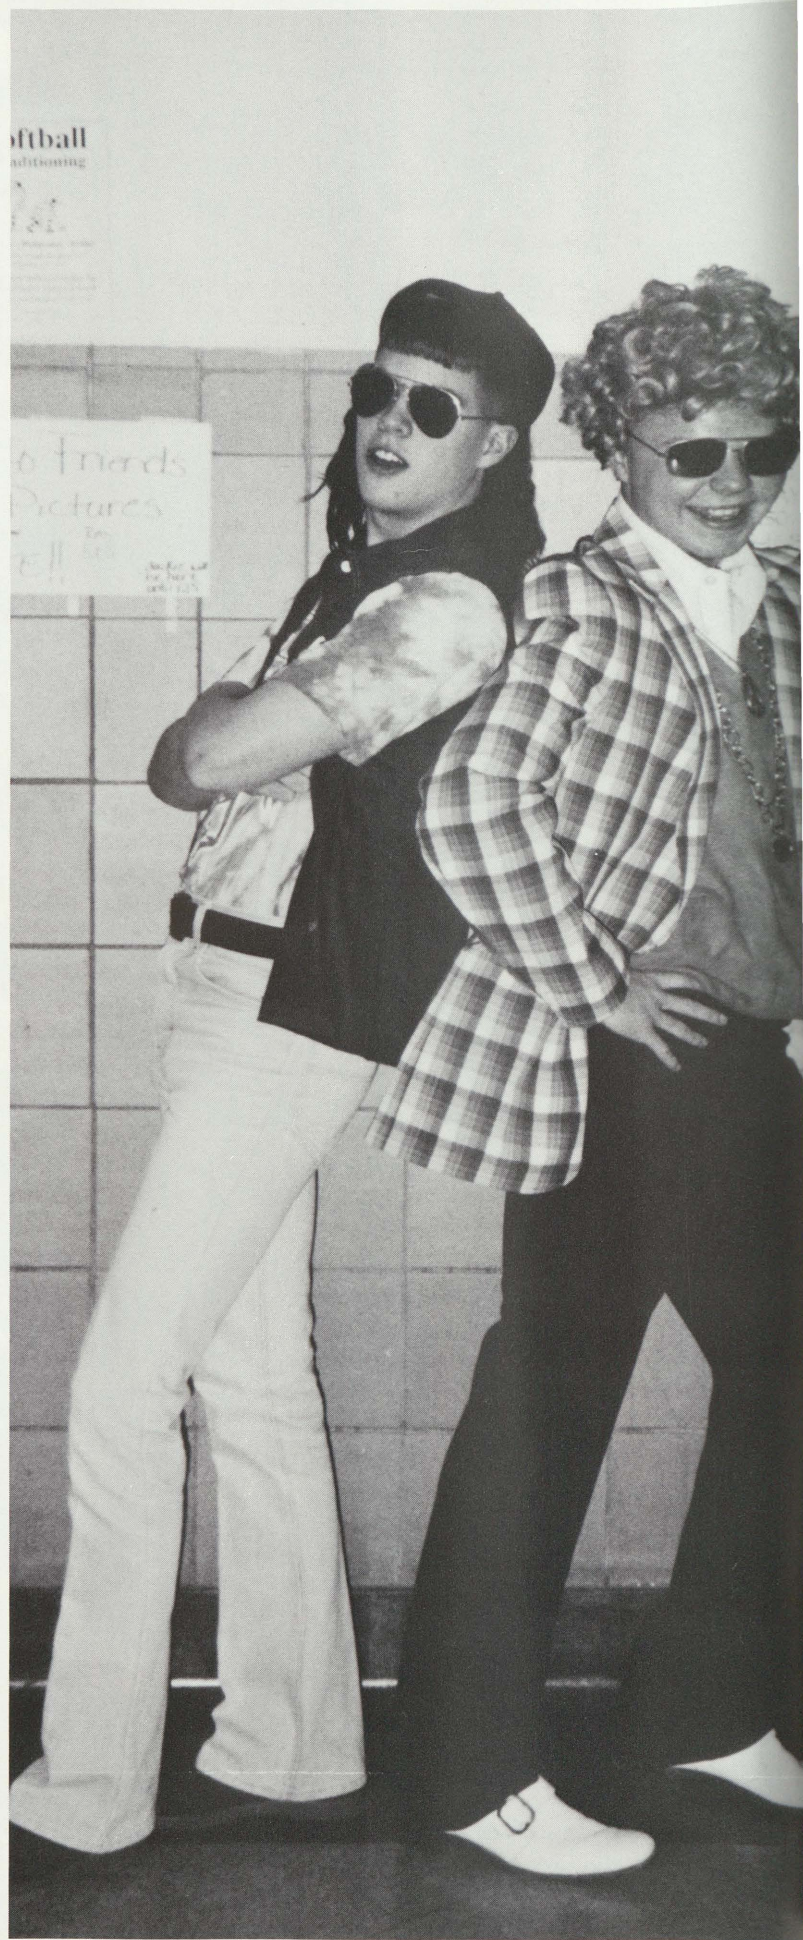

Last, but definately not least was Friday the 15th, which was Blue and Gold Day. The winners of the blue and gold dressed colors was sophomore Christopher West and Tommi Engle. Also on theis day the "King Arthur Assembly was held, where the King and his court were revealed and escorted to their seats of royalty. The three most important members of this court for 1990-'91 were: King Arthur, Brian Pruitt; Sir Lancelot, T.J. Simeron, Sir Gahlahan, Esau

Pritchett.

During spirit week there are a few other things that also go on for the fun and enjoyment of Arthur Hill students. On Teacher Appreciation Day the basketball game, teachers vs. students, was held in the gymnasium; on Lumberjack Day, the lumberjack pancake breakfast was held in the cafeteria, which was open to the public; then on Valentines Day (70's Day), Valentine balloons were sent to 2nd and 4th hours, and during lunch there was a jello pie eating contest.

So as you can see "spirit week at Arthur Hill is very exciting," said junior Jill Smith. Next year come and enjoy the fun of Arthur Hills major attraction week.

PARTY! Hardwork? O'No PAAARTY!!

As the graduation year of 1991 rolls around, the seniors appear to have only one thing on their mind, PARTY!

Well, that's not true. Students are thinking of graduation, college, prom, passing classes, losing friends, and for some, marriage and a family. All of these things are being pondered while the 1990-91 school year flashes by.

Each school year is full of festivals, games, and celebrations. But it's not all fun and games.

There is hard work involved, many must meet graduation requirements, college requirements, and be academically fit to become a 1991 A>H>H>S> graduate.

As for the hard work, it really does pay off in the end.

Hard work brings about graduation, National Honor Society (NHS) scholarships, and many other rewards and benefits.

While the seniors are doing their work, yes, truthfully fun games are mainly on the agenda.

Congratulations Class of 91. Let the good times roll!

Graduation Delayed

Graduation in the middle of June!
"NO WAY!" was the thought of almost every senior that walks the halls of Arthur Hill High School.

Usually graduation is held on an earlier date in June, but this year graduation will be on a much later date.

Why is graduation being held on such a late date?

Because there was a teacher strike for two weeks which resulted in an extra two weeks added at the end of June.

When the question of "How do you feel about graduation being delayed?" and "How did we, as students, feel when we walked up on the first day of school and realizing there was a strike?", there were a few different answers.

Ben Andros, senior, said, "I am totally upset. It's not fair for us, the students, to make for the teacher's striking time. The students should not be penalized for the strike. We only come to learn what they are willing to teach us.!"

While the majority of seniors were upset by the delay, but what can a student do about it?

They, the seniors, understood the teachers had to stand behind what they felt, so graduating at a later date is the penalty that we all have to pay.

WHAT SENIORS WON'T FORGET

What are the seniors going to do after graduation? Many seniors will go in their separate directions and they may never see each other again. The only things the seniors will have after leaving Arthur Hill are their diplomas and memories. Memories will comfort the seniors on their lonely nights away from home.

Many seniors enjoy the memories they have collected over the years at Arthur Hill. "Homecoming 1991 is something I will remember after I leave here," said Esther Morales. "As the girls walked down the aisle, I thought 'Could I ever have been one of them', to feel that that great feeling that Hawthorne said "I will remember the basketball games because each year there was some special talent to look forward to. When I was a sophomore, Von Nickelberry was the dominant person, as a junior among others Shonte Peoples was the man and now as a senior Angelo Brown and Erik Harrison are sure to steal the show." Some seniors will remember the classes. "I will remember Mrs. Carter's class in the tenth grade. She would let us do what we wanted to do," said Teresa Taylor. "The memory I have is looking forward to graduating and finally I can say 'I made it'," said O'Tonya Williams.

Seniors will shed tears during graduation because they are going down separate paths. Many seniors will go to college, the armed services, and the work force. They are leaving the uncertainty of school. The thought of reunions is a little consolation to those who will go down different paths. Although there will be a sense of excitement when embarking on a new journey, there will be a sadness and after graduation.

PICKING THE RIGHT...

COLLEGE!

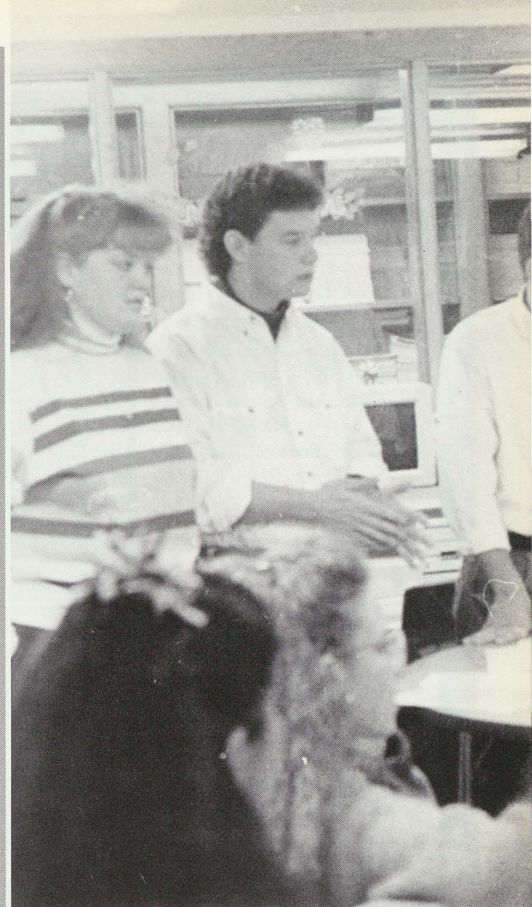

Seniors have so many things to look forward to such as Homecoming, King Arthur, prom, and commencement. But before the seniors can enjoy these activities, they have to go through a grueling chore; choosing the right college.

The most important source of information for seniors are the senior counselors are available to provide information to the seniors about college and other information, "One of our primary functions is to provide information about college and careers. By the twelfth grade, the seniors should be aware of what kind of tests and financial aid is available or if college is right for them," said senior counselor Shirley Nuckolls. James Wilkinson added, "We provide a good source of information to those who are seeking information. Seniors should also make sure they are prepared academically."

The seniors have to decide what college they are going to, apply to college, apply for scholarships and financial aid, and prepare for college life. Some underclassmen think that being a senior would be easy, but there are so many decisions that need to be made.

SENIORS PLAN FOR LEAVING HOME

One of the biggest issues in seniors' thoughts is leaving home. Leaving home is one thing that we all have been dreaming of for as long as we can remember. But alot of issues come into being able to leave such as money, parents feelings, grades, or just not wanting to.

The reason that most seniors want to leave is for freedom and independence. Senior Ruben Irvin said, "I want to see if I can make it without my parents. Thats why I'm leaving home." This is how many seniors feel.

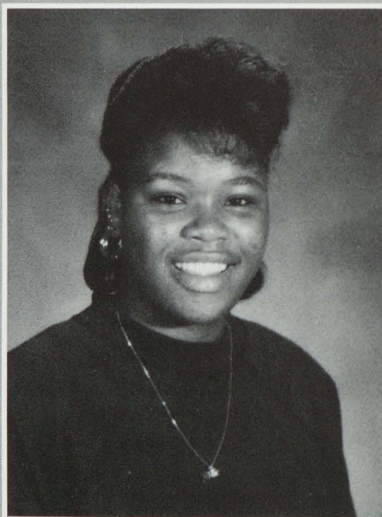

Another common feeling is the one of fear of leaving home. Alot of people aren't quite ready to take that step, along with the big step of going to college. Senior Amy Steel said, "I don't want to leave at first. I'd rather stay in Saginaw for my first few years until I'm used to college." This is a great idea for alot of people, because when you leave, you leave alot behind you.

Alot of seniors aren't ready to leave home next year due to their parents wishes. Senior Cathie Haley said, "My Mother will be sad to watch me go, but she is always supportive of my decisions." These types of feeling are keeping alot us at home next year.

TEACHERS AFFECT SENIORS

Teachers here at Arthur Hill rarely get recognized. Mainly because there are so many teachers and Arthur Hill is such a large school. It is very hard to narrow our teachers down to just a few favorites. We decided to take a senior poll and ask the students who they considered their favorite. The top two favorites were Mrs. Denton and Mr. Hollingsworth.

Mrs. Denton has taught English at Arthur Hill for the past six years. Now she only teaches one English class first hour and spends the rest of her day at The Staff Development Center. She is the Language Arts coordinator for the Saginaw School District.

When I asked Mrs. Denton how she felt about being chosen one of the seniors favorite teachers, she replied, "I'm really surprised, especially because I only have one class here!"

Then Mrs. Denton jokingly added, "Does this mean I get a raise?"

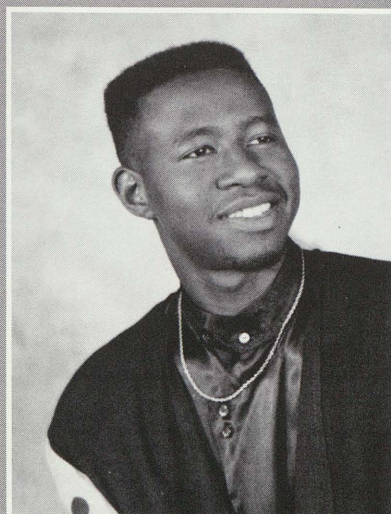

Willie Rodgers picked Mrs. Denton as one of his favorite teachers "because she makes class fun and interesting at the same time."

Jackie Gray also feels Mrs. Denton is great. "She has so much she wants you to know. She cares about your life outside of school, not just in the class."

THERE IS ALWAYS SOMEONE TO MAKE ME SMILE

Did you know it takes 13 muscles to smile and 87 to frown? So it literally is easier to smile and be happy.

What makes you smile?

Could it be that crazy senior TJ Simerson, you know the one that shovels during a snow storm in his shorts. Or when Mr. Maisono pretends to be the sun, sitting on a spinning stool until he almost falls off.

Eric Gaudreau makes Gerald Lang smile because he is funny looking.

Ben Andros makes everyone smile at his fluorescent pink boxers with green polka dots.

For Jason Diebold, "The sun setting across the blue water with a gentle breeze always brings a smile to his face."

Enjoying a sunset with Jason humming ever so quietly, next to her on the sand would bring a smile to Stacy Franz's face.

"Party Beverages" make Paige Cavendish real happy.

"Birthday Surprises" hold special memories for Rex Foster.

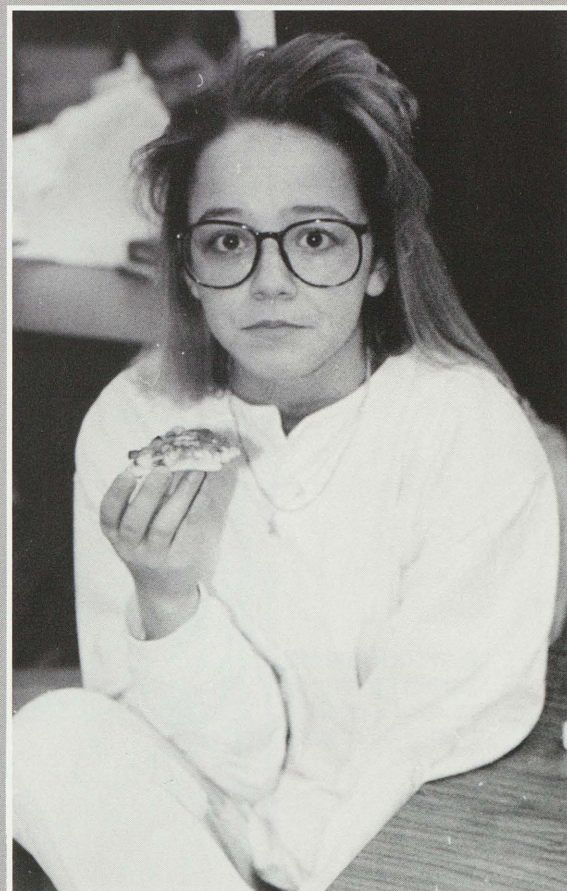

"Money" makes Kwanta Singleton smile.

"THE FEMALE GENDER," makes Fred Barron SMILE.

So the next time you just can't smile remember the good times you had at the Hill. It is almost guaranteed to bring back that little grin.

IDOLS, IDOLS, WHO'S YOURS?

Idols are an important part of everyone's life. They are the person you look up to, imitate, and worship. They are a big part in growing up.

This year the yearbook class took a senior survey on the hottest idols for the 1990-91 school year.

Carrie Fisher and Gwen Glymph idol Janet Jackson, a famous, singer, dancer, and recording artist.

Carrie Garcia idol's Roy Llamas, a student here at Arthur Hill, "he makes me laugh," Garcia said.

"To be an idol it seems to me that you would have to have some special talent, but come to find out, anyone could be anybody's idol," said Michelle Fass.

"Heather Astbury and Sarah Edwards idol Kristie Alley, an actress who plays on a TV series 'Cheers'.

Katrina Konsdorf idols rock and heavy metal band members. Konsdorf says, "they give me hope and inspiration when I'm feeling down, and they're fun to listen to."

Roy Llamas idol is Bo Jackson, is a member of the Los Angeles Raiders pro football team.

Kym Glymph idols Jasmine Guy, a singer and dancer on television.

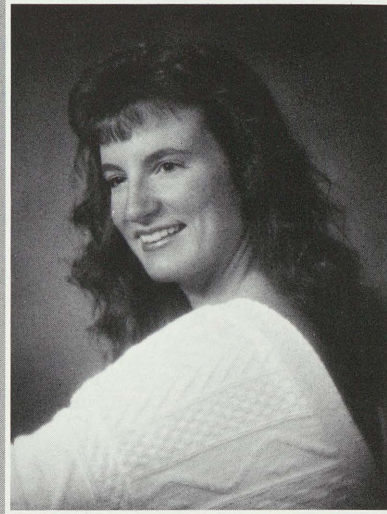

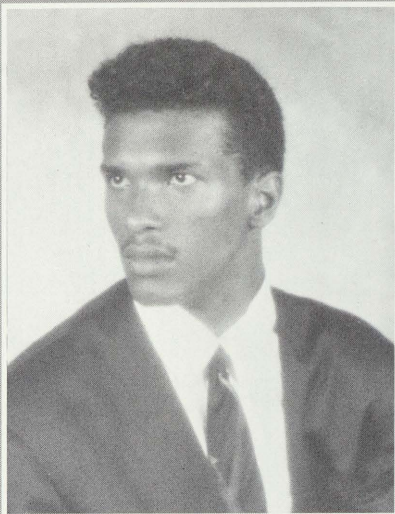

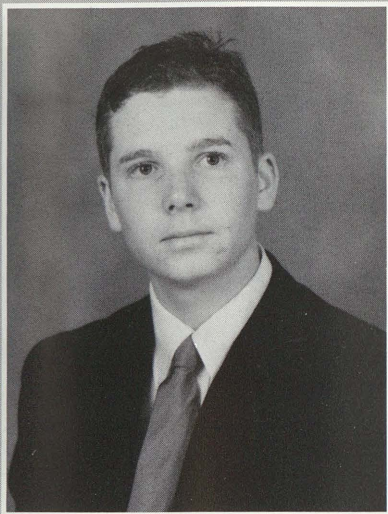

Singers, dancers, sports stars, or maybe just a friend from school, everyone has different ideas for their idol.

What is yours?

SENIORS; WHAT WILL THEY WILL

It has been a growing tradition at Arthur Hill for the Seniors to will something to the Juniors who soon will be at the top of the Hill.

I, Gwendalynn Glymph, leave my intelligence, charm, and sweetness to Nicole Sykes in the hopes that she will benefit from them as much as I did.

I, Michael Cunningham, leave my trust and respect for others and my talent in athletics and singing to Nikki Braggs.

I, Raquel Cruz, leave my skills of reports to Tyson Emers.

I, Jeremy King, leave the 'ol L.C. Smith and the entire collection of Cortez worksheets, snapshots, mittens, action figures and handprints to Jay Wobio.

I, Amy Small, leave my Italian partying name to Ty Burris.

I, Andrea Hidalgo, leave the memories of all of the things we have done together to Genevieve Rodriquez.

I, Andrea Hernandez, leave my love, cheerfulness, niceness, and craziness to Tina Kazmerski.

I, Jeff Gray, leave my spot on first line and the privilege of going to morning practice to Todd Luckey.

I, Jeff Mostek, leave my ELVIS memorabilia to Mark Comptose.

I, Cara Eastland, leave all my driving ability to Jamie Oldeck.

I, Tricia Welense, leave my loving smile, great personality, and very talkative mouth to Stefhanie Windmon.

I, Danielle D. Dale, leave my ability to succeed to Shanta Rowe.

I, Heather Eisenlord, leave my sweet, sensitive personality to Gretchen Harmon.

I, Steve Coates, leave my intelligence, looks, jokes, and popularity to Donald Taylor.

I, Lisa Chorenko, leave all the fun we had on cheerleading to the Junior girls.

I, Jackie Gray leave my basketball talent #24, maturity, popularity, and great looks to Joetta Reed. Love Ya!

I, Al Garcia, leave my knowledge and my Taco Bell working ability to Pricillia Lopez.

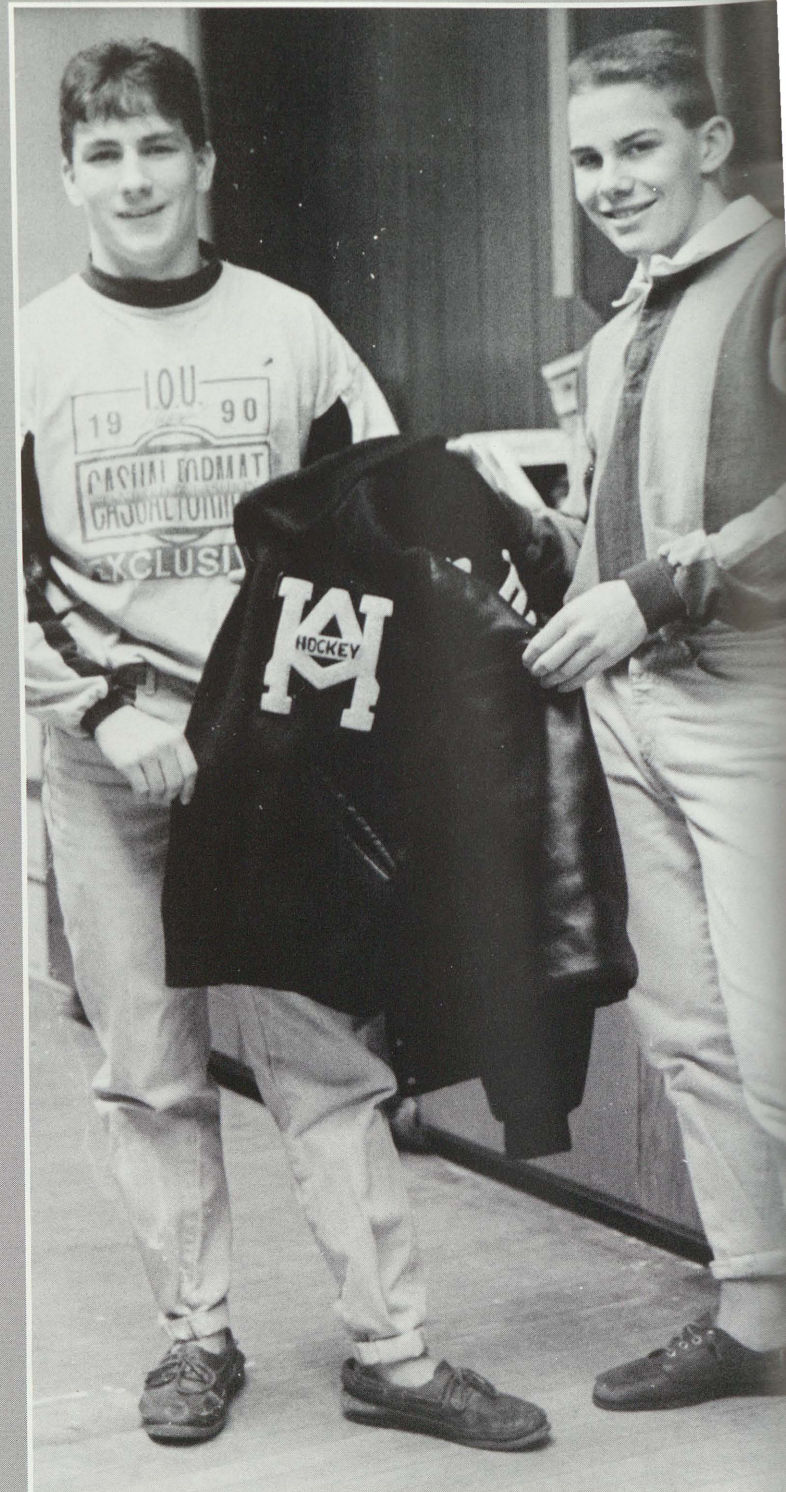

I, Mary Whitney, leave my books, knowledge, and cheerfulness to Cuauhtemoc Ochoa.

I, Lisa Young, leave my great personality and sence of humor to my very dear friend Tarina Lee.

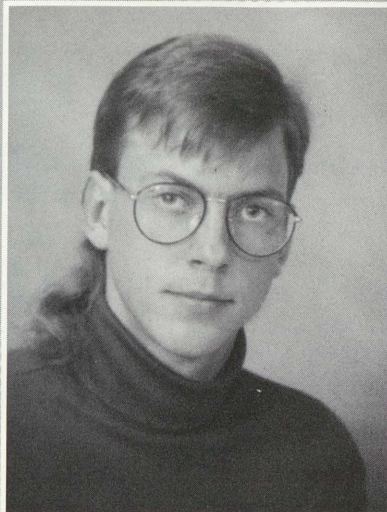

As the year finally comes to an end, the memories have just begun. There are some juniors that the Seniors will always remember, and we know that they will definately never forget us!

We hope that you get as much joy out of these things as we have.

IN MEMORY OF THE ...

1991 SENIORS !

Beyond the doors of Arthur Hill is a world full of action, adventure, drama, comedians and science-fiction, no it's not the local video store, it's the real world with plenty of opportunities for each and every one of us.

All the seniors have the chance to become what he or she wants to be .

We hope all of your experiences at Arthur Hill have been a benefit to you and your future.

As senior members of the year book we wish all of us a successful and profitable life in what ever each of us chooses to do.

As for the juniors and the sophomores we hope you follow us in our footsteps and make Arthur Hill the best school it can be.

We hope this Legenda will help you remember all of the great times we had at Arthur Hill in the 1990-91 school year.

The remainder of the senior pages are dedicated to the fun and outgoing spirits of the senior class of '91.

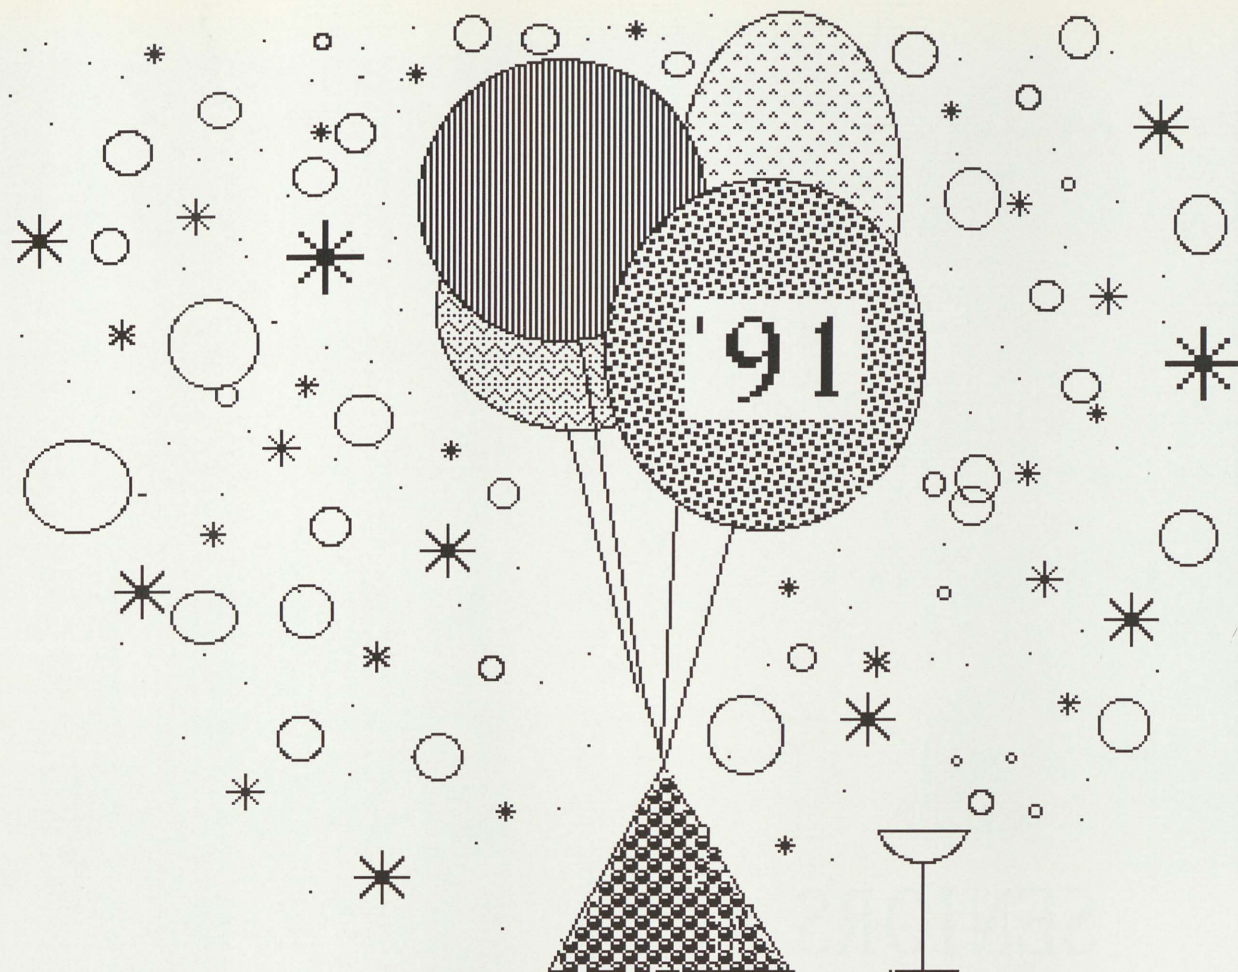

*CONGRATULATIONS
SENIORS*

Good luck underclassmen.

"WE ARE THE SENIORS AND WE RULE!"

SENIORS

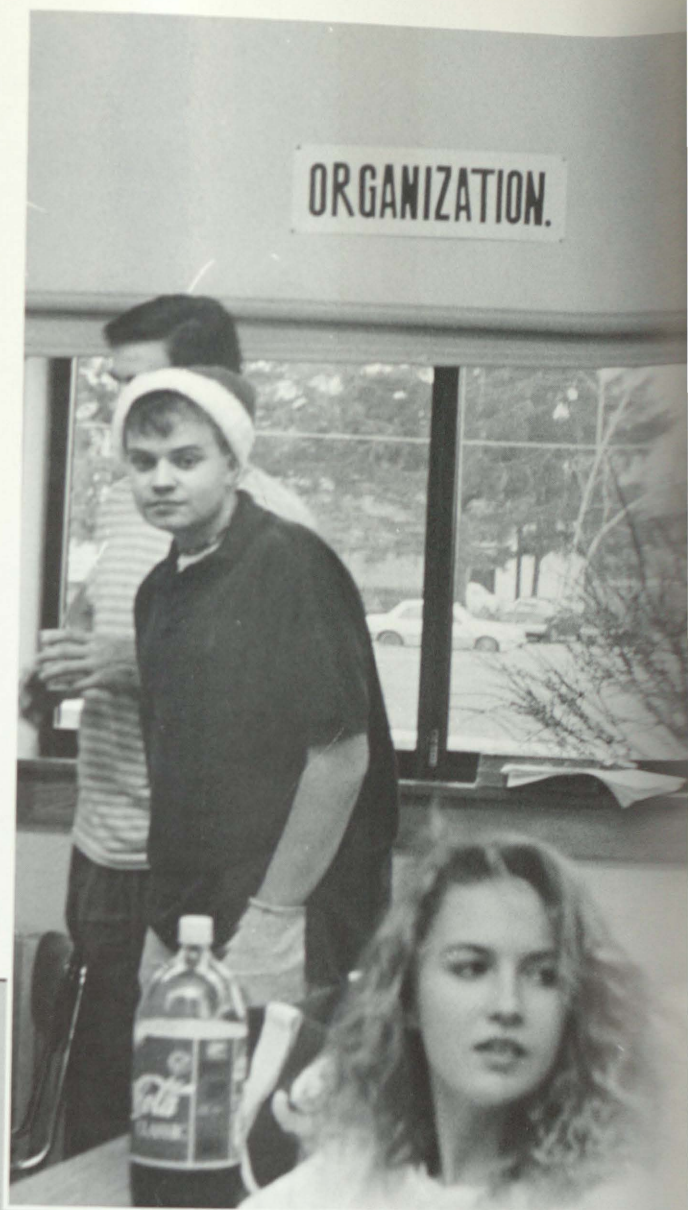

A high five for homecomig escorts Willie Rogers and Brian Pruitt. Both are senior football players with tremendous school spirit and pride.

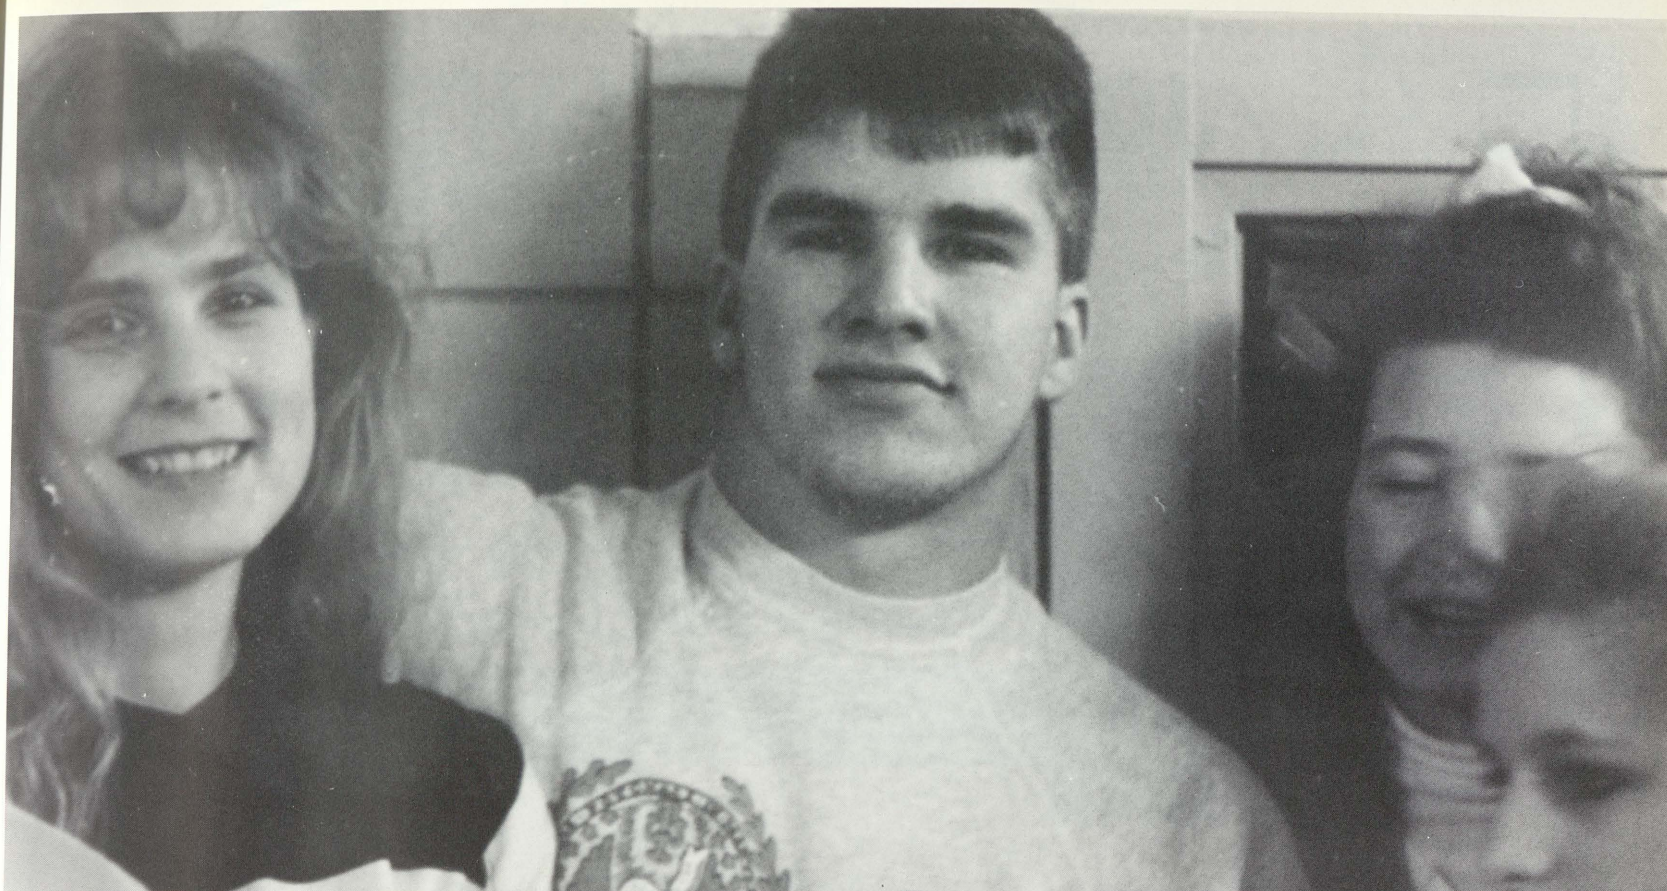

SENIORS

Santa? No, just senior Scott Keyes showing his Christmas glee at news Christmas party. While junior Jessica Isatalo joyfully enjoys the rest of the party, food, friends, and music.

Friends, friends, they are all over at Arthur Hill.. Senior Heather Maybe and Co. make lots of small talk during the 10 minute break, which is basically used to find your friends and gossip.

Senior Dustin Caballero will never say "Goodbye" to all of his "Lady friends". Caballero, a member of the Arthur Hill football team, is just one of those loveable guys no woman will ever be able to say "Goodbye" to.

SAYING GOODBYE, IT'S NOT AN EASY THING

It seems to have taken forever but it's finally here; Senior year, and it's as great as we thought it would be. It's filled with memories, excitement, spirit, enthusiasm, and a lot of fun! Even as this class seems to grow 'closer', united by the common bond of being seniors; soon each of us will go our own separate ways. It will be difficult to part with newly gained friends but losing old friends will be even harder.

Throughout our entire school career, we are working towards one goal: Graduation. As the date draws nearer, many seniors are finding themselves looking back to favorite memories and preparing to say goodbye to special teachers and friends.

"I made a lot of good friends at Arthur Hill and a few very, very good friends," said Roy Llamas. "After graduation I may never see them again and I'll really miss them."

Many of us have things we would like to forget about high school but Carrie Fisher has a different outlook. "I don't want to forget anything. There have been some lifetime lessons learned here," stated Fisher.

Mary Hickey added, "My three years at Arthur Hill have been great, except maybe my sophomore gym class!"

Of course there are some special memories no one wants to forget like homecoming, football, basketball and hockey games, pep as-semblies or even Spirit week.

"I'll never forget the first time I saw Mr. Sharpe. It was at the first pep assembly in my sophomore year and he was dressed as this 'Super Cheerleader'. It was outrageous," laughed Bobby Jackson.

"I would love to forget the time my ink pen exploded in my mouth in Mr. Masanio's class," said Heather Eisenlord, "I was so embarrassed!"

There are many things we will miss but our old friends are what we will miss the most after high school.

Kriste Ebach will miss "seeing a lot of the people I have known since elementary school."

Fisher added, "At high school we're all put together, but after that it's hard keeping touch with everyone."

Jeff Gray laughed and said he will miss "all those early Monday morning hockey practices!"

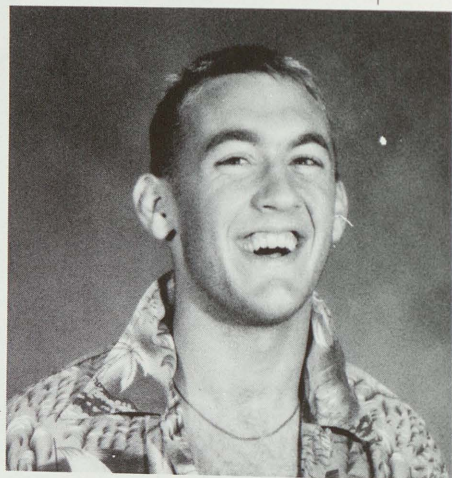

Soon, we will leave behind our friends and teachers, as it is now time to say goodbye. Meanwhile, we look forward to the future and what lies ahead for the class of 1991.

"I know that soon it will be time to say goodbye but I will never forget Arthur Hill," said Amy Steel. "My friends and all my memories of the things we did together will always stay with me."

50 YEARS OF SUCCESS

Arthur Hill, the beginning was a blue print and the result was more achievement than anyone had ever imagined.

"Achievement With Honor" is a motto that former and current students refer to when describing the Hill.

Former student, assistant principal, teacher and Head of Honors Department Burris Smith never thought he would come back to Saginaw let alone Arthur Hill.

Smith who loves kids and the challenge of teaching said his most rewarding thing that happened was the chance to get involved in a lot of things including a good education.

Education has made a drastic change over the past years and so the teachers have changed along with the ongoing advanced decade.

Teachers here at Arthur Hill have dealt with more chaos during the 60's than all the years put together but they didn't let that get out of hand. Students took a stand and so did the teachers.

Fred Case, former Head of Bio. Department, and current author tried to emphasize quality with students and tried to make the classes good.

Case did just that by introducing re-dial programs such as bio-chemistry, bio-human, second year chemistry, earth science and astronomy.

During the early 70's the faculty, students, administration- committee were known as the curriculum committee. There was also a broader selection of courses for the students to choose from which enabled students to become interested in their classes.

"If their are quality programs the kids like to learn," said Case.

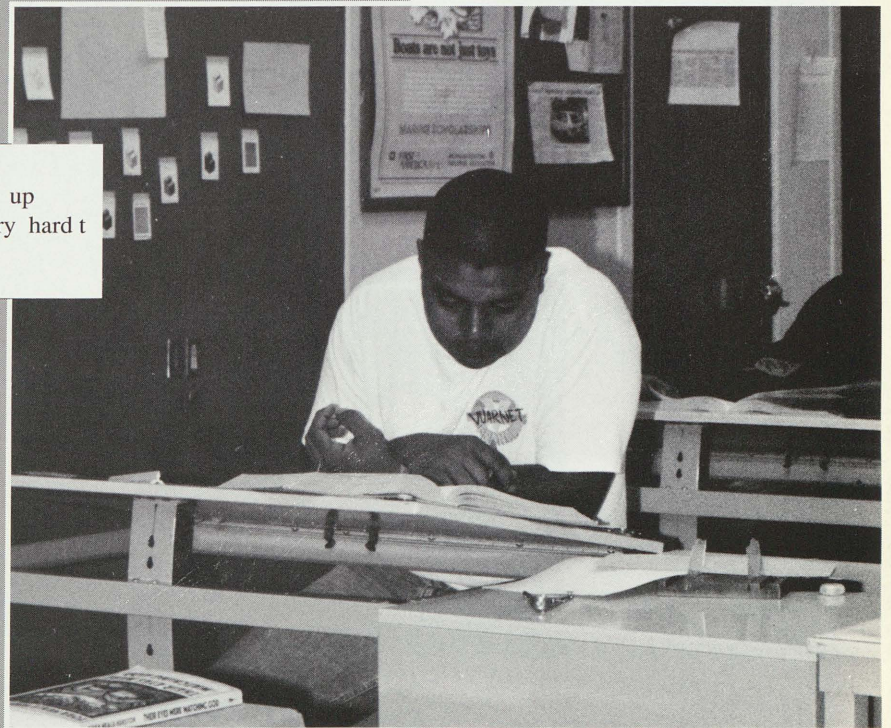

With the help of Case, Sam Maisano has regenerated a lot of enthusiasim back in to the science program with his astronomy class that receives school wide attention.

"Kids inspired me," said Case, "I love the kids they make teaching worthwhile."

Senoir Leonel Maldonado prepares for an up coming test. Arthur Hill students work very hard to reach 'Achievement With Honor'.

Ms. Porterfield and Junior Erica Kruse share a few moments before enjoying their Thansgiving vacation.

Principals at work..

The Arthur Hill statue represents a different feeling and symbolization to each and everyone here at Arthur Hill. The principals think it is a symbol of great accomplishments through 50 years of service through teaching and serving the community.

The principals think students are greatly involved in school activities both cirricular, and co-cirricular.

"There could be more students involved," said assistant principal Winston Adams, "and there is always room for improvement, it's not that students aren't active, it's that they could be more active."

"Students should stay involved, and get involved in activities, that promote school spirit, which our school has a lot of, but could use more", said assistant principal John Paine.

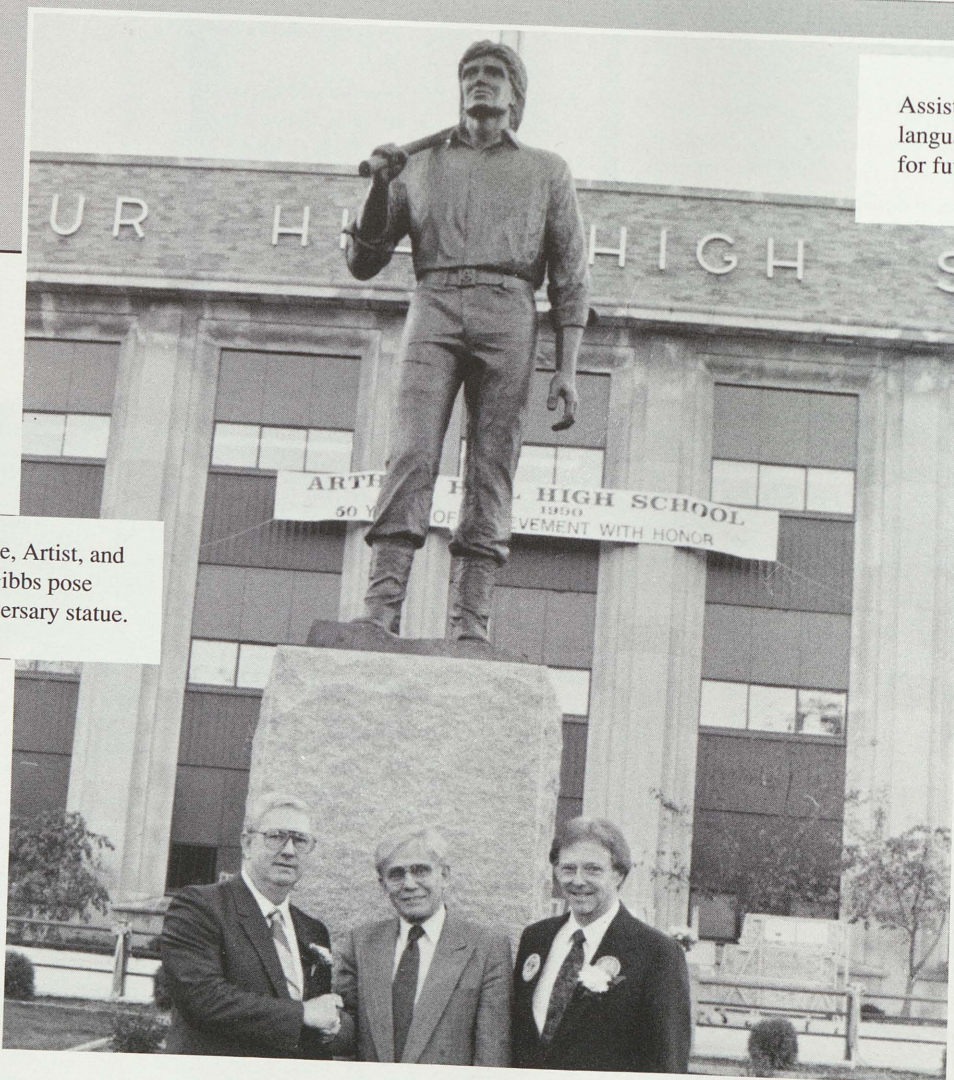

Principal Thomas Sharpe said, "The most rewarding thing about his job is working with the students, watching them improve, and seeing them graduate on commencement night."

Arthur Hill has the best principals. They're dedicated, devoted, and always.

Arthur Hill's Counselor's Show That They Really Care

Some counselors we remember more than others because of one special thing they may have done, or just remember them for the simple fact that they were there. Ever since junior high we have had counselors no matter what the situation may be counselors will be there to either help you or just to listen to you.

This year at Arthur Hill we had the opportunity to meet two new and very special counselors, Mrs. Shirley Nuckolls and Mrs. Irene Carter. They are new counselors for the students but Carter is not new to the school.

Carter has been a teacher at Arthur Hill for ten years. She enjoyed being a teacher, seeing how it was her "first love", but now she enjoys counseling for Sophomores and Juniors. "Counseling is natural to me", "I love it". Carter loves being a counselor and has yet to miss teaching. "I enjoy being able to work one to one with the students, where in class it was impossible", Carter said. "I will remain a counselor until I retire, unless I am asked to return to teaching".

"I enjoy being able to work one to one with the students, where in class it was impossible," said Irene Carter.

Mrs. Shirley Nuckolls who worked at Arthur Hill from 1976 to 1978 said that she was happy to return to Arthur Hill in light of the 50th year. Prior to coming back to Arthur Hill She worked at Saginaw High from 1978 to 1986 and Webber Junior High for two years before her return.

"I believe that the most exciting time of the school year is commencements when the one you thought wouldn't make it does", said Nuckolls. Nuckolls is a people person and looks forward to continuing to work with parents, students and teachers. "When a youngster confides in you and your able to help him/her resolve a conflict and help them to dissolve decisions crucial to their lives is the most rewarding thing being a counselor", said Nuckolls.

"I believe that the new counselors and the students are adjusting well with one another, its a pleasure to work with them both", said Mr. Jim Wilkinson who has been a counselor for 15 years.

Meeting the New

Staff

Year after year we see new faces here at Arthur Hill. This year sophomores are not the only ones new to this school. We also have three new teachers ; Mr. Patrick Williams, Mrs. Jane Newton and Mr. Don Flentje.

Williams teaches arts and crafts and adds quite a lot of color to our art department . Williams chose to teach at Arthur Hill this year because he saw it was a challenge. Williams graduated from Saginaw High and likes the idea of teaching across town from his old high-school.

Williams has not only taught art at various schools in the Saginaw Public School System but he has also taught art in the New York Public School System, Central Michigan University and Western Michigan. Williams is a professional artist himself and has exhibits in eight major black universities on the east coast and has had the opportunity to exhibit throughout the country and he also has traveled to many places out of the country, including Africa. Some of Williams hobbies besides art are raising dogs.

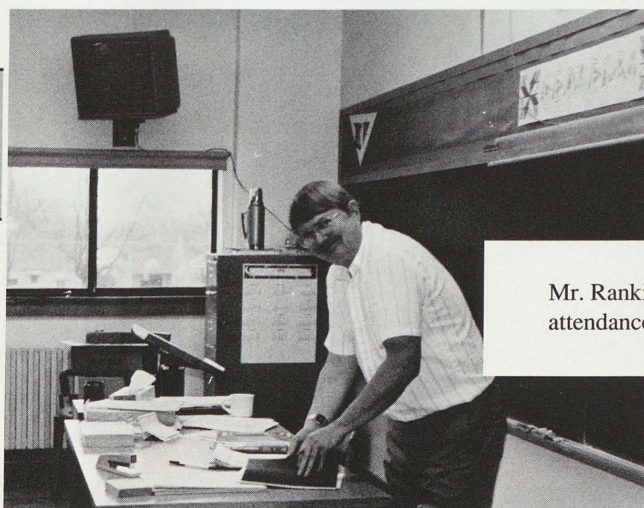

When he was asked how Williams felt about working at Arthur Hill Williams responded "I have worked with some of the brightest students here at Arthur Hill".

Newton, also a new edition to our staff, teaches one Business Machine class and two typing classes. Before Newton came to Arthur Hill she worked at Saginaw High. Being at a new school would probably make most teachers feel a little bit uncomfortable but when asked if she felt this way, she replied "Every morning the staff members greet me and make me feel right at home and my students are also very nice to work with."

Flentje returned to the high-school that he graduated from to teach choir. He originally got his inspiration to pursue his career in music from his choir teacher here at Arthur Hill, Mrs. Frenzel, who is now a counselor here. After Flentje graduated from college he began teaching in the Saginaw Public School System as a traveling elementary choir teacher. He had originally planned on teaching choir in high school and he finally got his chance.

ASTRONOMY

Department Head of Science, Sam Maisano, is shooting for the stars with his astronomy classes.

The astronomy classes at Arthur Hill began in 1972. At that time Maisano was a physical science teacher. After the unit on astronomy Maisano noticed that there was a lot of interest in it. This is where he got the idea, and it just developed itself from there.

Every year the astronomy classes are assigned a class project. This can be on anything astronomy related. It must be hands on, like artwork or student teaching. It cannot be just a book report. Over the past few years there have been many interesting projects done. The mural on the wall in the astronomy classroom was done as a class project. This was also how the Arthur Hill observatory began.

The class does many exciting things. They have gone to Abram's Planetarium. They go to both the Saginaw Valley State University observatory and to the Michigan State University observatory. They have even gone to the Michigan State planetarium.

According to Maisano, "The biggest thing a teacher can do for a student is to get the kid interested." With all the trips and projects he has done just that.

With all this Maisano says, "I've given the kids a fair exposure to the science of astronomy."

So whether you love science or hate it, taking an astronomy class may be a fun and exciting look at the universe around you.

APPLIED MATH:

A NEW TWIST TO MATHEMATICS

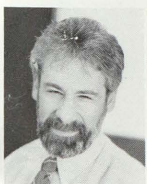

If there are students not very enthusiastic about formulas and theorems, then applied mathematics is for them. Applied math applies complex math to daily situations. The students perform experiments ranging from determining the percentage of window space based on the area of the walls in a room or popping popcorn and determining the percentage of popcorn actually popped. This class is designed to develop a basic interest in math. James Eurich is the teacher who creates the innovative ideas for the students daily. This is his first year teaching this class and he believes this class will benefit students who do not have an interest in math. "I think it would help students understand how we use numbers daily." This is the second year this program has been available at Arthur Hill and the majority of the students are sophomores.

Applied math is an alternative to the math classes based solely on formulas. This class will give new insight to the way math is used in daily situations and things everyone sees everyday.

When you think of a company or someone who has a business you may think of many ways in which you can use business techniques.

One way is the business machine, a business machine is designed to help students learn to operate a ten-key calculator by use of the touch method.

The purpose of the class is for the students to learn correct techniques for using the machine while using speed and accuracy.

Another purpose is to acquaint students with the many forms of transactions they may be faced with in the business world.

In college the machines may be a different brand name, but the basic keyboard should be the same.

Business Machine teacher James Monroe said, "I enjoy teaching this class because most of the students who take this class are interested in the area of business, or they have jobs where these kinds of machines are used."

James Monroe also stated the keys aren't hard to learn because of the three finger control on most of the keys.

Taking this class would be helpful to several people in the future; because most job applications request listings of any special skills and the keyboarding skills learned in this class can be easily transferred to computer keyboards.

Senior, Althea Oliver said, "I took the Business Machine Class because later in life I want to become a business manager and also a lawyer. I prefer to handle my own money instead of paying an accountant."

Senior, Jennifer Truckner said, "I took the class just to learn how to work the machine in case I ever had to work on a cash register."

Senior Cara Eastland works continuously on her economic assignment. Economics is a required class to graduate from Arthur Hill.

Money Talks

Arthur Hill's Economics is very interesting, with two teachers and four different economic classes.

For those students who wish to learn the Principles of Economics or feel they are advanced in economics can enroll in Advanced Economics class taught by Calvin Mott. Mott teaches his class by the basic structure of: reading materials, supplementary, worksheets, researching economic topics, studying famous economists, and following the Stock Market on a weekly basis with individuals choosing their own stocks.

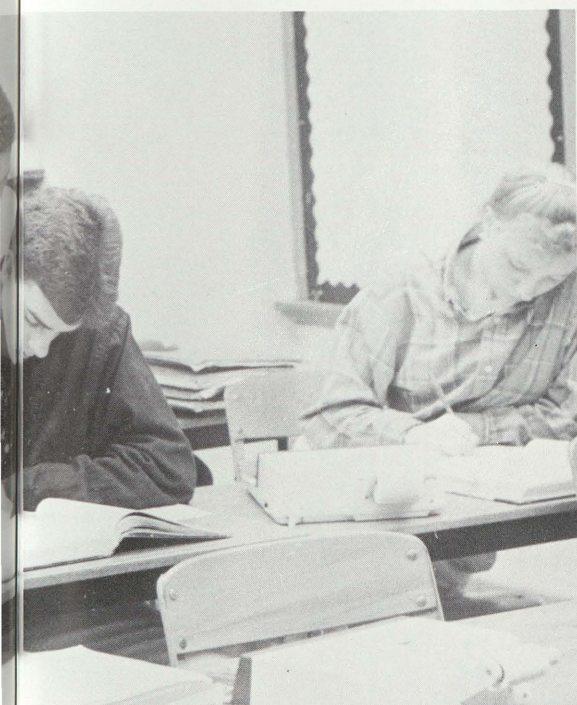

Mott's advanced class is taught by the same structure but with more essay research and usage of graphic charts. Mott is not sure whether this is the last year for his advanced class. Though he is sure that making every student in his class feels comfortable is important.

For those who wish to learn about Applied and Consumer Economics would be under the instructions of Jan Tolley who teaches her class under the basic structure of: flexibility, honesty (which is very important to her), and comfortability between students, students with teacher relationships. Tolley strongly believes in the work ethic.

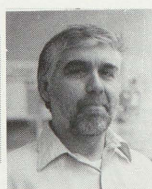

Tolley feels that the main importance of teaching any Economics class whether its Principle of Economics, Advanced Economics, Applied Economics, or Consumer Economics is that it is the teaching and learning, 'of wise usage of personal resources.'

Mott and Tolley both agree that the largest class size desired for the economic classes would be a maximum of thirty students per class.

What exactly would make someone want to leave the comfort and security of home and travel to another country? Not only to another country, but to a place that is a completely different culture from your own. To a place where you know no one, and will have to live in a family and community that doesn't know you.

When these questions were posed to Arthur Hill's own exchange students the response was nearly unanimous. To meet new people, to learn a new language and culture, and to see what the United States really is.

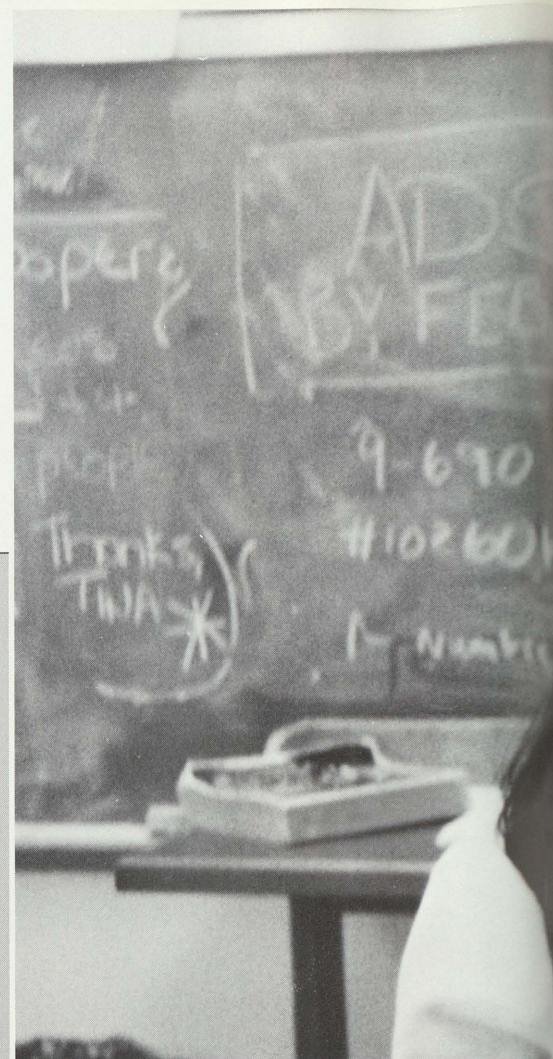

French student Stephane Mandell said, "We are very influenced in Europe by American stuff so I knew it would be a great experience." Amarinske Sminia, from the Netherlands described her feelings also. "I wanted to go to USA because the scholl system is so different. I saw yearbooks and it looked like so much fun. I wanted to see what it really was."

Now the question is, what do they find when they get here? Is it really so different from their own country and culture?

Nina Olsen, a Norwegian exchange student answered, "There are a lot of differences. The first thing I saw here were all the junk foods." Melanie Friedrich of Germany said, "In Germany you are not, unlike here, dependent on your car that much." Sminia feels the same way. "We do everything by bike, including going out."

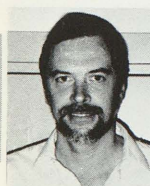

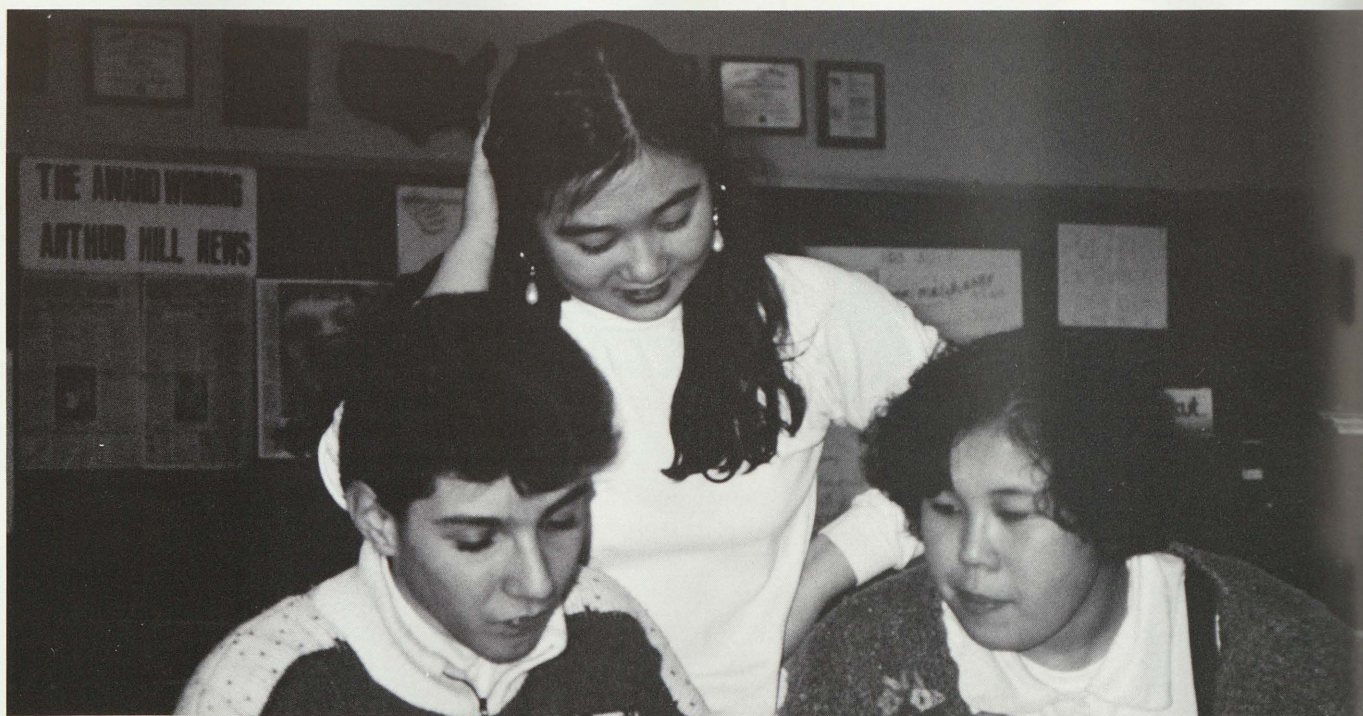

According to Japanese student Miho Yamazaki the main difference is the schools. "I have to take Japanese, Classical Japanese, the Chinese Classics, Japanese History, World History, Basic Analysis, Biology, Physical Education, Health, English, English Reader, English Composition, Language Laboritoy, General English, and Home Economics. We have to take thirty-three classes each week, so we have to attend school seven hours each day Monday through Friday, and four hours on Saturday. Sunday is our only day off." Mexican exchange student Andres agreed. "The students in Mexico are more mature from the social problems that we have had."

Although there are many differences, all the exchange students agree that it is a very good experience. Olsen said, "It's an experience for life, and even though I've only been here four months, I've had a great time. Actually, the best four months of my life." Mandell simply stated, "It's fantastic!"

Another good part of being an exchange student is the memories of all the experiences they have. All the students say the best part of it is all the new friends they've made.

The exchange students all have different things they want to take back with them.

Mandell wants to leave with "a perfect accent and fluent speech." Olsen just said, "I want to take back all the experiences."

To sum up her overall feelings on being an exchange student Olsen said, "I feel" now "I must make my own decisions, and not to just ask mom and dad for help. I feel I've learned to be more grown up, and have learned to handle things on my own."

So, although there may be many difficulties to overcome, the end result seems to far outweigh them.

Jennifer Rembisz

& Foreign Exchange

Although history is an important subject, most Arthur Hill students feel it is a burden. Instead of making it as tolerable as possible they block out all the knowledge they feel they won't have any use for.

Besides the excitement students tend to think the class is lacking, some students feel there should be more culture, and better balance of variety with all racial backgrounds.

Senior Coffianne Hawthorne said, "The class lacks even distribution of racial accounts of history."

Subjects students mostly study are those of the present instead of the past without realizing there is a connection between the two. History is a class of the present repeating events of the past.

As history teacher Thill said, "The students of today really do not realize that the events of the past are directly related to what's today. It may even be able to predict coming events by studying the past."

This class is very controversial when it comes down to the importance of the class. Whether or not students like this class it is a required credit needed for graduation.

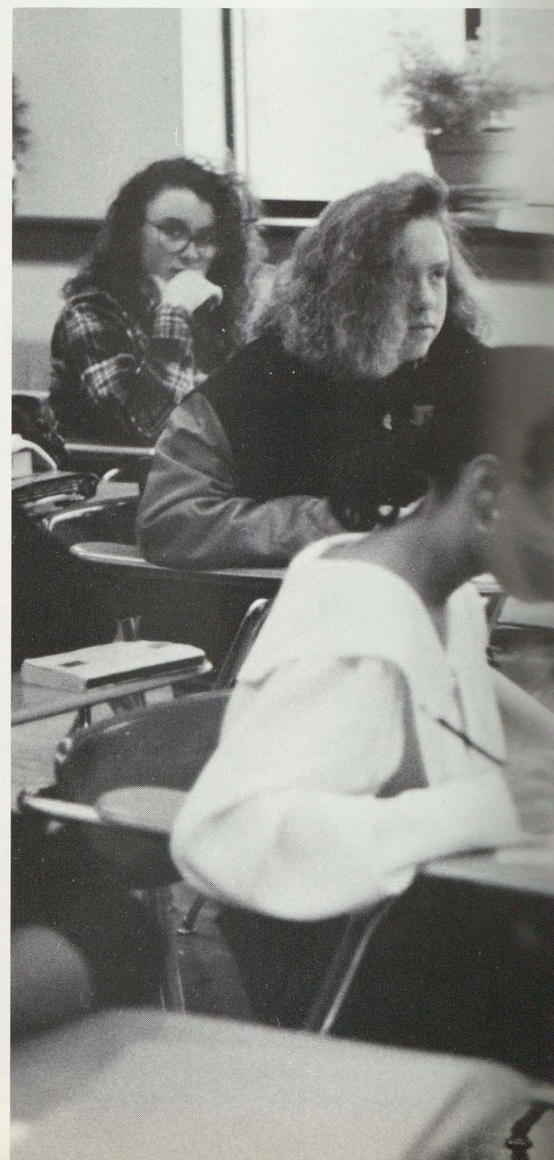

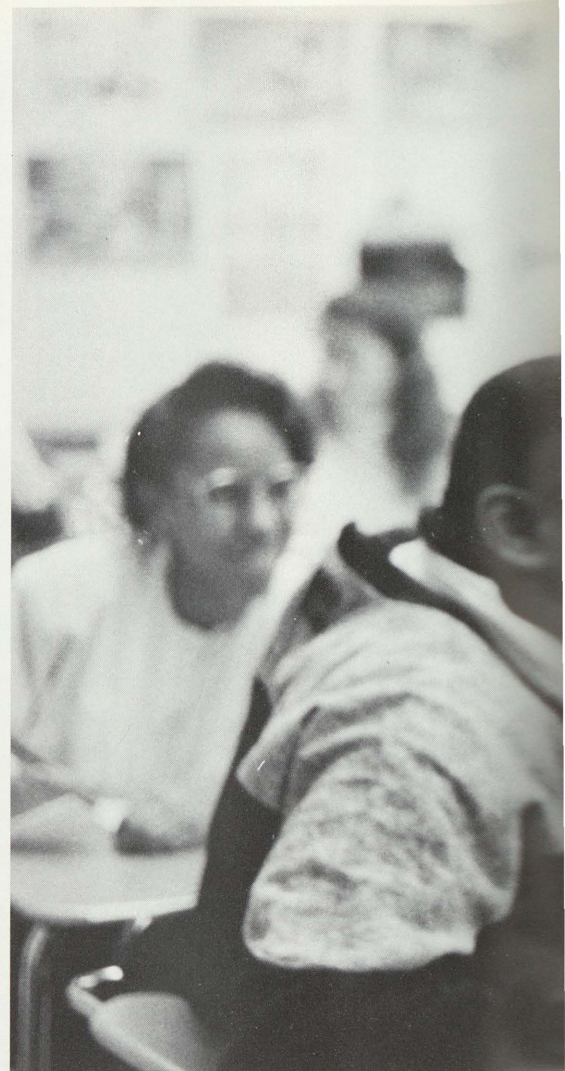

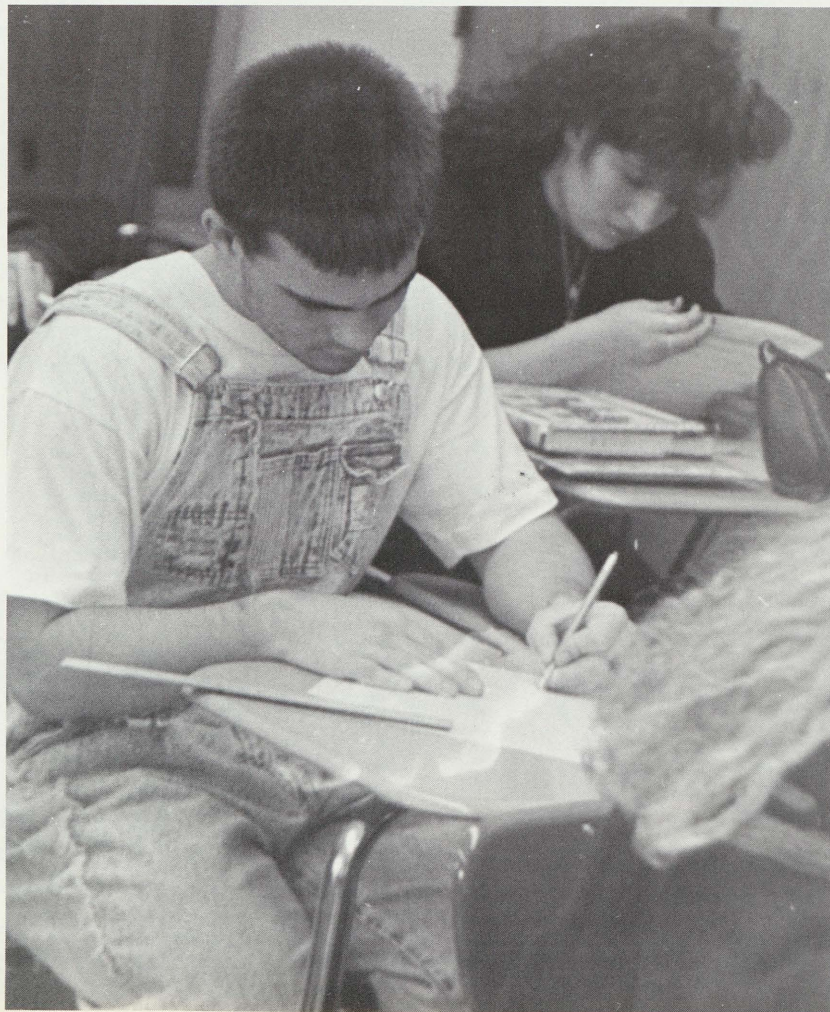

History, the class that takes you back to where it all began. With events that have been recorded for centuries and is being constantly repeated to the younger generation so they will have some knowledge of the past events to benefit them in the future.

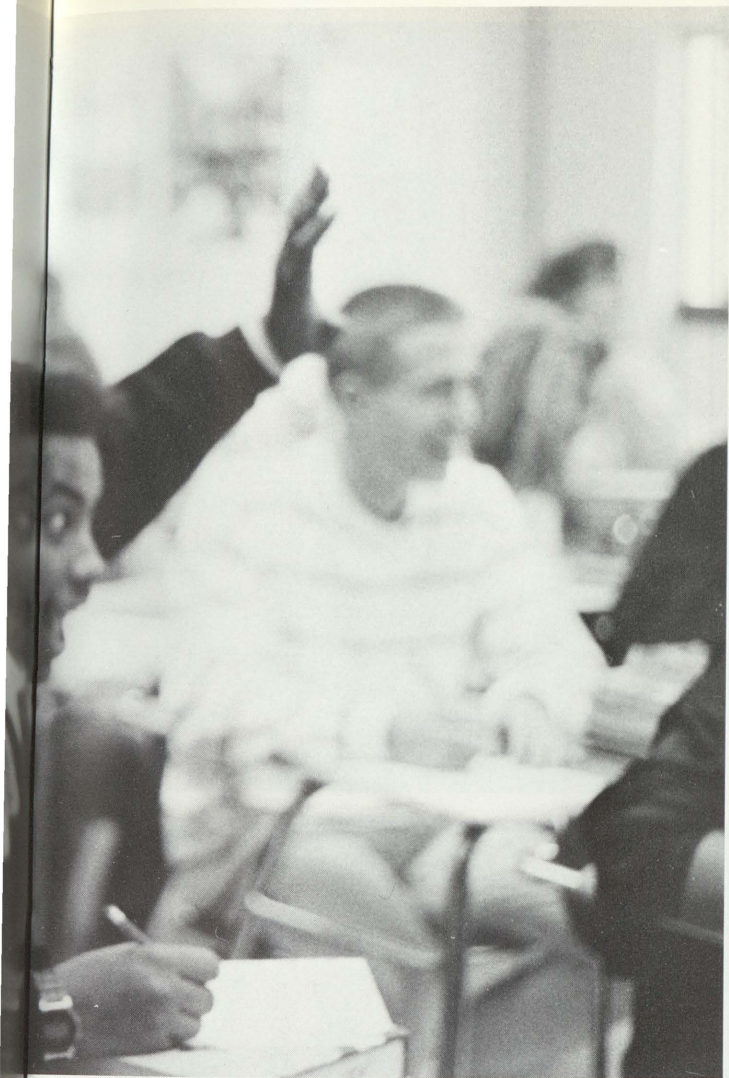

Whether or not they use this information now they will soon find that it is essential for the future.

Upper Center: Junior Assegid Mersha rapidly volunteers his service to anxious classmates awaiting the answer. Here at Arthur Hill education is based on team workout and co-operation.
Lower Center: Junior Anna Glass busily works collecting information from a book jacket. Arthur Hill has a variety of books from the past to the present.

In the past three years the English classes at Arthur Hill have made drastic changes. Classes have gone from the traditional textbook ways to the new nontraditional ways of discussions and free writes. The new classes stress more student orientated things such as group discussions and individuals subjects.

The new program is based on research by the University of Michigan. They have proved that students are learning more from reading books and writing freely than from the traditional grammar book classes.

Students like the Inquiry class compared to the traditional English.

Senior Beth Kapp said "I like the program because it's different from the regular English classes. It's a little more relaxed and seems more like a family than a class."

This relaxed atmosphere is reflected in the students grades and attitudes towards school. Students grades and attendance records have appeared to be better.

Students that are not in the Inquiry English class even realize the benefits it has. Senior, Jennifer Rembisz said, "I think the structure of the honors class is good' but the in-depth writing and discussion of the Inquiry class would be an added benefit."

Teachers have mixed emotions on the class, though. Teacher Gail Oliver said "The traditional ways are more secure for the teachers."

The classes are much more unpredictable.

Jane Denton said "It's a roll with the punches every minute!" But a lot of people really like the classes.

So while this program is very new and unsure, the support it has received so far proves it should be a real success.

-Amy Poyhonen

New Methods of Teaching In a New Decade

"It's a roll with the punches every time", said Jane Denton.

Programs at the Career Opportunities Center (C.O.C.) and the Center for the Arts and Sciences (C.A.S.) offer technical and special training for many Arthur Hill students. Classes ranging from aeronautics to law enforcement and dance to language arts made these centers an exciting alternative to the normal school day for more than two hundred Arthur Hill students.

Senior Keith Tulpo said, "Attending the Career Opportunities Center will give me hands on experience for future jobs and the possibility of a job related career."

With students from all over the area attending these centers, it gives Arthur Hill students a chance to meet fellow students from other high schools.

Junior Charlene Klaczekiewicz said, "The skills I learn at COC will provide business experience and the co-op program gives me hands on experience."

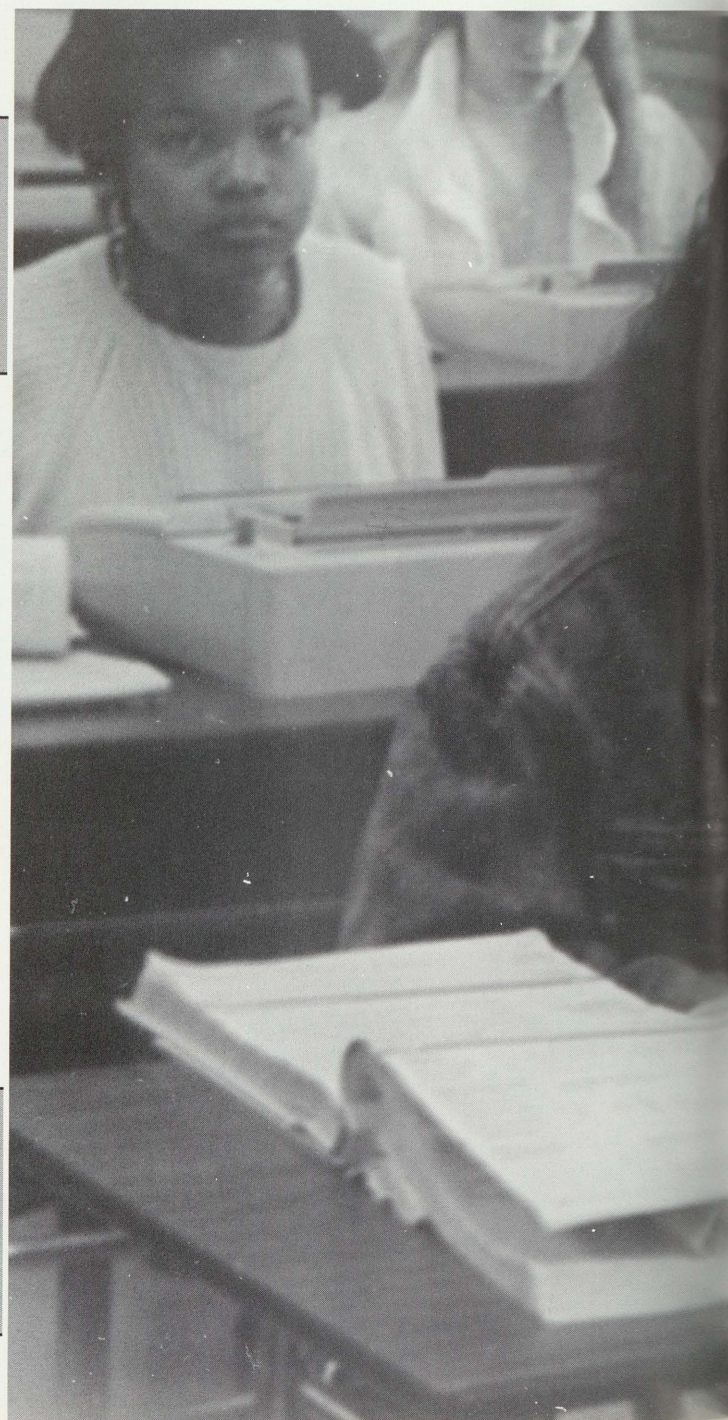

Classes, for students that attend these centers last for two and one-half hours and some are even two year programs.

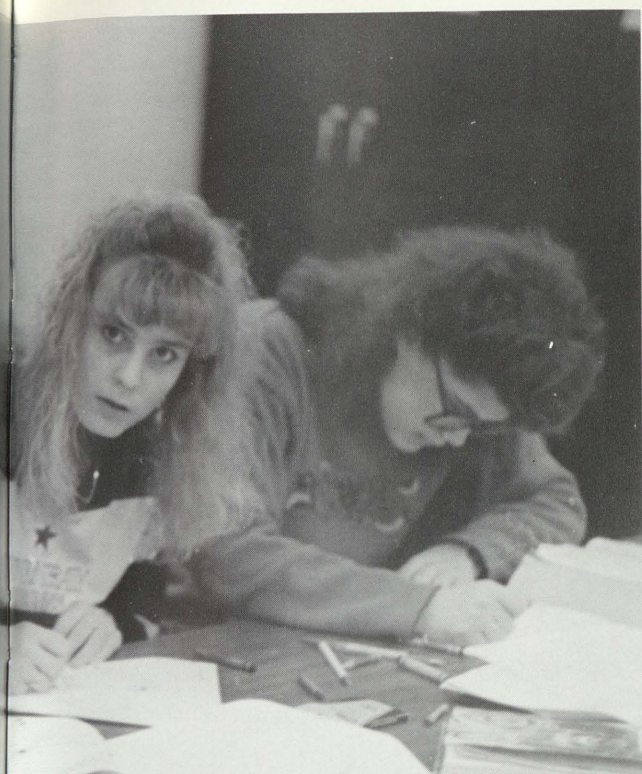

After attending these classes, students will have a better understanding of a particular subject they enjoy.

ACT or SAT, maybe even both. Depending on the college or colleges you plan on applying to, which of these college bond tests you will need to take.

You need one or the other if not both, to get into a college. We all have to take some point in our life either in our junior or senior year and for some of us it begins before that.

"I've spent my high school years preparing and choosing the right classes so I would do well on the ACT," said senior Heather Eisenlord.

Many prepare for these by books, classes or some just choose to take it with no preparation.

"I went to some ACT preparatory classes," said Junior Charlotte Kukrowski, "but when I got there my mind drew a blank."

Some of us study, only to wish we had studied more for it like senior Melinda

Smith who said, "I looked at book after book but still wish I had done a little bit more."

This is a crucial point for many in their life.

Michelle Fogus, junior, said, "I'm so nervous, I need at least a 23 on the ACT to into the college I want to. I'm going to keep on taking it until I get that score."

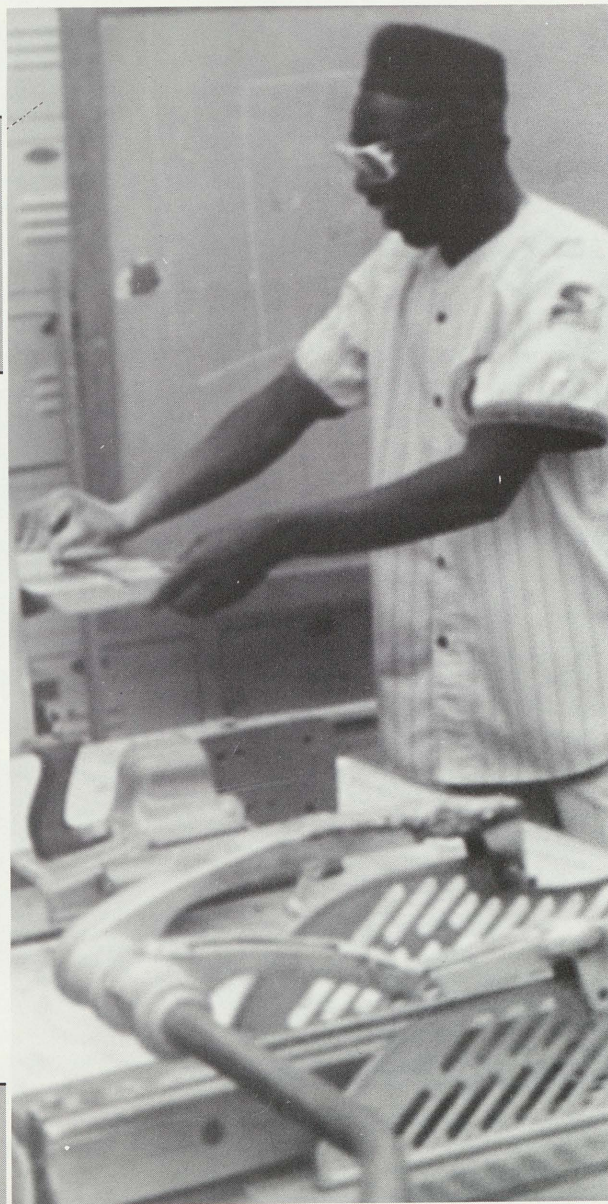

"It was like torture," said junior Jennifer DelaSantos, "But I had to bear through it even though the stuff was foreign to me."

For some students these tests may seem extremely difficult or extremely easy.

"The science and math part were the worst part of the test, said senior Meika Tanner, "but I did real well on the rest."

It depends on the person if they do well or not. You have to want to do well..

Misty Ditmar And Mary Whitney

Two of the nicest people in the school are Grace Newvine and Shar Hammer, the secretaries in the main office. Mrs. Newvine has been with Arthur Hill for about ten years. Her other jobs included working for the school board eighteen years, Saginaw High for four years, and Merrill Park Elementary for 5 years.

Mrs. Newvine says that she loves Arthur Hill, and that she loves high school in period. Some of her responsibilities included doing the payroll, budget and sometimes acting as a sub for teachers.

She usually gets help with her duties as a secretary when she needs it.

On the other hand there is Mrs. Shar Hammer she has been with Arthur Hill for about two to three years. Her other jobs include working for Haley Elementary and Potter Elementary, she loves Arthur Hill.

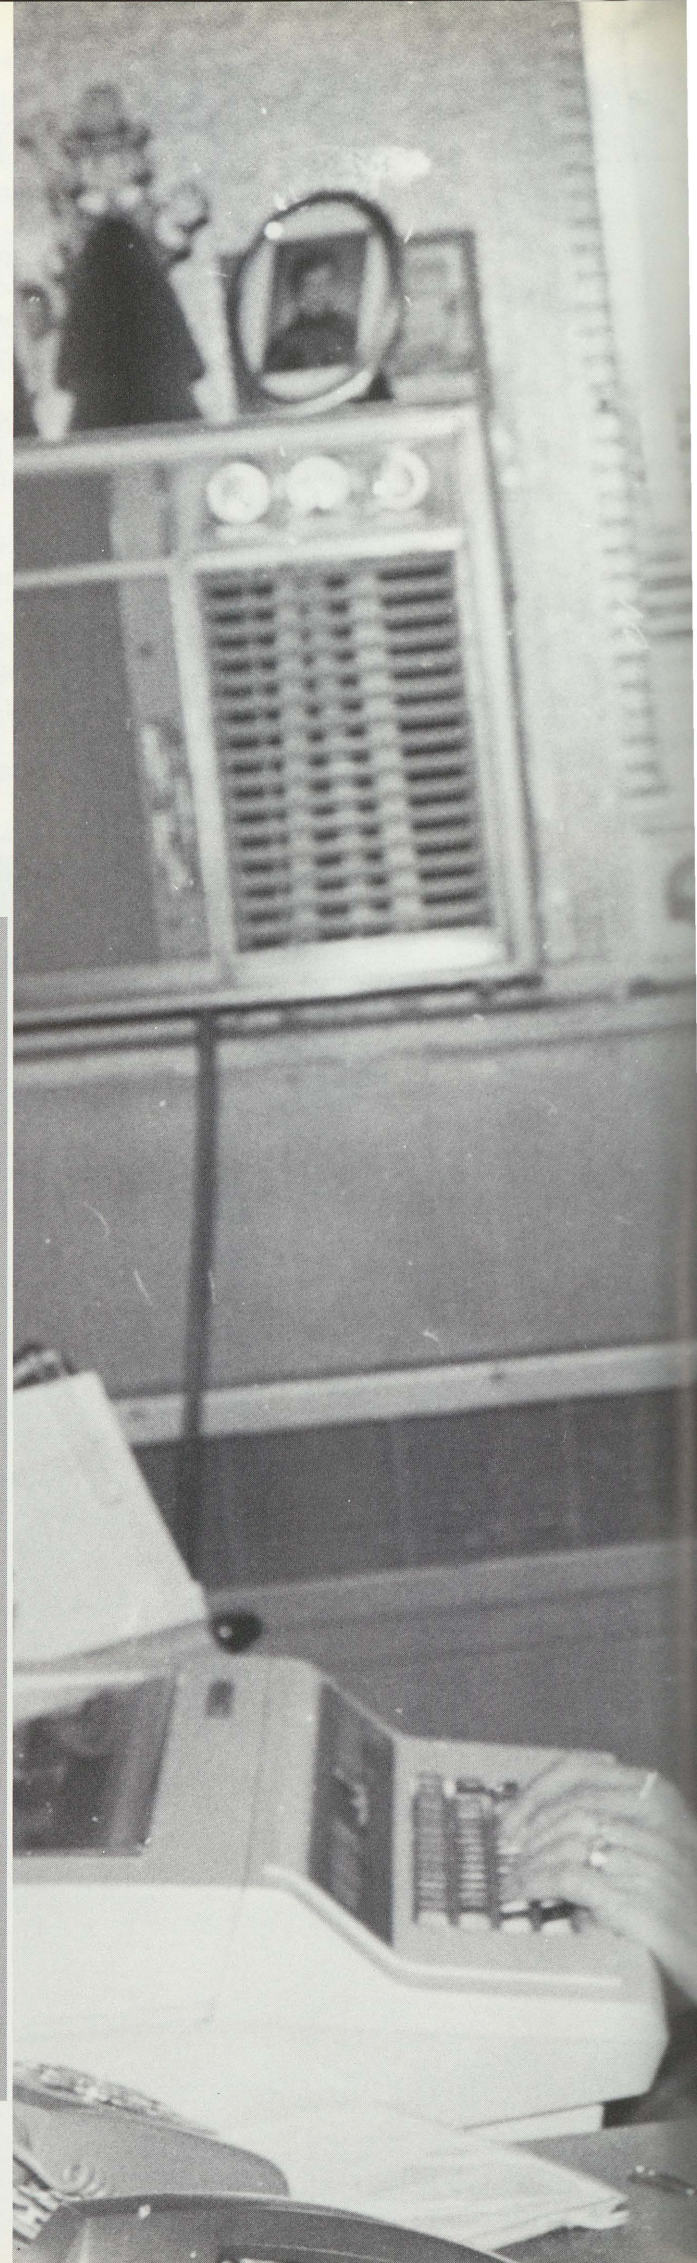

Some of her duties include student schedules and basically a lot of the computer stuff. She usually gets help with some of these duties from students as well as from Mrs. Newvine. Both are very delightful and hard working women maybe you should stop by and say hi when they're not so busy.

While students are sitting in the cafeteria, eating their gourmet food, do they think about the people who made their food?

The cafeteria workers put all their energy into making the students' lunches. They even buy pizza from a local fast food place, once in awhile.

Monica Truss and Latasha F. Shaheed, both sophmores, said they were pleased with our cafeteria for their first year at the "Hill".

Truss, who often eats in the cafeteria, said, "I don't eat in here all the time, just once in awhile." Truss and Shaheed think very highly of the service which Shaheed said, "Is very fast service," and Truss said, "The service is pretty good."

The head worker, Sallie Kramer, graduated from Arthur Hill in 1955.

Kramer's job is to order the food and set up of the deli bar. Kramer also has a supervior to fill in for her when absent, Carol O'Dette. Normally O'Dette cooks up the lunches and fixes the deli bar for the students.

"The cafeteria", Kramer said, "Is clean with clorox." Which is basically very clean.

There are other workers who work mostly in the kitchen or serve food to students.

The ladies of the cafeteria deserve the most respect for there jobs they do, because Kramer said, "They put up with over 200 students at one time." All the workers say they enjoy working with the students. They also treat the students like they would like someone treating their own children.

We will remember the hard workers who serve, yes we will.

-Terri Kilts

Arthur Hill's Cafeteria takes the Scare out of Traditional School lunches

Cutlines, deadlines, layouts and editing all done for each issue of the Arthur Hill News. One might wonder, is it worth all the hassle?

According to Senior Joel Borsenik it is worth all his time and effort "After three weeks you get to see just what you accomplished, and the paper really looks good."

For more than 50 years this high school newspaper has been published and recognized. From the first advisor Matty Crump of 41 years to the current Patsy Procuro. The paper has received acknowledgements and awards making the Arthur Hill News nationally know.

As the class of 90 graduated The News lost more than 'A few good Men', it lost a staff of outstanding editors, photographers and reporters.

On the other hand the year of 90-91 brought in a new staff.

Senior, editor-in-chief, Coffiann Hawthorne said, "It takes time to train a new staff, we still have a good class even though we lost most of last year's staff."

Hawthorne realized it was not going to be an easy year. She found she needed to train a her new staff which took time and patience. None the less The News was printed and delivered on time, as scheduled.

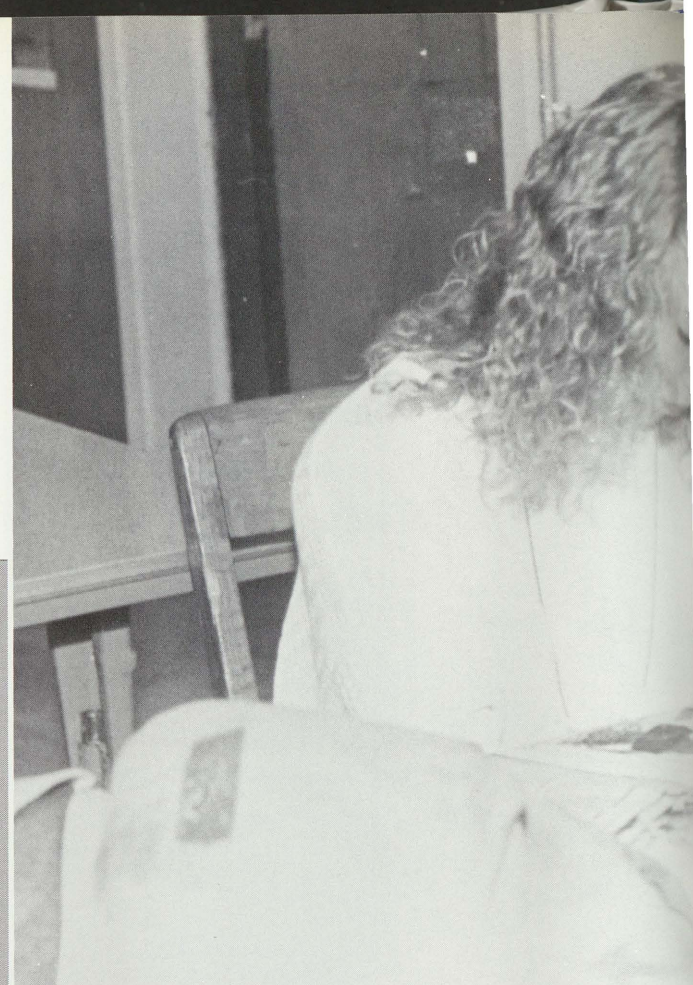

Junior, Brandi Siler, Hawthorne said, "Is an outstanding reporter, she gets all the facts, then writes an interesting story."

Advisor Patsy Procuro is proud to have a dedicated and hard working staff.

As one reads The News it is not easy to put the paper down until you have looked over the sports. Something a true Hillite could never do.

Senior, sports-editor Scott Keyes realizes the amount of the student body cares about the results of each and every competition. So in his articles Keyes takes pride in writing and editing his stories."

Special Thanks To Our Teachers For Allowing Us To Miss A Few Classes To Make This Book The Best It Can Be!

The yearbook is not just a book with laid out pictures, it's a book of feelings and memories.

Memories of balloon decorated dances, couples dressed in beautiful gowns and stunning suits. Don't forget the roaring crowds of people that cheered on the games, with shouting cheer-leaders, and proud students and parents cheering with school spirit and pride. What about the school clubs and organizations that joined together to make this school a better school and more fun for everyone? But most of all, the teachers and friends who made it the school what it is and made it possible to learn and reach our goals. A yearbook makes it possible to save all these memories because a picture "catches the moment"!

Making a yearbook requires a lot of time, cooperation, team-work and fighting a lot of demands.

Editor, Mary Whitney said, "Teamwork is very important, if one person doesn't want to participate the whole class suffers".

"If you don't work together it'll never come together", says Joel Borsenik.

Working to make the yearbook is fun. The class gives you a lot of freedom and gives you a feeling of accomplishment. It makes you feel important. Whitney said, "It makes people more responsible and keeps them on the ball".

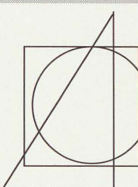

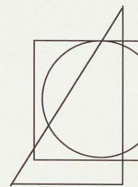

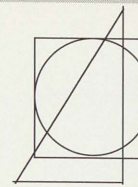

Jenny Truckner says, "It brings out my creative abilities".

Working on the yearbook gives you chances to work with different people and hear many different opinions.

"When you work with other people you get more suggestions to make a better yearbook" says Jodi Saldana.

Most important is "Making it the best it can be" said Saldana. Jodi Preston thinks it's important to make everyone involved because this is our yearbook and we look back on it as a memory.

Entering the Underclassmen

You are now entering the underclassmen zone, one of the most exciting zones of the year. To those who don't understand what an underclassmen is let's explain.

Underclassmen are juniors and sophomores the lower class of high school.

Juniors are most important because there stepping up to become seniors while the sophomores sit back and take notes from the juniors waiting on their turn to become juniors.

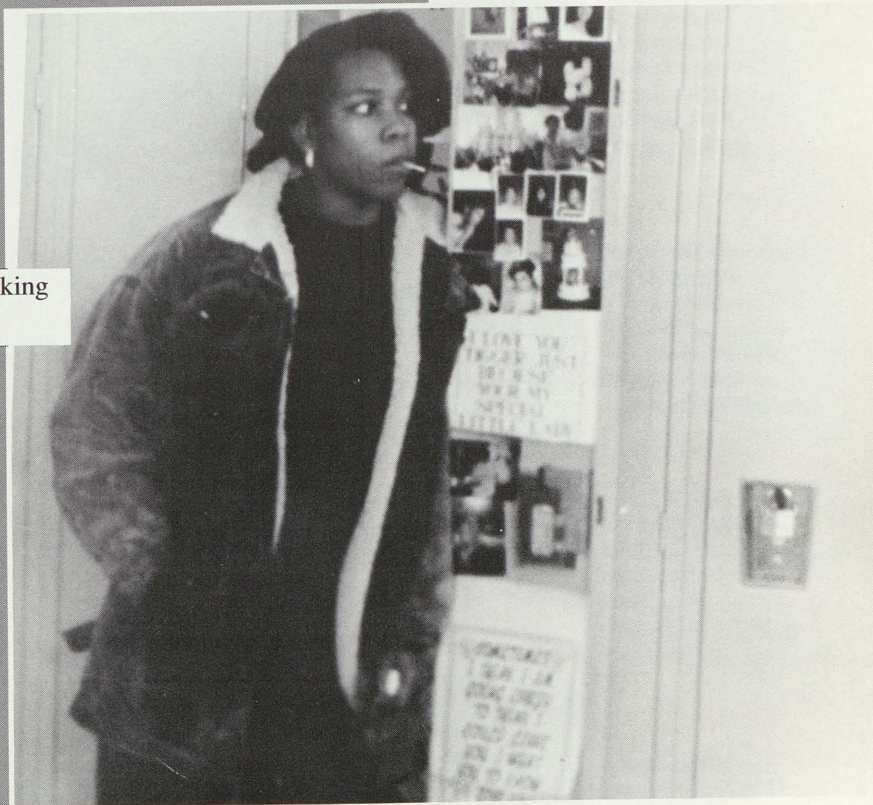

All underclassmen don't get the privilege of most seniors because they haven't reached that point yet. The class of '92 is just waiting in line to become seniors watching every little step seniors take.

This experience is something new to the sophomores because their exploring something different, new teachers, new kids, new classes, and new things.

It's just a sense of challenge, you have to pass all sophomore classes to become a junior and the juniors have to do the same thing to become head of the school, "seniors".

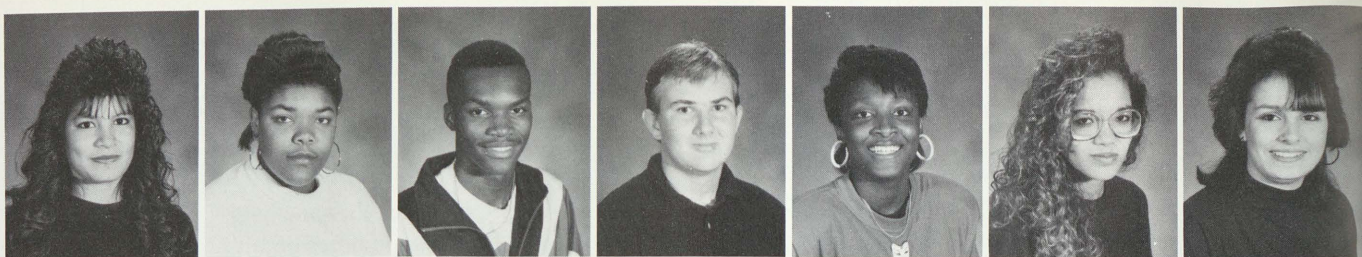

-Lisa Young

Arthur Hill juniors cheering for their class at the pep assembly.

What are juniors?

Many juniors think they, as a class, are merely waiting in a line, waiting for '91 to 'shove out' leaving the class of '92 to rule.

Junior Randy Bitner explains what a junior is .

"A junior means the middle-of-the-pack, you are not as low as a sophomore, or not as high as the seniors. So it can be your best year."

Hillite Ty Burris said, "It means being at the bottom of the barrel, you are actually a vet."

Heath Sizick said he is preparing to set an example for the new coming sophomores. Whether this is a good or bad example, well that is up to him.

On the academic note, superstar soccer player Matt Slaggert is planning on becoming an NHS member.

Juniors have enormous expectations of their senior year.

"Cheerleading, choir and having school spirit beyond belief" are Karri McGowan senior plans.

While some students prepare academically or athletically, one student will "Go crazy, wild and never out of style."

On the flip side of the coin, Adrianna Klenk said she looks forward to helping raise money for graduation events.

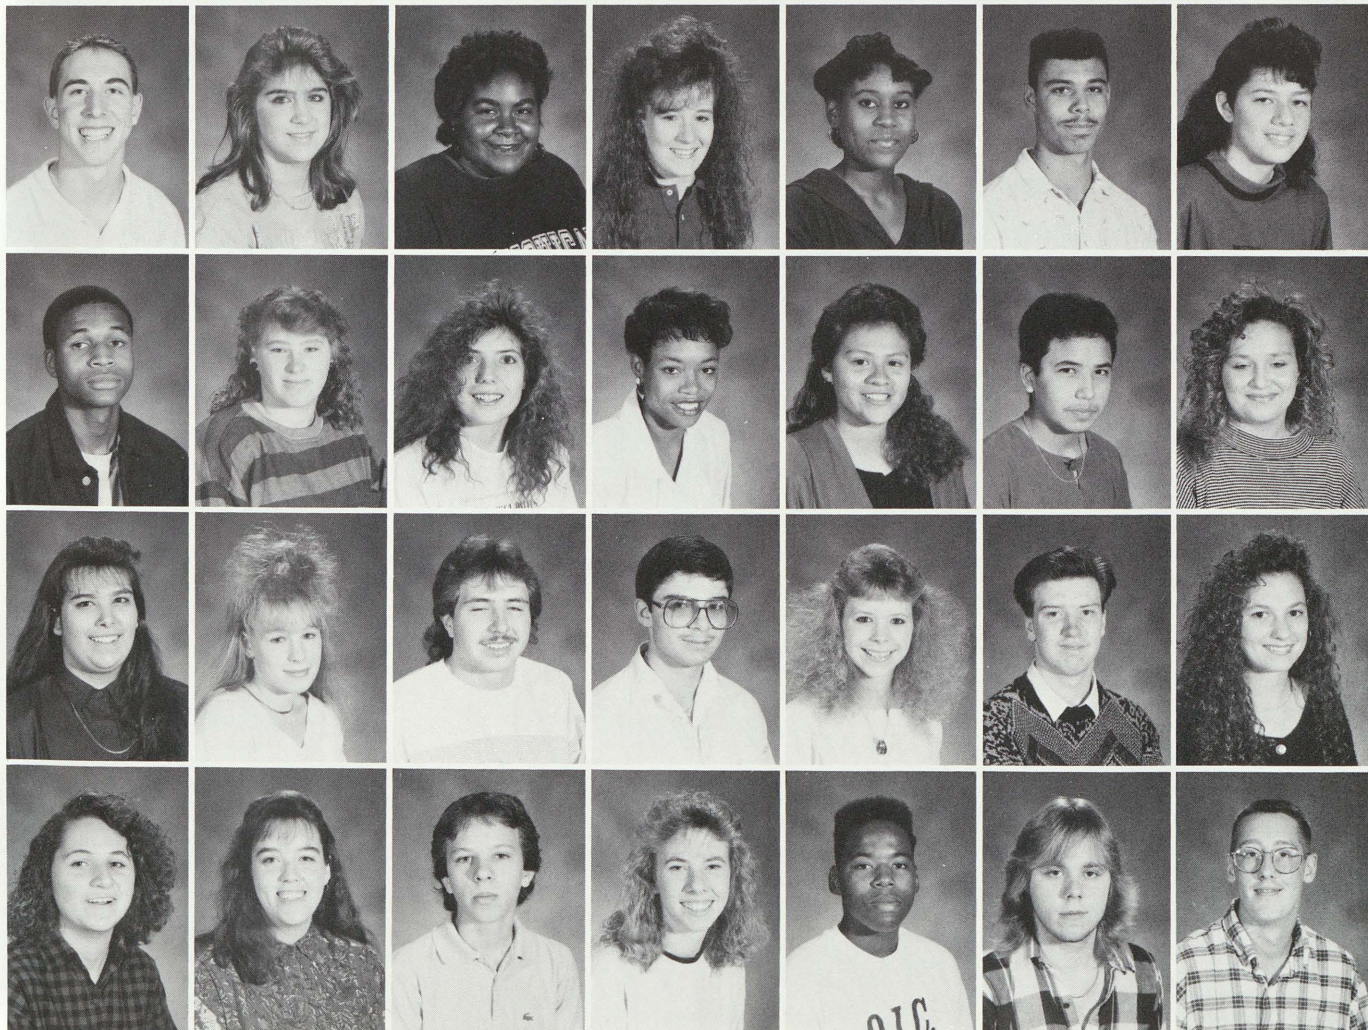

So one can see that not all Juniors are sitting around waiting, class of '92 is ready and able to rule the Hill!

Although students are preparing for the fun and excitement of their senior year juniors must also face the early morning testing of the ACT and SAT.

The ACT and SAT are both college entrance exams which are basically mandatory if you have any intentions of attending college.

Another junior activity is the powder puff game. Junior girls rebel with the senior girls in flag football, although there is no real prize the winners allow themselves multitudes of pride.

Juniors are steppin' up

Arthur Hill's class of '92 is not the youngest class, nor the oldest. Juniors are in between and struggling to get to the top of the 'Hill'.

Accomplishments and goals are a big part of Arthur Hill's 50 years of tradition and Junior Tina Cottle is not only looking for her own success but for the success of every Hilite.

"I hope to learn enough to make it in the real world," said Cottle, "and I hope that everyone else will find and reach their own goals."

Friendship is a big help in keeping school spirit and friends are sharing that spirit not only with their old friends but also with new ones. During their last years here Juniors, are making Sophmores feel at home and giving Seniors a send off they will never forget.

Junior Charlene Klaczkiewicz is happy to leave Arthur Hill so she can pursue her dreams but she is not happy about leaving her friends, the memories, and some of the best times she ever had.

Klaczkiewicz said, "I feel terrific about leaving, I love school and what it represents but I am really excited about reaching my goals."

Students in general are looking forward to putting their long hours of studying to good use. Junior Derronnee Finch is not only looking for that but he also hopes to see some changes before he leaves.

"I would like to see the Black Studies Club become community-wide," said Finch.

Arthur Hill's Seniors are preparing themselves for the day they have to depart from our school and the class of '92 is preparing themselves for a step-up.

Nervous sophomores enter high school

Coming to Arthur Hill High School for the first day is a new and exciting experience for all sophomores.

"I felt out of place and a little scared," said Shane Nickerson.

"The first day I felt pretty nervous, I was hoping to have a lot of my friends that I had from Jr. high in all my classes," says Joey Howe, "and I was nervous about being sloped."

Arthur Hill is a big school that seems to confuse most of the sophomores. The classes are larger and a lot fuller. There are a lot of new faces of teachers and other students.

I felt nervous, but not scared, it wasn't all that bad, you just feel funny cause the school is so big," says Laura Treveno.

"I felt weird because it being so different from Jr. High and there are so many people don't know and new teachers too," says Martha Bluhm.

Coming to Arthur Hill is a growing and memorable time of your life. It makes you feel mature being around older people in a bigger school. It brings you closer to move on in the future to come.

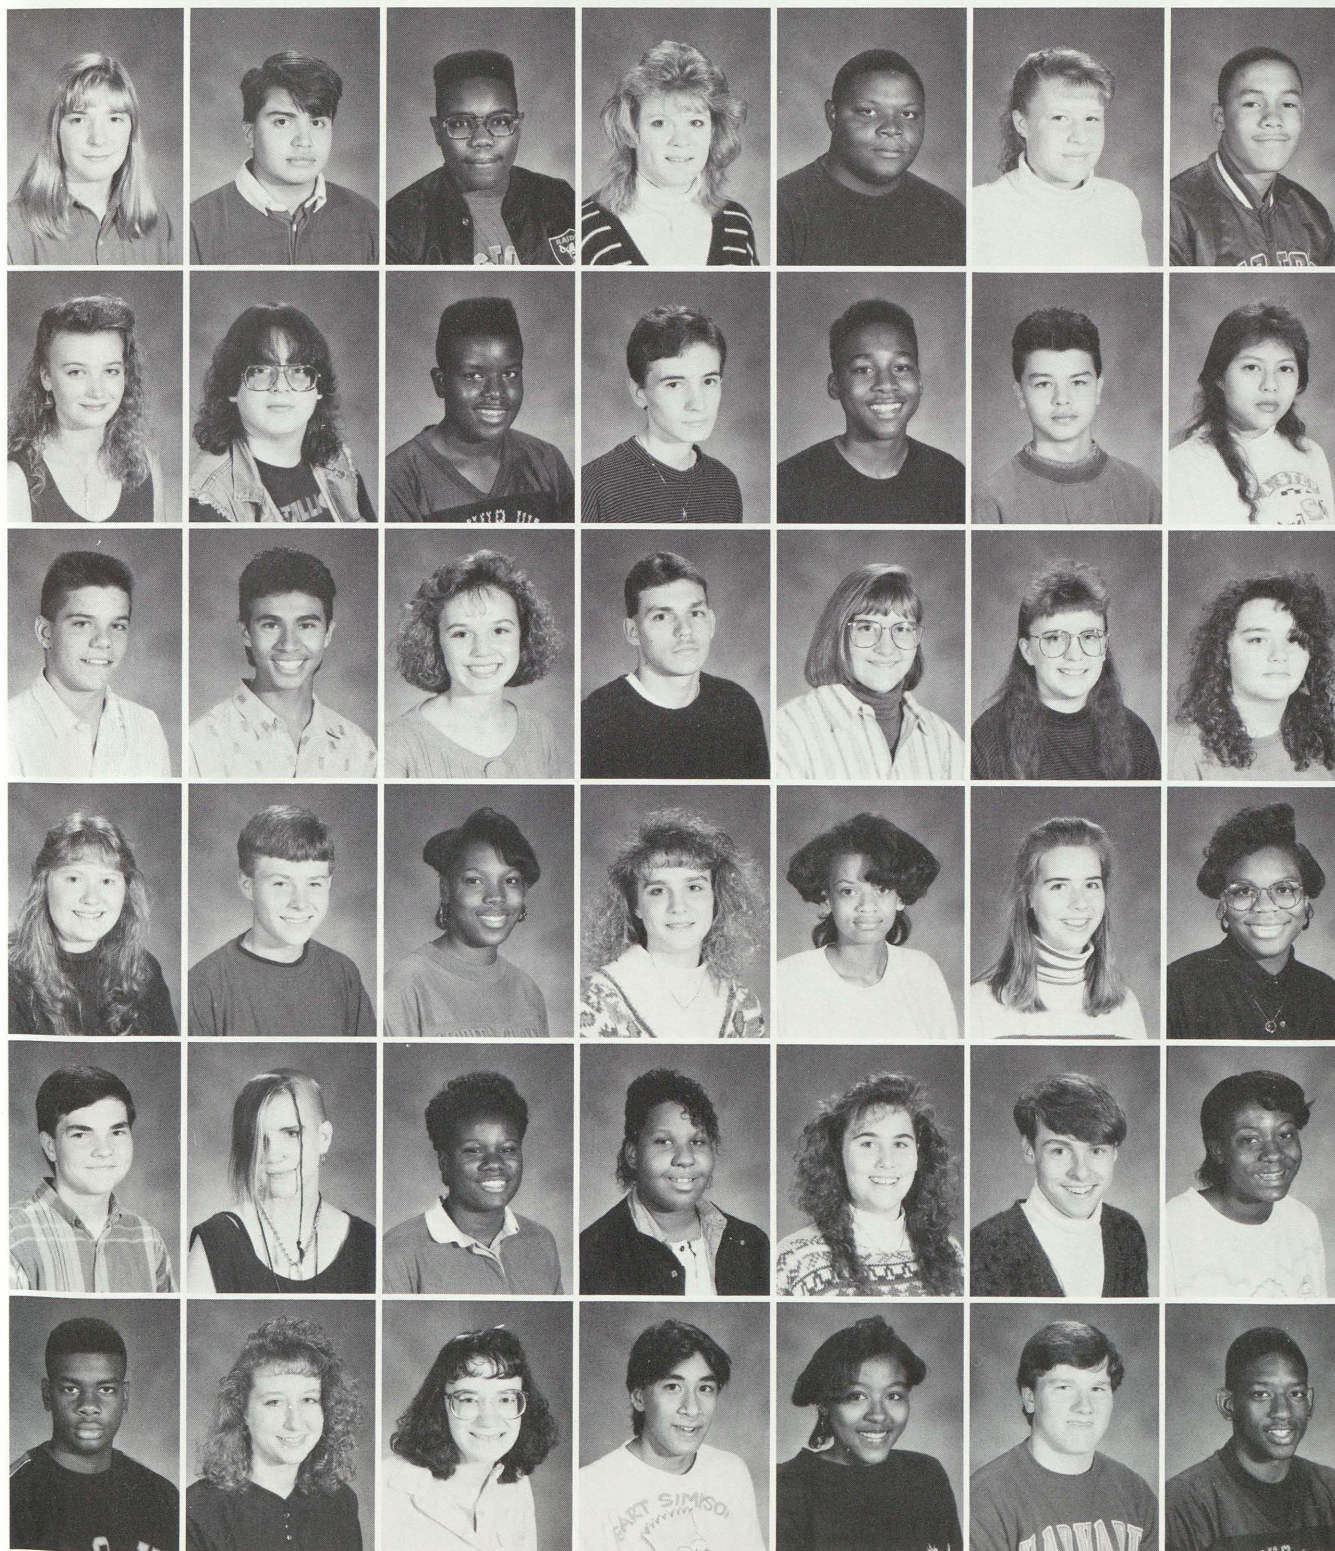

"I felt scared, I came thinking people would push me around but they didn't, Arthur Hill isn't as big as I thought it would be. There's a lot of different people here and they all have their own way of treating you," says Carrie Ames.

"Everybody said how bad and tough it would be, but really it just turned out to be another myth. So I guess I feel right at home," said Paul Henandez.

"On the first day I felt lost and confused. Everyone seemed to look down on me. Classes were hard to find and it was hard meeting new people, but as the year went on I found Arthur Hill to be the best," says Carrie Mortimer!

Fashions Underclassmen Wear

Underclassmen wear some of the hottest fashions that makes them different from other people. Some take it as far as shaving their hair in different kinds of earrings in each year.

Students usually dress like their friends or who they look up too! Underclassmen usually dress in a way, so they can impress other people. They also think they can fit in. But others don't even care what people think of them, so they dress any way they want to. So you can say underclassmen dress very unpredictable.

*George Bowles
Soloman Ervin
James Oliver*

Soloman Ervin

"Soloman was friendly and always tried to help someone," said Senoir Eric Grandberry.

James Oliver

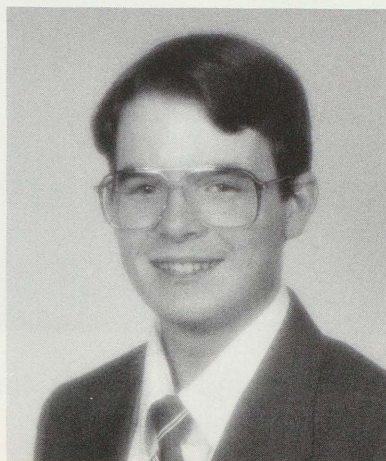

"James was a very outgoing person and very easy to talk to," said Senoir Jacqueline Gray.

This is a poem written in 1988 by Paula Turner, who was moved by the death of her friend, Jennifer Flattery.

*One cold fall day,
She was taken away,
A friend we all knew
A rousing spirit of the gold and blue*

She supported the hill to the end, A devoted Hillite and special friend.

Although the poem was with Jenny in mind, the sentiments expressed in this poem are the same ones shared by many Hillites as they mourn their friends that were well loved and sadly missed.

George Bowles

"He was always there to talk to...one of the last of the good guys," said Senoir Heather Fox.

The 1990-91 school year has been a year of celebration for Arthur Hill as it commemorated its 50th year at the 3115 Mackinaw location.

Yet it has also been a year of mourning as it had to say goodbye to many senior students.

In the midst of final preparations for Homecoming 1990 with all the warmth generated, there was a feeling of emptiness for some.

Senior Lumberjack Solomon Wan Jenner Ervin wasn't there.

Ervin passed away tragically September 15, 1990, age 17.

Before attending Arthur Hill, he attended South Intermediate School as well as Houghton and Kempton elementary schools.

"He was friendly and always tried to help someone," said senior Eric Grandberry.

According to senior Jacqueline Gray, who has known Solomon since seventh grade, he was like a brother to her.

"He was a trusting person, easy to talk to and loved to have fun," Gray said.

"He was quiet, fun to hang around with and cheered you up when you were down," said senior Chandra Morgan who speaks of school life with Ervin. "He had a lot of friends in school."

"Soloman was funny," said senior Chris Fredericks, "he had a good sense of humor.

"He wanted to have fun and was a nice person," said senior Angelo Brown who joined Ervin as a member of the AH football team.

Because of a blood-grisled crime committed by alleged suspect and fellow employee Steven King, AH had to say goodbye to senior George Bowles.

Bowles, 17, was bludgeoned to death Oct. 31 at Perry Drug Stores, 264 W. Genessee, where he and King were employed.

According to media sources and police reports, King attacked Bowles and two other employees with a claw hammer shortly after 9:30 p.m. Halloween night.

The other victims were cashier Bertha Aldridge and pharmacist Harold E. Epting.

Though Epting only suffered minor injuries, Aldridge a 1985 AH graduate died from several injuries sustained to the head.

Described as a quiet, yet kind and gentle person, friends remember Bowles with fond memories.

"He was a nice guy," said senior Heather Fox, a friend of Bowles. "He was always there to talk to.

"He was one of the last of the good guys," she said.

Another senior mourned was James Oliver.

Oliver's sudden death was once again a result of a vicious crime.

Oliver was found dead in a farmer's field Nov. 30, 1990.

According to police reports and the media, no suspects or motives have been determined to this day.

"He was a very outgoing person and very easy to talk to," said Gray, who lost both friends, "he was a very close friend."

August 2, 1990 Iraq invades Kuwait. People lose their homes, women are raped, children killed, and a whole country is sent into complete chaos. The United States of America feels it should display some sort of justice to the millions of people who cry for help.

Sanctions fail, talks take the country nowhere, and the United Nations is running out of options. An answer for peace is nowhere to be found while the avoidance of war is coming to a close; it's right around the corner.

War, the thought that has been tearing families apart since the beginning is finally a reality that we can no longer avoid, it's time to face the possibility that our loved ones may not return.

Heidi Houck, Armed Forces support group leader, is raising four children by herself and often answering the question, "when will daddy be home?"

"Everyone thinks they can understand what is going on but they really can't imagine until it hits directly to the home," said Houck. "We try to help them understand what is going on when I can't really understand it myself."

Wondering, waiting, trying to carry on a normal life sometimes prove to be difficult.

Seeing yellow ribbons tied everywhere, citizens protesting over what they call "Blood For Oil", high school students perform sit ins, and the general feeling of unity is an unbreakable bond that makes America - America.

War has started... The empty helpless feeling of not being able to help the people you really love is tearing many families apart, including ours.

Countries that are trying to stay neutral are being bombarded and innocent civilians are being killed.

The U.S. government is very pleased with the air raid, casualties are at a minimum, mission accomplished... or so they said.

If the President of the United States had lost one member of his family he wouldn't have called it a mere casualty and he wouldn't have said business as usual, No! He would have brought the atomic bomb and declared World War 3. But when it doesn't involve him directly he has no comprehension of how one mere casualty can change the lives of a whole family forever.

The parents are given sympathies from support groups and the children are told it'll all be over soon, but at what cost? How many will die when it is all over?

Sgt. Houck stationed in Saudi Arabia tried to answer to his family when he'll be coming home... there were a lot of unanswered questions.

"Don't listen to what the papers have said, moral is low. Everyone is home sick they are trying to pass time doing whatever. Some days are long and seem never to end, while others are over before they even begin. I pray for my family everynight, I never imagined that I would talk to god as much as I am now," said Sgt. Houck.

We miss our dad and don't understand why we have to suffer for some psycho's actions... I guess that's why this is America.

- Tina Kazmerski

Black History and AH: A perfect combination

Black History and Arthur Hill High School combines beautifully once again. The annual Black History program is the second program that Arthur Hill has had in about ten years.

A lot of inquiring minds were wondering "Why did we wait so long to have this well constructed program?"

Some reasons for this long wait were because it takes a lot of time and extra effort to plan such a special activity, and there wasn't quite enough people who could offer this extra effort and time.

However, NOW all this has changed, thanks to Mrs. Tedi Morris the Black Studies Club advisor.

This is the second consecutive year that we have celebrated Black History month at Arthur Hill High School and we have had a great amount of festivities such as the Black History Assembly and members of the Black Studies Club to read poems and short stories over the intercom about famous African American poets, inventors, and writers.

In addition to the many colorful costumes and smiling faces that

The Storyteller...

Opalanga Pugh shares the African experience and teaches the history of black people by telling the story. Much of what she teaches is absent in the multi-cultural classroom of today's youth.

Pugh also teaches cultural relativity.

"I want people to see that even though we are all different, we have more similarities than we think," Pugh said. "We all have one story that we play out on a day-to-day basis. How do we control our lives, how do we gain control of our lives, how do we gain a peace mind and how do we receive and give love?"

Pugh's performance was sponsored by Delta College.

We are grateful to Mable McQuirter for making this event possible.

appeared at the assembly, we had an excellent speaker Mrs. Opalanga Pugh, who spoke about Black self-awareness, Black pride and the many different famous African Americans we have yet to discover. The assembly was well planned and very enjoyable.

Everybody was in place and ready to help do their part in the program.

The time spent to plan this Black History Program was well worth it and we at Arthur Hill High School would like to thank Mrs. Morris and the Black Studies Club for bringing this joyous occasion to our attention this year.

We would also like to encourage them to let us once again enjoy this for all the years to come.

-Chandra Morgan & Jackie Gray.

This year's keynote speaker, Opalanga Pugh, often referred to as "The Story-teller" entertained, yet informed Lumberjacks by vividly using creative tactics and visual aids to instill black pride and self-awareness and inform Lumberjacks about the lives and work of many African-Americans that most don't have the opportunity to learn about in school.

Clubs Have Impact

The organizations at Arthur Hill were very busy this year with many activities for the members and the students of AH.

One of the clubs that were always on the ball was the Black Studies club. The BSC in December held a traditional Kwanza dinner in the schools cafeteria. The purpose of the dinner was to unite the community and to promote understanding. Another event the BSC staged was a march in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday. Students of AH were invited to participate in this event with BSC, and many did. The front of the school that day the people that passed by caught a glimpse of marchers promoting peace. The event to top their schedule was a black history assembly on the 28th of February during seventh hour.

The pride committee, which is made up of a few students from the sport teams and organizations, was as busy, maybe even than the BSC. The club got food for families during Christmas time. This program involved in the adoption of a family. The Pride committee also was involved in lighting up the Lumberjack statue in front of the school.

Senior Jodi Saldana said, "We worked really hard with fundraisers to purchase the lights."

The Drama club introduced the students of Arthur Hill this year with some culture when the club participants put on the play Cinderella. The club held auditions and picked the best available for the job.

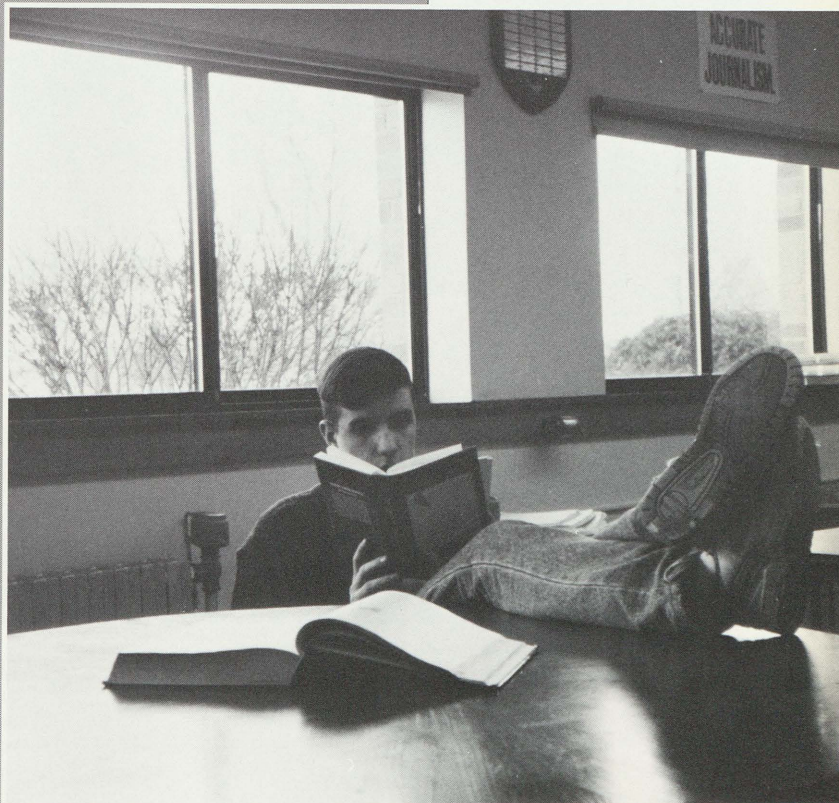

Although there were many more clubs at Arthur Hill they were at times not as active as other clubs but had equal impact here at AH. For instance the Pep club. This club is responsible for getting the students involved in activities throughout the school. The Supervisor of the pep club, Calvin Mott said, "I really enjoyed myself this year, they were a great group of kids."

There were also the technology club and the Dead Poets Society. The tech club were very busy improving their human powered vehicle for competitions throughout the nation while the DPS were helping students here at home become enriched with poetry.

Although the club participation was low, the spirit among those who participated in them was high. That spirit made the clubs and organizations at Arthur Hill a great success.

Right: Senior Glenn Myron, member of the Dead Poet's Society relaxes by reading some poetry. The DPS was begun by Sheila Smith, English teacher, in 1989.

Pride Promotes

Positive Aspects

The Pride Committee is an organization of the various clubs and sports here at Arthur Hill. It ranges from the Pep Club to the Varsity Basketball team. Though many people would have liked to have been on Pride and couldn't be, their suggestions and comments were always welcomed.

This year the committee's advisor was biology teacher, Al Garcia. The President was Brandi Siler, Vice President- Meika Tanner, Secretary- Caramia Barkley, Treasurer- Ami Engle and Parliamentarian-Jennifer Cavendish. All with the constant help of the 40 other Pride members have made this a successful year for Arthur Hill.

This year the two major goals for the committee was to either purchase lights for the statue and flag or a flower bed for Friendship Square. The committee decided on the purchase of the lights. With all of the fundraisers that took place, the 1990-1991 Pride Committee was very successful in doing so.

The main function of the committee is to "Promote a positive aspect of Arthur Hill and to keep it looking nice and clean", said Garcia. It was involved in the Winter Festival and spring clean up.

During spring clean up the committee cleaned up the school and repainted the trash cans. Not only has the committee helped our school but it also helped two families during the 1990 holiday season. The committee brought food, like two 16 pound turkeys, to the school and then took it to the houses of the families so they could have a plentiful meal for Christmas. They also helped Mr. Jenks at the bazaar to sell Arthur Hill plates and mugs commemorating this year's 50th. Anniversary.

We should all be thankful to the Pride Committee because without them our school may not be as beautiful as it is today.

The Pride committee is made up of various organizations like sports and clubs. A few selected football players are a part of it also.

Right: Arthur Hill's Pride members Jodi Saldona and Ami Engle show the spirit they had for AH during spirit week by dressing up as lumberjacks.

Student Council Does More for Community

Student Council gets involved. Along with the usual money making events, this year the council is doing more for the community, and getting the students involved.

Some of the events include working at the rescue mission on Thanksgiving and a penny drive for a little girl that has leukemia.

Another new project is helping the troops over in Saudi Arabia by sending Christmas Cards and care packages.

President Teresa Juarez said, "This year we are trying to get the students more involved in the community."

"We need more school spirit and we hope by continuing student activities throughout the year that will happen," said Juarez

One activity is Christmas Caroling and down the halls before Christmas break.

Senior Representative Ryan Mor said he wished they had more advertisement Snowball but, thinks it was successful as it turned out.

Advisor T.J. Luxton said, "The council works very hard for the school as well as the community."

"Although we are only sophomores we have a great start and a good advisor," said sophomore representative Lisa Turner

SADD Keeps Drinking Teens off the Road

Students Against Drunk Driving is an organization that tries to keep teenagers from drinking and driving. The students do many activities to raise money for their Chapter.

SADD Chapters, President is Mary Hickey and the Vice President is Kristie Ebach. Both have been with the Chapter for two or more years.

The only thing Ebach said", More people should get involved." The Chapter needs people to help out with things. Hickey says basically the same thing as Ebach.

The SADD Chapter is involved in pride parade, tie ribbons on cars, sell things, make signs and during prom, they give cards out for the people can call and get rides home if they can't drive. Mrs. Wieland is ahead of the Chapter and at the end of year they have a bowl for bucks. They raise money on how many strikes they get.

The SADD Chapter is a great group to join and get involved with helping the wheel while drunk!!!!

PAC Helps Students at AH

One of the most important organizations at Arthur Hill is the Parent Advisor Council. This dedicated group of parents help the students have a wider range of activities so that thier high school days are more adventurous and fun-filled.

The P.A.C. is hard at work all year planning up-coming events for Arthur Hill's student body.

Both President Jeannie Burkhardt and Vice-President Alice Opperman agree, trying to get new parents involved is an ongoing challenge.

You have probably seen members of the P.A.C. at various school activities and not even realized it. At dances; parents check coats, chaperone, and maintain a refreshment table. They also sell refreshments at basketball games.

"The P.A.C. helps us in a lot of ways. There's never a shortage of volunteers," laughed Principal Thomas B. Sharpe.

The P.A.C. sponsors the school newsletter, the action, the bazaar, the Fiesta during homecoming week, the Lumberjack breakfast during spirit week, graduation, and some of the National Honors Society's traditions.

"I don't know what I'd do without them," said Sharpe.

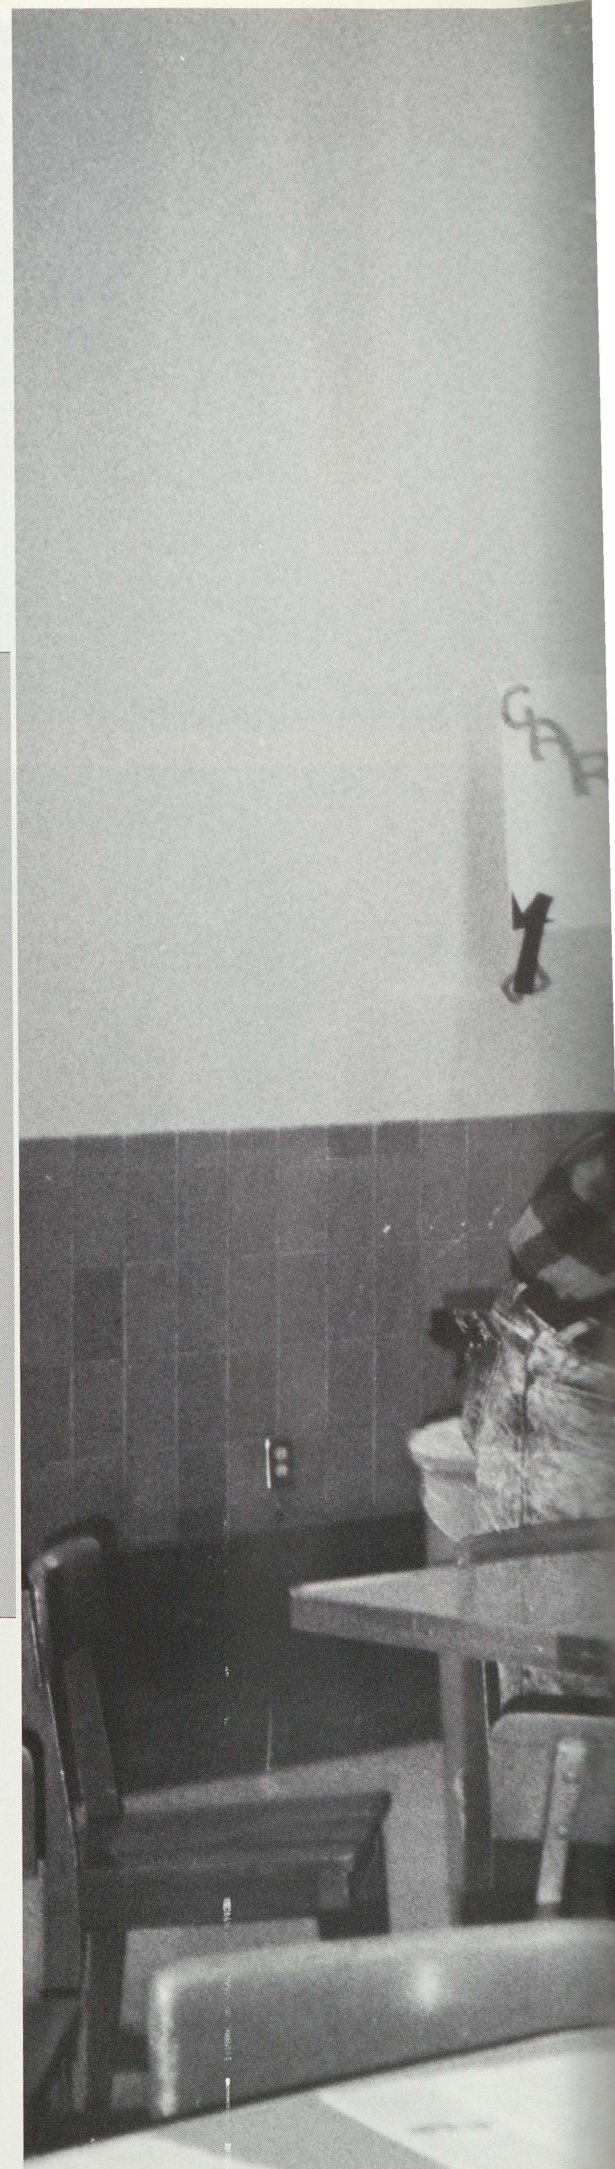

"They are really trying to help meet the needs of the students here."

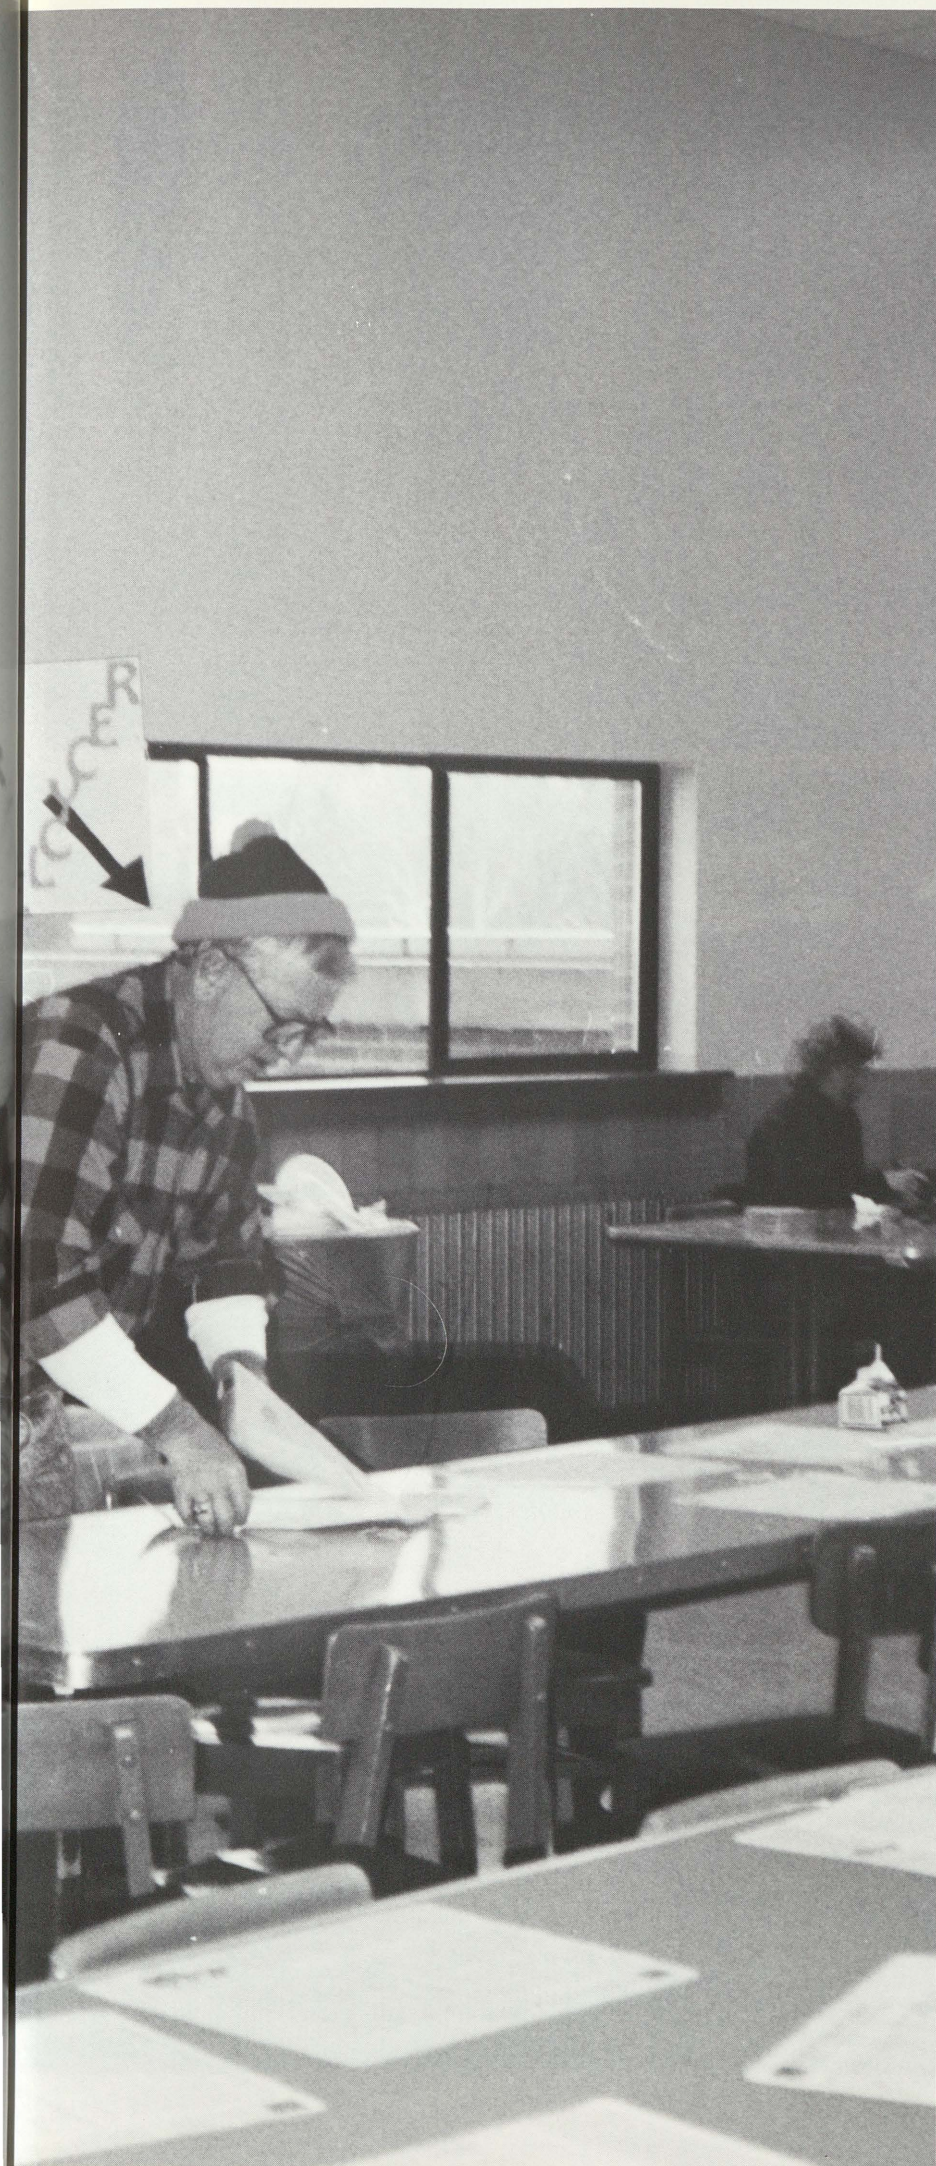

This year's P.A.C. is a bit different from other year's as they are trying to fund a larger amount of student activities groups.

"We are trying to give our money to a lot of different groups," said Opperman.

Even though the P.A.C. does not publicize what it does; they are a large part of the social atmosphere at Arthur Hill High School, and they are greatly appreciated.

The Technology Club is both an interesting and exciting club. Any Arthur Hill student can join the Tech Club. One of the reasons why the club was started was because they wanted to figure out a way to construct a human powered vehicle, that we all have come to know as the Da Vinci. But at first they just called the Da Vinci the Tech Club. Human powered vehicles have been around for about thirteen to about fourteen years. A fellow teacher named George Grandlin had shared some information with Mr. Isotolo, about bike building. This had really interested Mr. Isotolo as a school project. But the more they looked at it they had all realized that it would not fit in the classroom. Finding a solution to this problem was one of the reasons why the club was started. The more the group researched on ways to build it the more they came upon the designs of Da Vinci so they really accepted this name.

Da Vinci was building and designing bicycles almost five hundred years ago. But Da Vinci did not always have the materials to build everything that he had invented almost everything he invented was human powered, maybe now and then he might use a horse to power what he had invented. But for the most part everything was human powered, so the group really latched on to this name. The cost for Da Vinci for the first year they built it was three thousand dollars. This included material that was donated by different people, as well things that they had brought for it. This all totaled three thousand dollars.

Da Vinci is made out of fiberglass and other hard plastics. In 1989 Da Vinci was raced at the International Speed Ways in Adrian Michigan. At that they had placed seventeenth out of seventy-five.

"We were quite proud that we were fortunate to do that well, considering the fact that it was our first race."

Stated Mr. Isotolo, about the Da Vinci project. He later stated that they were the only high school racing at the speedway that year.

"The rest of the entries were from colleges and from professional businesses that get into this type of thing." Stated Mr. Isotolo, concerning the race. This year they want to race at the speedway again, which will be held in Milwaukee Wisconsin. "Our hope this year is to be not only in the top ten, but in the top five of the speed races." Said Mr. Isotolo. I for one hope that they reach their goal.

The Dead Poets Socceity is a club that was formed last year because of the great interest in the box office hit "Dead Poets Socceity." The movie was about a group of guys at a school that met in private to talk about poetry and its meaning.

In many ways the Arthur Hill club is like the club in the movie, yet in a lot of ways it isn't.

The Dead Poets Socceity isn't just poetry, but about thoughts. As the advisor Miss Smith said, "The Dead Poets Socceity is a place to share visions." A lot times the club will not even talk about poetry, but about issues that members want to talk about.

The association is not a club in the sense of rules and officers. They don't have any bylaws or officers Miss Smith said, "This is simply a place to talk about ideas not acceptable in high school." Although the group is not a club in many ways it is made up of the same people from meeting to meeting.

They hope to make it more like a club soon by developing a ritual similar to the one in the movie by reading a certain poem at the beginning of each meeting.

So even though the name Dead Poet Socceity implies dullness, the Dead Poet Socceity is very spirited.

BSC Awares AH of Culture

Black Studies Club, Institution of cultural awareness

For years, authors have written about self-reliance and the importance of education. It is a common fact the past has a direct impact on future events. The Black Studies Club is providing a service to students to help lead to a more positive future for minority students.

Arthur Hill has two cultural clubs designed for minority awareness; the Latino Action Club and the Black Studies Club. Esau Pritchett, president of the B.S.C., said "The purpose of this club is to explore black heritage and culture." The club main objective is to study African heritage which isn't included in Arthur Hill's curriculum. Chandra Morgan, vice-president of B.S.C. said "I think by letting everyone know that no matter what color you are you can join any club and learn new things about different heritages. Esau Pritchett added, "I think that the B.S.C will benefit Arthur Hill by providing a positive educational alliance which can be utilized by any student." The B.S.C. has raised money in the Fiesta and sponsoring dances to take cultural trips and participate in the annual Kwanza dinner.

Although the Black Studies Club is one of many clubs available for Arthur Hill students, it is more than a source of entertainment or activities. The purpose is to make minorities students as well as other students aware of the importance of knowing cultural heritage to the minority students and the importance of instilling cultural pride in all students.

LAC has Hispanics Participating

The Arthur Hill Latino Action Club is a club which is dedicated to getting hispanic students involved in school. It consists mainly of hispanic students, but, as advisor Mr. Olvera states, "It is open to anyone willing to work for the goals and beliefs of the club."

There are approximately 45 students in the club. This year's elected officers are president Wendy Houck, vice-president Gabriella Acosta, secretary Camilla Santos, and treasurer Pricilla Lopez. They are just four of the many active members of the club.

The club has a lot of interesting things going on this year. Just a few are a float for Homecoming Fiesta, selling "genuine Mexican burritos" to students at lunch, and selling carnations at Christmas. The money made at these fundraisers is being put toward a trip to the 1991 Bilingual and Immigrant Education Conference in Ypsilanti.

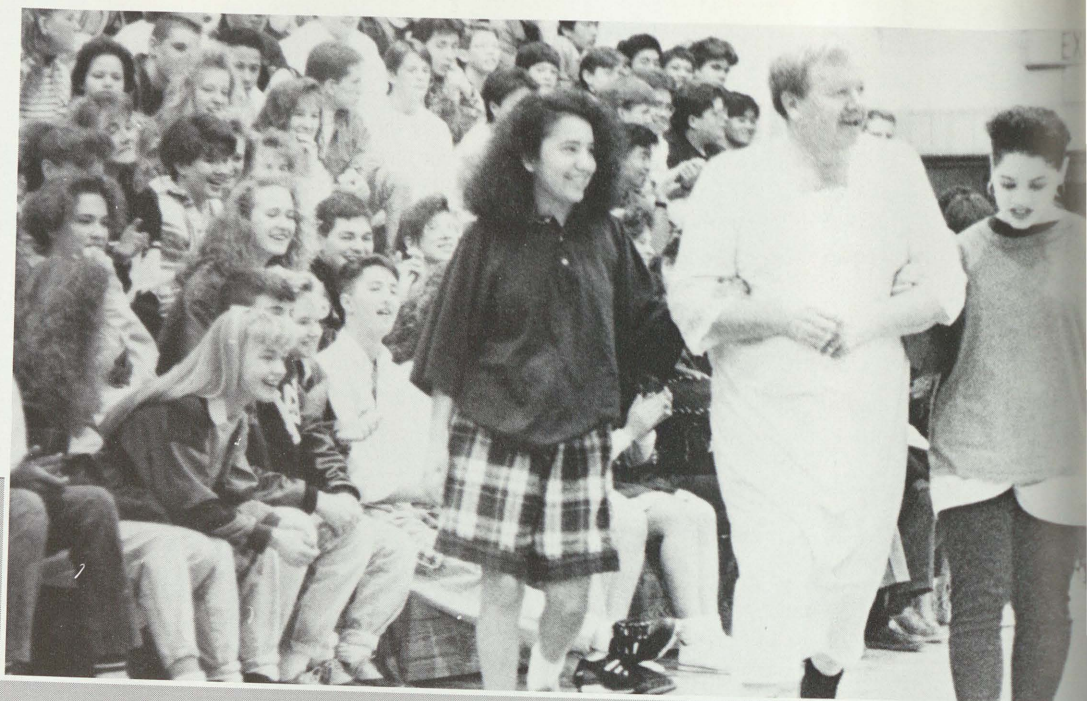

One other thing the club is planning for this year is making a float to compete in the Cinco de Mayo, held on May fifth, which is a Mexican celebration of that day. It is like a Mexican Independence day. They will be competing for prizes of $500 for first place, $300 for second place, and $200 for third place.

Pep Club Raises Spirits

The most exciting thing in a new school year besides new faces, new classes, and scary feelings would be the Pep Assemblies.

What are Pep Assemblies? Pep Assemblies occur when the entire school gathers in the Stadium or Gym to cheer, give wonderful speeches to get us really hyped up with school spirit, and to get us excited for the upcoming Football and Basketball games.

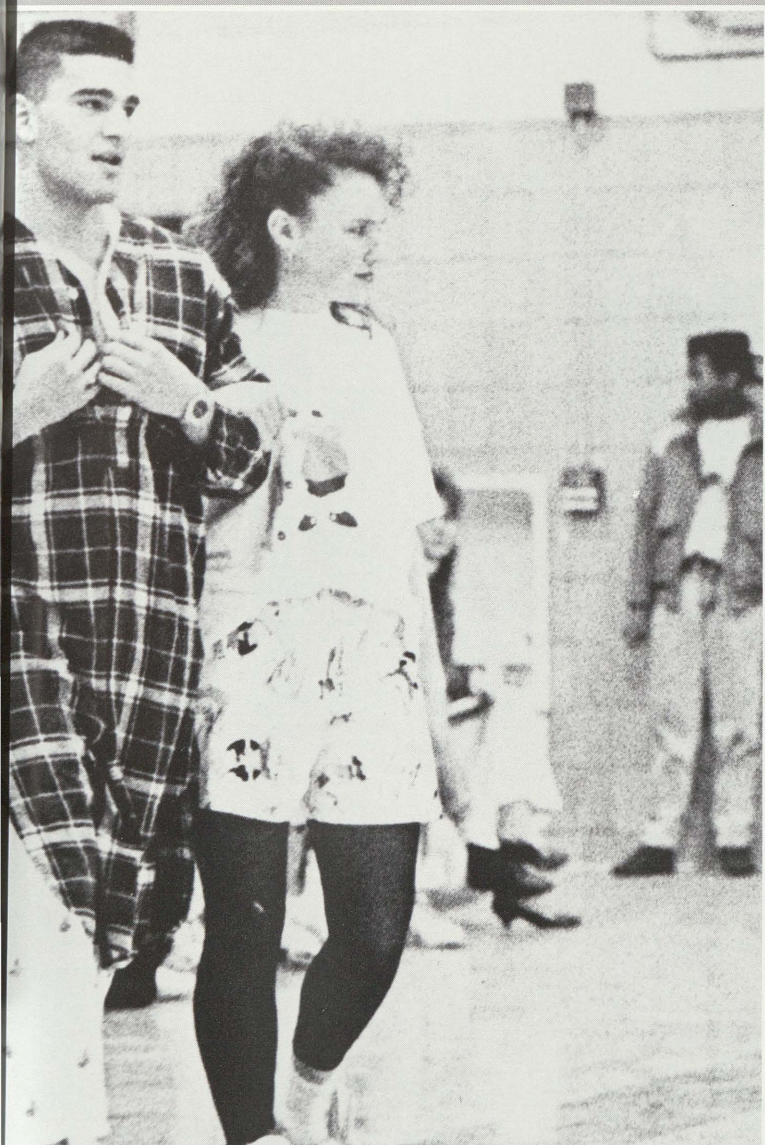

When the question, What are Pep Assemblies and How do you get yourself pepped up for Pep Assemblies was asked, it was answered in many various ways. "Pep Assemblies are wonderful and fun because it is a chance for everyone to get together and show their school spirit!" said Thomi Engel, Sarah Edwards, and Marie Dudek.

Ursula Jones, Bryant Jones, and Shauntell Shivers said that "Pep Assemblies are HYPE! But only if you go into them with the attitude of showing your school spirit, and that they get really hyped up when cheering, dancing, and being with friends and classmates."

While Willie Rodgers, Antonyo Boone, and MaryLynn Kusowski said "We love Pep Assemblies and enjoy them very much, but there needs to be more of them for the Basketball season."

"Pep Assemblies can be great entertainment or boring, I feel you get exactly what you put into them out of them.

Sports Capture the Hill's Spirit

For the past fifty years, sports at Arthur Hill have been an important part of students lives.

Most students either participate in a variety of sports or are part of the cheering crowd.

This year the sports at Arthur Hill have been very successful, Hillites have gained the Valley titles in Football, Swimming and Hockey.

Friday nights are prime spots for Hillites to cheer on their favorite teams.

One of the biggest sporting events this year has been the Arthur Hill verses Saginaw High football game that had a turn out of 7,000 spectators.

With a victorious turn out for the Hillites being the highlight of the night.

The sporting atmosphere this year has been enhanced by the cheering Beaver Patrol, the patrol has been a special addition to the Hillite spirit!

As this year comes to a close every person at Arthur Hill will have a special memory from the athletes at the Hill.

SET -14- HUT!-HUTT!

For nine Fridays the Arthur Hill football team pushed themselves toward a winning season. For the first two games they were unscored upon, playing Heritage and Flint Northern.

In the third victory came as easy as the first two with a score of 52-6 against Bay City Western.

Nevertheless the fourth game gave the Hillites a little scare, Fortunately they were once again victorious against Bay City Central. Winning with a score of 13-12 in an overtime play.

Sadly on the fifth game the gridgers lost to top ranking Muskegon, who was defending the state champion. Although it was their first defeat Arthur Hill put behind the past and moved on to the future.

The future for these Hillites was two more victories. The Lumberjacks lost to Midland putting their record at 6-2.

This loss left Arthur Hill with only one more game of the season, the game against the undefeated notorious Saginaw High Trojans.

There was no way Saginaw High could win this game. For the past twenty years, Arthur Hill has won. This year was to be no exception.

Once again Arthur Hill plowed through the Saginaw High defensive line. The end score was 29-19.

Through out the season Coach Eurick helped push the gridgers toward a successful season. His pep talks according to senior Brian Pruitt, Pep talks, most of the time are just about believe all you can be all of the time, and doing everything up to your God given ability.

Many players agree. These talks help your self esteem as well as your desire to win.

They pump you up! said senior Eric Gaudreau.

When asked what their best play this season was, these Hillites had some energetic responses. Junior Dan Seamann said It was the time when I blocked the extra point against Bay City Central in overtime.

When I sacked tank for a two yard toss in the Saginaw High game, said senior Dustin Caballer.

While some reminisce about their personal accomplishments, senior Tyrone Kennedy said, It was not a single play, or just me, it was an entire game with an entire team. It was the Saginaw High game!

Sarcastically Senior Nathan Darland said I made the tackle against Flint Northwestern, which let us get our doughnuts the next morning!

Not all gridgers have a brilliant play to remember but as Eric Gaudreau put it I don't try to remember the bad plays.

Encouragement. We all need it, but what encourages an almighty lumberjack to play football. According to senior Erik Harrison,, it is merely Friends and family.

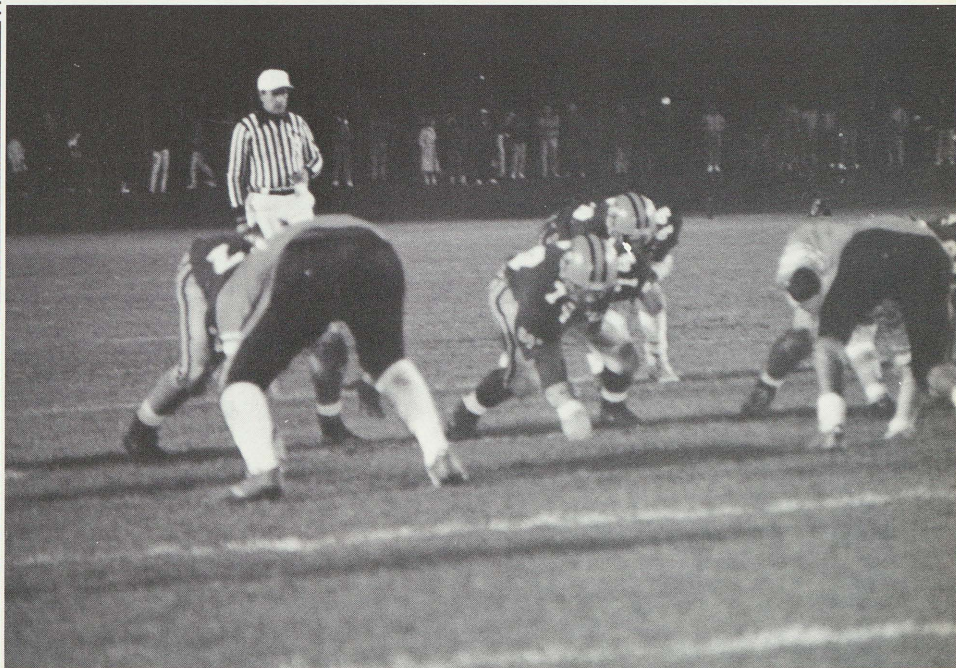

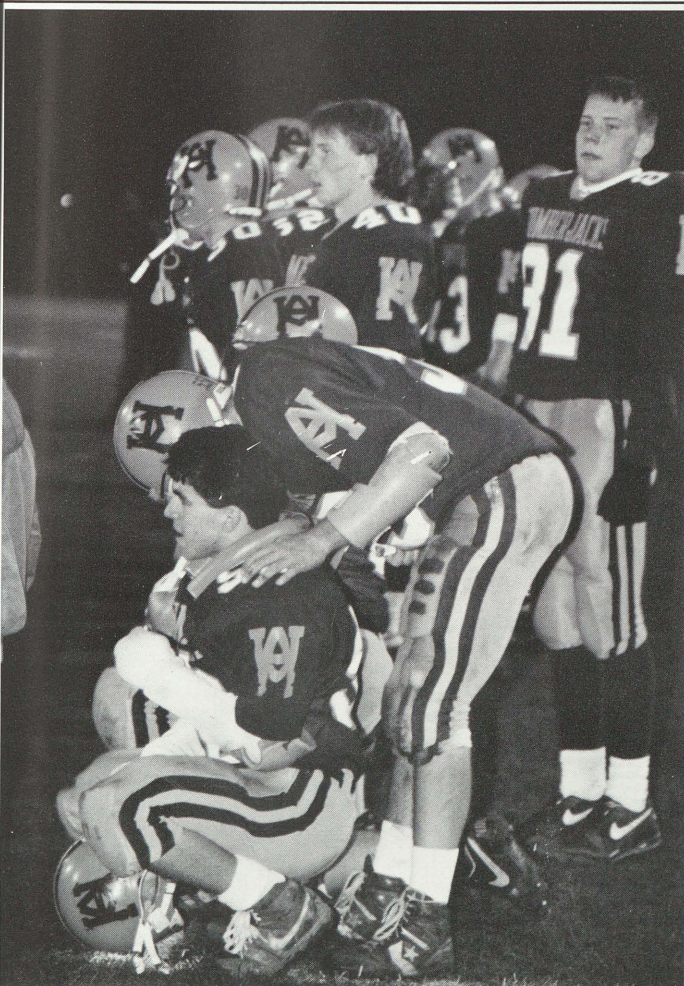

The intensity and the urge to win! proclaimed junior Tom Shook.

On the more physical side senior Brian Pruitt said, The fact that you could try to do damage on someone without getting in trouble.

Coach Eurick said Football is a game of inches. In the Muskegon game we missed making a first down we would have ended up scoring the winning touch down.

In the Midland Dow game, Dow had a fourth down and inches that they made. If they don't make it, we would have most likely won the game. Instead, we lost both games, Eurick said.

P.M.A Sets the Pace

P.M.A., Positive Mental Attitude, a very important part of coaching and a method that has kept Arthur Hill's J.V. Football team together.

The team works stronger as a unit than an individual, said Coach Luxton, they draw strength from each other.

The pep talks mainly tell us to remember all the things we learned in practice and to take all the frustrations from practice out on our opponents, said sophomore Courtney Young.

While P.M.A. is a overall incentive, the weather plays a big part of team spirit and cooperation.

Sophomore Blu Bartes said, Practices were the hardest thing about playing football. But when you look at it, it was worth it. We had a lot of fun.

Winning was a goal for the team but having fun and just playing for Arthur Hill was an achievement in itself.

They practiced every day from about 3:00 to 5:30 during the summer and through the season. They worked long and hard. Playing for high school is a lot different than playing junior high. You have less people to compete against and you are not playing at as high level.

The goals of the players are aimed at bigger and higher goals, like self confidence and team awareness.

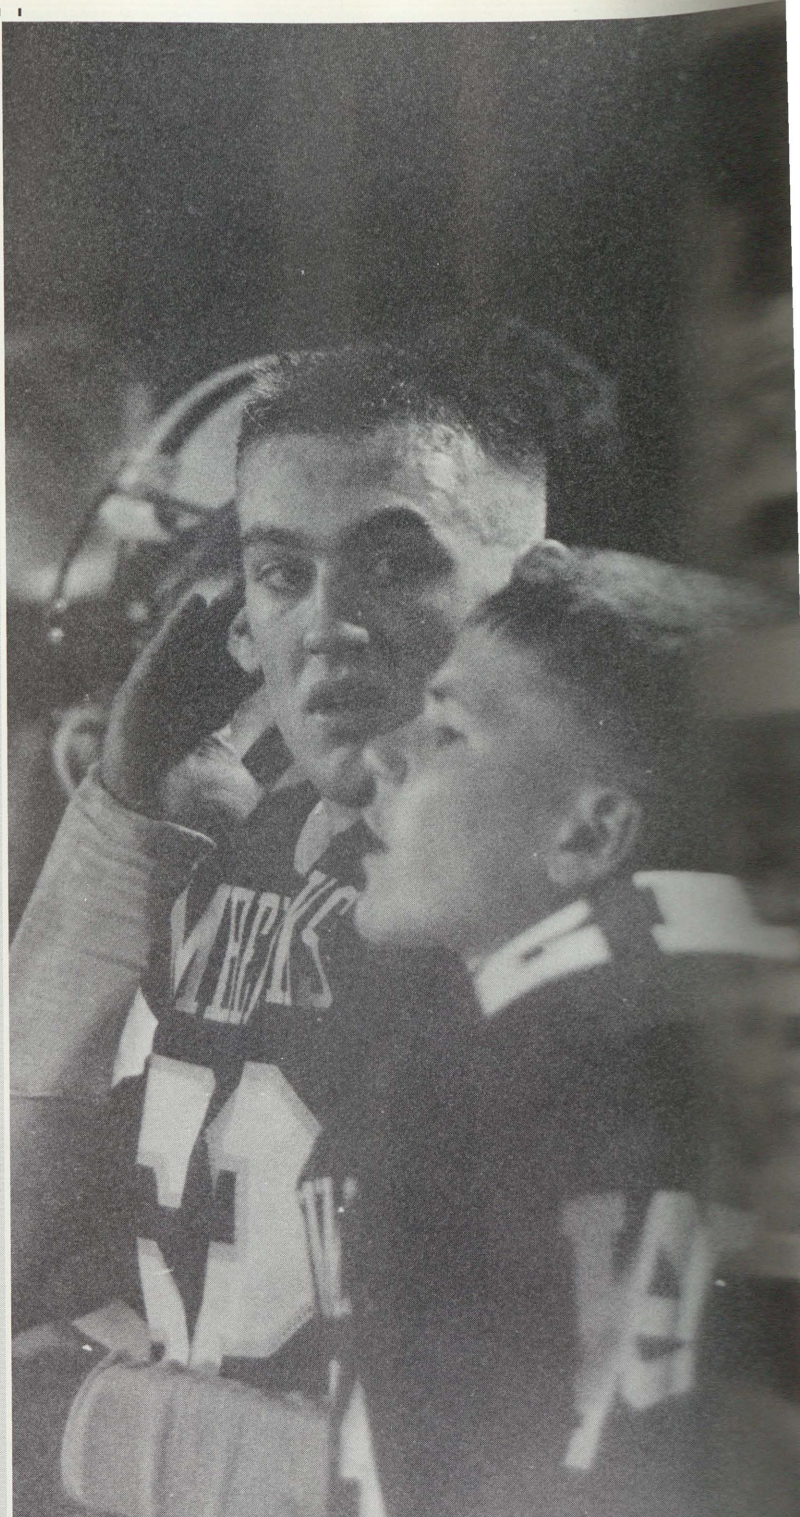

My goal was to be the best I can. I did accomplish it because we were together and we all tried hard and gave our best we had, said J.V. player Kedrick Redeemer.

Next year's J.V. team is in for a big surprise, Sophomore Tywaunne Hill and Bartes offer a few words of advice for Arthur Hill's newcomers.

Hill said, Stick Together!

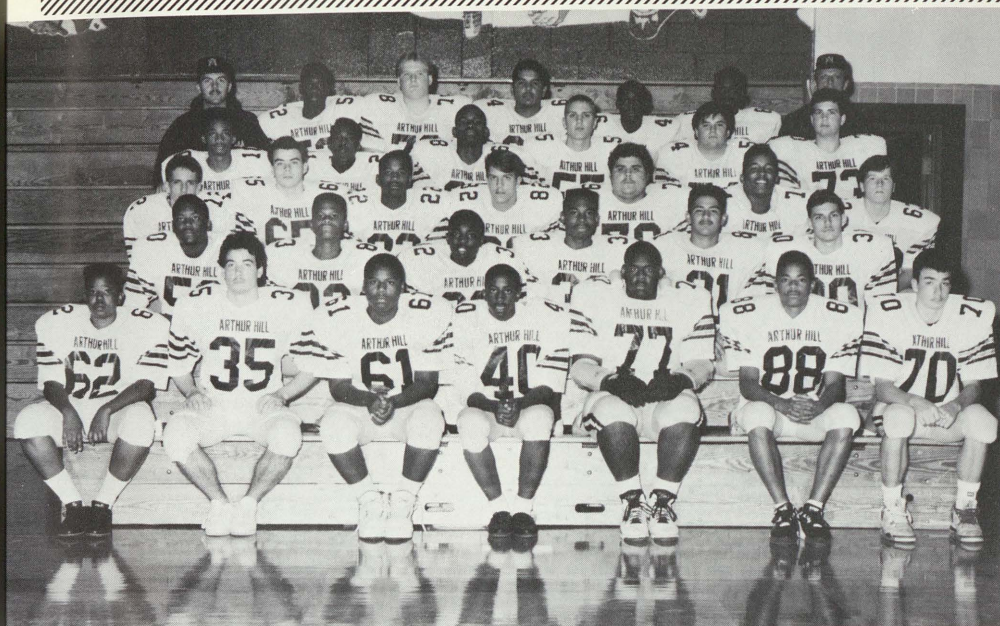

Don't give up and work hard! said Bartes.

The Arthur Hill tennis team is a very determined team. They show good sportmanship and tried their very best. Their coach Mr. Fordney is a fun and caring coach who gives them a lot of encouragement and support.

He is a good coach he gives all of us a lot of support even though we lose. said Tammy Walton

He is very supportive and encourages us to do our best even if we might lose, said Stacy Franz

The kids were a really fun group they were enthusiastic and they listened real well and they had a lot of fun, says, coach, Mr. Fordney,

And if the kids are having fun then I'm having fun. The tennis team showed good spirit and pride. They all encouraged and cheered on their teammates. They all did well and showed a lot of improvements.

It made me feel good when they cheered me on and gave me support, said Amarinski Sminia.

We all had a lot of fun together and made a lot of improvements through out the year, said Stacy Franz.

I really enjoyed playing with the team and we all became good friends, said Michelle Hoffman.

We work good together and supported each other a lot, said captain Tammy Walton.

Through hard work, exercise, team effort, determination, support and friends this team learned a lot more then just to win. They learned how to have fun and what the game of tennis is all about.

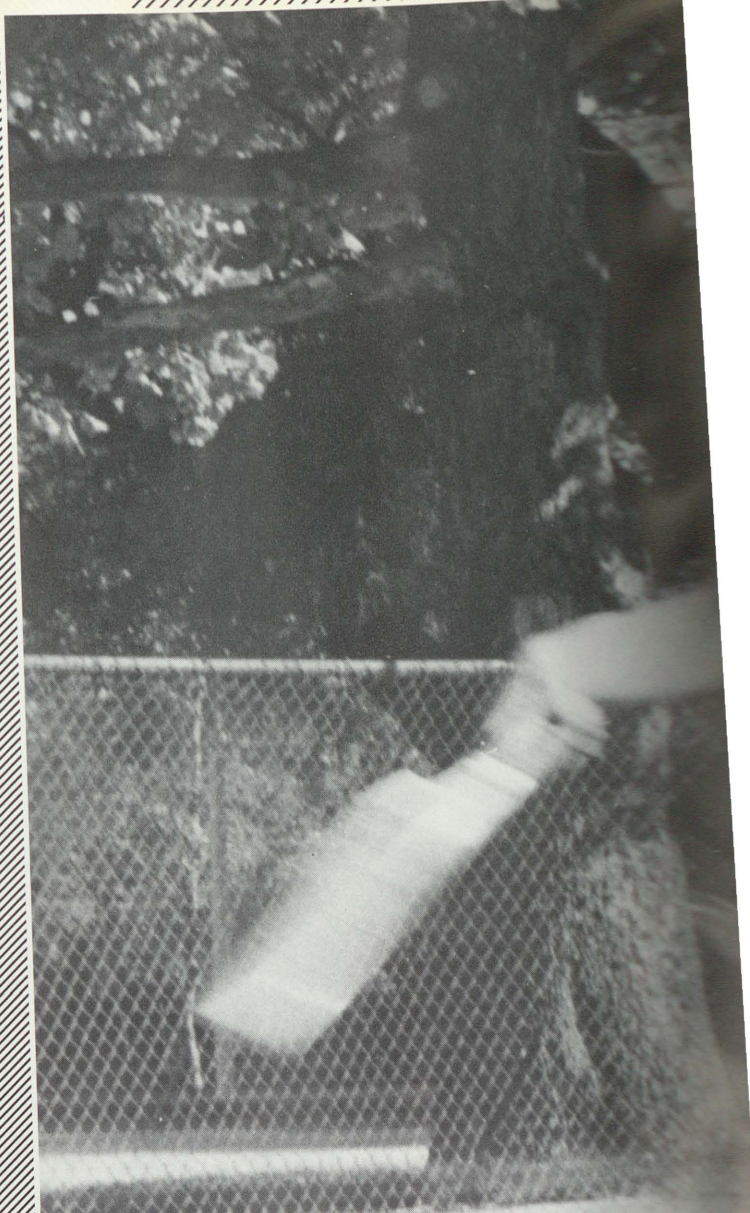

Hard work and dedications have their rewards. said Hoffman.

You have to get out there even if you don't win and just have fun, said Walton.

Cagers slamdunk the season

The Arthur Hill Cagers were filled with an enthusiasm to achieve this year. Although their record was 3-17, the lady Cagers put everything they had into every game.

We had some problems running the offense and putting the ball in the basket, but the girls had speed and skill, said Coach Pat Teter.

The skill and speed came out as the season progressed.

This should make next years team even better, said Teter.

With the return of experienced players and good players coming from the Junior Varsity team Teter is looking forward to next season.

Junior Jodi Miller, who averages 12 points and 10 rebounds a game, is a second year starter. She started to get the Mark Macon syndrome, where she would be double and sometimes even triple teamed.

started as a center for the Varsity team. She is one of the team leaders, said Teter.

Senior Asa Agnew was a key to the team this year. Her leadership was essential and really kept up team spirit.

All in all, the girls played hard this year, and it showed. The girls proved that they can be competitive.

Harriers run the mile

Although the cross country team has lost many important members from last season, they are still winning strong and competing with good attitudes according to coach Harvey Mattson.

The Lumberjack Harriers were 2-6, compared to last years 11-0 mark.

Mattson said, The team has a lot of potential for future years.

A big disappointment this year was the injury of senior Matt Zirkle, said Mattson.

Because of Zirkle s stress fracture in his ankle he didn t have a chance to get in the mileage he needed during the summer.

Junior Craig Pender said, "The team has been running really good so far, and I think we ll do our best.

Despite some losses the team seems to have a good time, everyone gets along great said junior Miguella Ayala.

Cross country is really fun. he added.

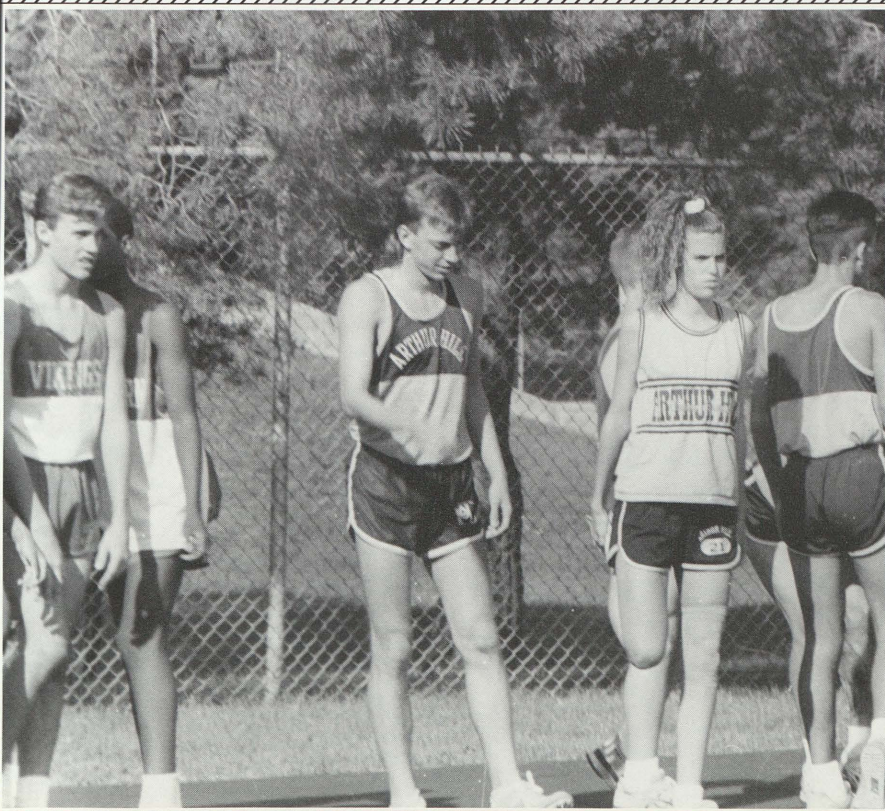

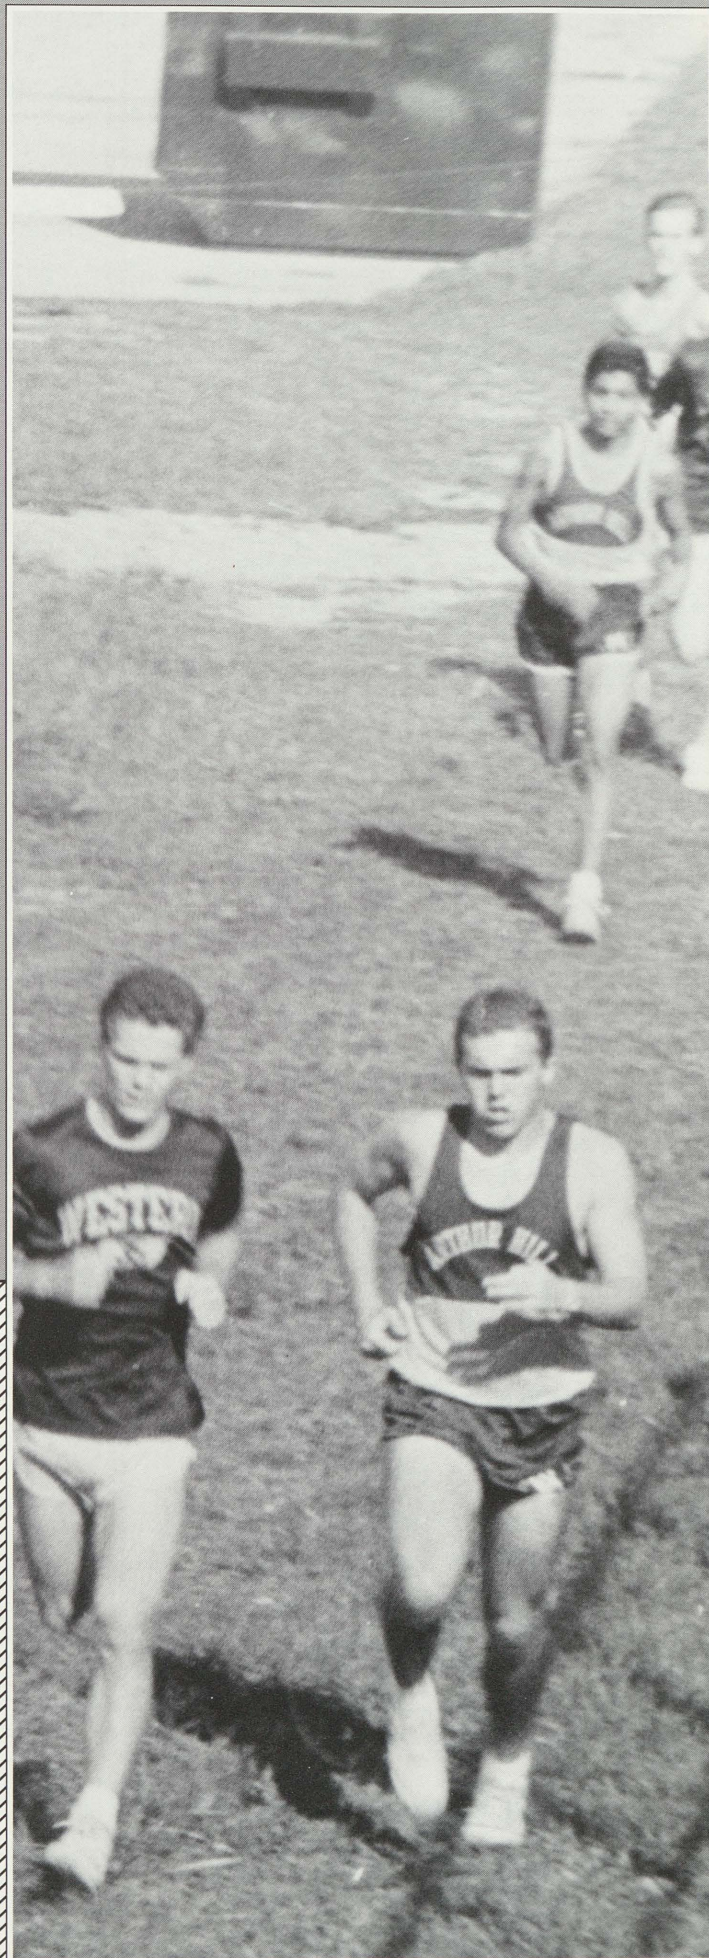

Regardless of the injuries the team is still up to Coach Mattsons expectations and has been improving satisfactory, especially Marcos Juarez, a first year runner.

Although there are only two girls on the team, with five members to qualify at meets, Mattson is very proud of the progress made by Kelly Byrne, and Margaret Shook.

Tankers are all wet

The 90'-91' girls swim team had a hard adjustment this year as coach Dave Stadaucher left Arthur Hill and was replaced by coach Bray. Bray had been the boys diving coach but decided to help out the girls team when Stadaucher left.

The reactions of the team were varied. Junior Sarah Clore said she was sad when coach left but was hopeful with the new coach.

He had been a major influence over my swimming career, said Clore.

Senior Michelle Pettis said her time improved with the new coach but it was a lot different at first.

The team was a lot closer this year with nine seniors leading the pack and keeping us together, said Pettis.

"The new diving coach Margaret Cullings helped the team a lot. She kept up the spirit as well as encouraging all of us to do our best.

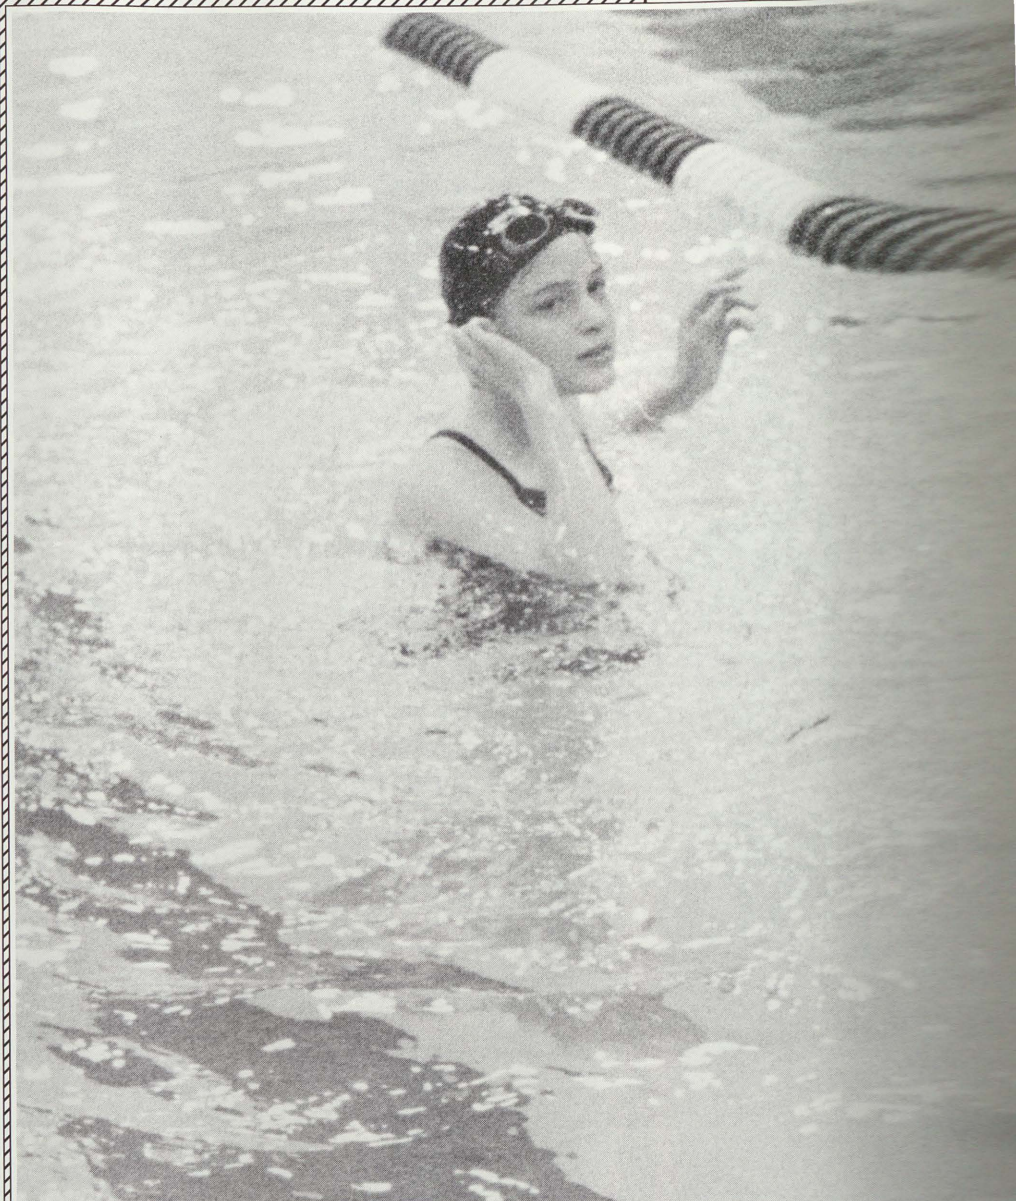

The divers have been one of the most important additions to the team. Mugs Cullings a former state champion increased the already talented junior divers Angie Simmons and Gail Doughty. Many of the swimmers believe their times improved since Bray took over.

Senior Erlinda Balcueva said Since Bray has been coach, our times have become lower and we have become better.

The lack of depth hurt the team and will continue hurting the team in the future years to come. With only four juniors and two sophomore swimmers the prospect doesn't look good for next years..

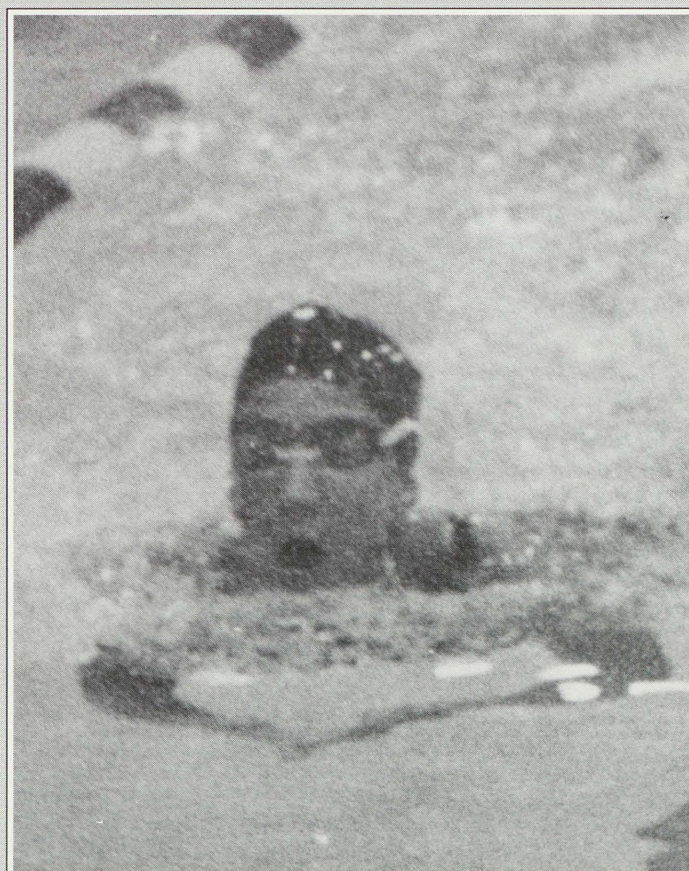

Although the season did not turn out quite as well as if it had the depth. The talent of each individual swimmer improved and will keep improving with the dedicated talent they have.

The experience of the varsity golfers help to improve the junior varsity as they worked together.

They all traded jokes and embarrassing moments such as senior John Paul Schneiderhan's killer golf ball. Sophomore Scott Persicke's double tree shot, and the memorable sophomore Joe Howe's hit and run.

Some of the best times were when the team was all together in Mr. Thomas's van, said Schneiderhan.

To the varsity golfer's golf is relaxing and peaceful, unless you are playing with Joe Howe who is just too crazy and unpredictable.

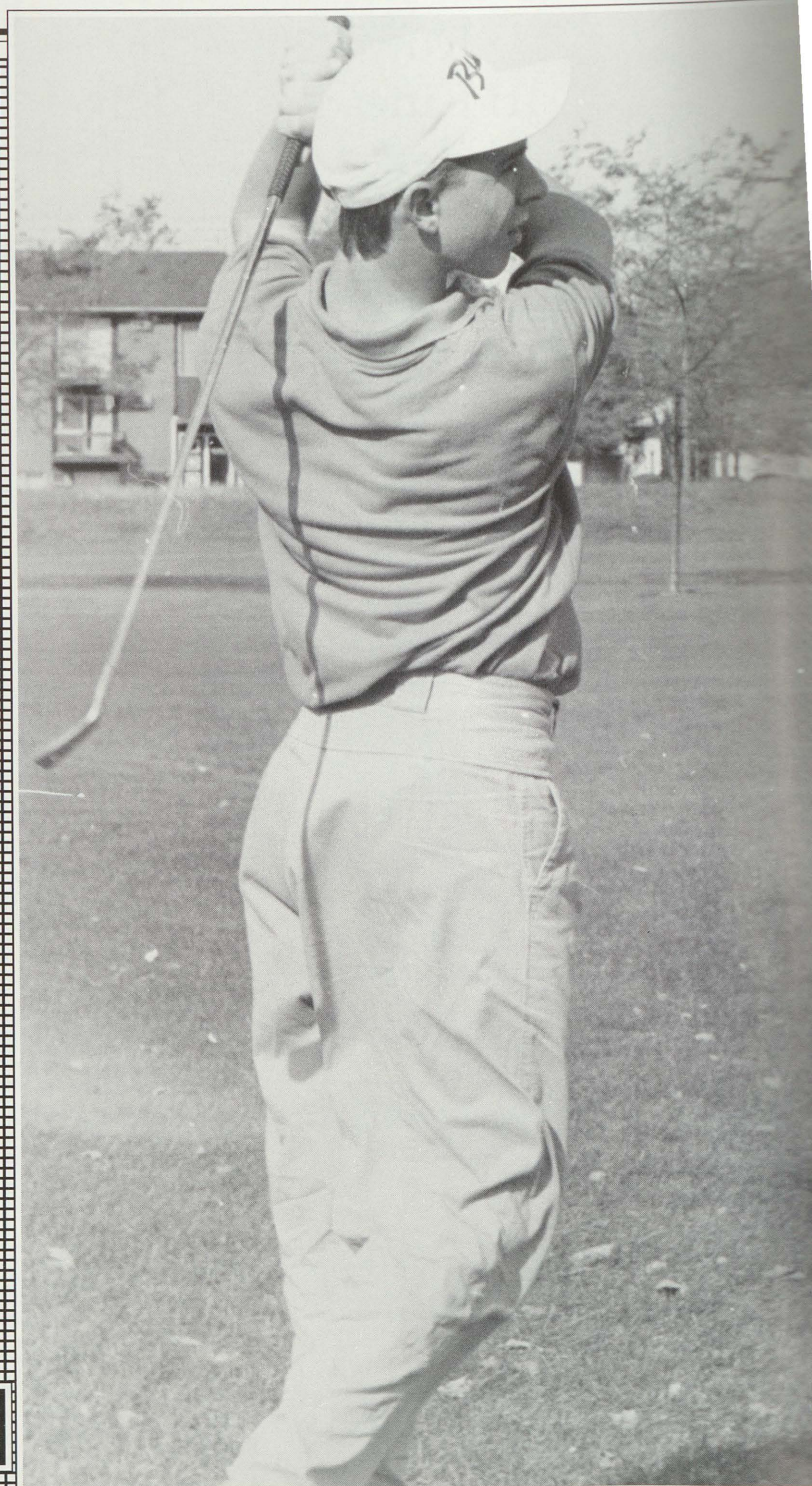

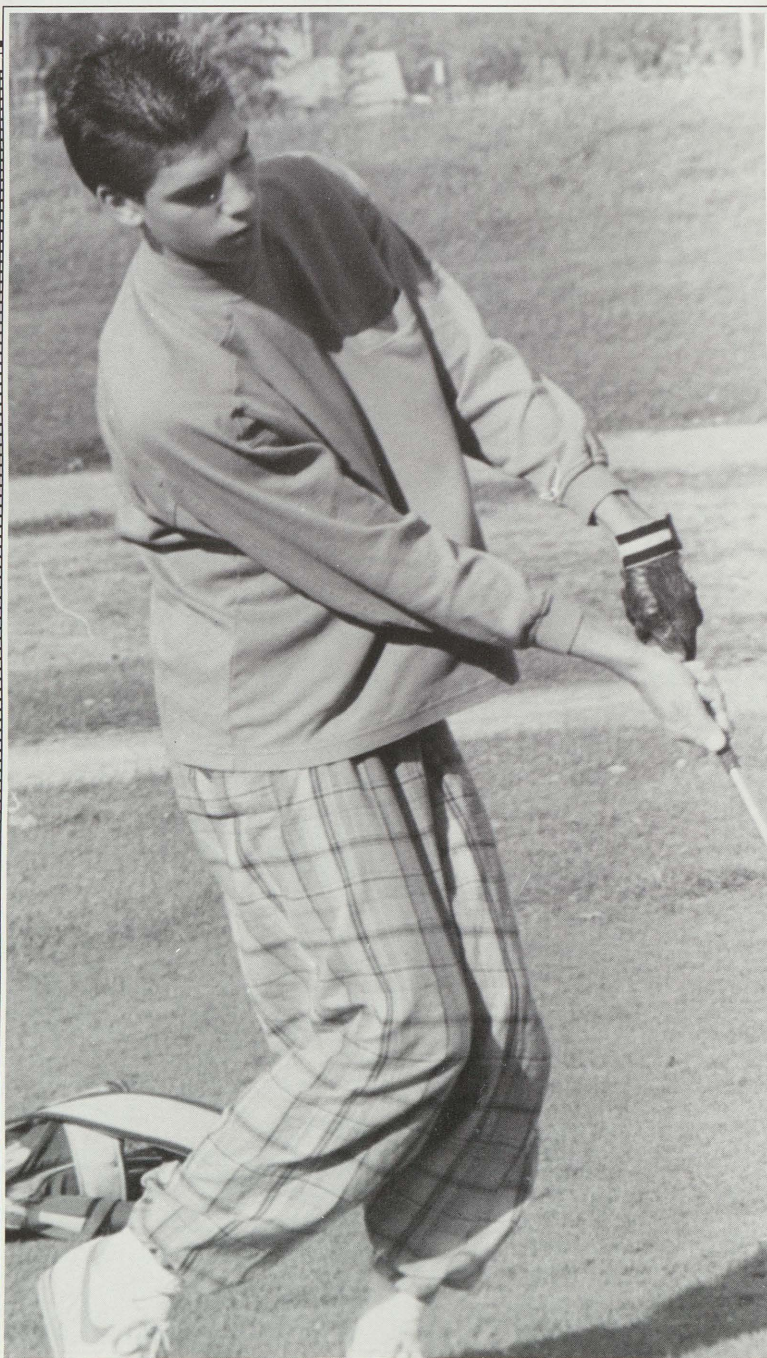

Persicke said Golf is a sport where it is you against the course, it is one of the few real sports.

Howe expresses the need to know all the rules of game. It is very important you know what to do and to do it.

One bit of advice to the varsity golfers is, never go golfing at seven in the morning because your feet will get wet and you can't were you hit the ball.

Arthur Hill kicker's take control of the season.

The Arthur Hill Soccer team is building a new image.

The young team is blessed with some which is stocked with a great bunch of sophomores and they had many players returning from last season.

According to junior Tyson Eimers he feels that this years team was filled with more depth and we worked very well together.

The best thing about soccer is that we can substitute quality players for quality players, Eimers said.

Matt Slaggart who led the team with 24 goals and seven assists is considered the driving force behind the team. Slaggart has been playing soccer since the second grade will be back for his senior year and he is expected to fair very well.

We have made progress in the last year and I hope next season we will make even more, Coach Robert Carpenter said.

All of our seniors contributed a great deal last season but senior Eric Manley will be greatly lost, Carpenter said.

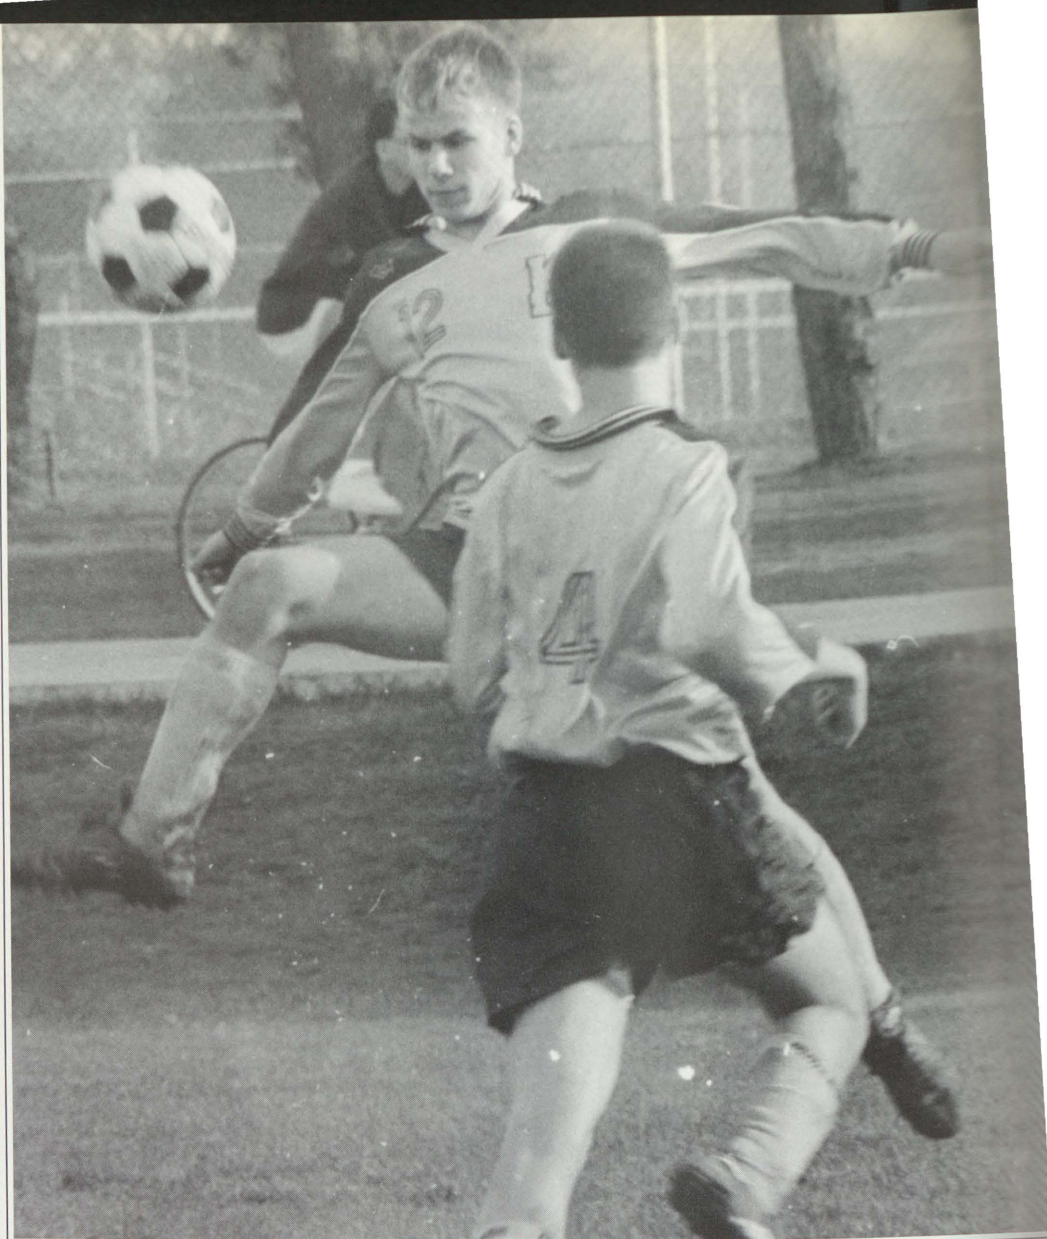

Manley felt that the new underclassman helped this team a great deal. Manley who has been captain of the soccer team for two years and as a junior he was second team All Valley.

Leading scorers for the Hillites were Tore Price who had eight goals and six assists, Joe Rodriguez had five goals and two assists and junior Odin Andrewes had six goals and four assists.

The team finished the season with a 8-9-1 record. and they lost 3-1 to Midland Dow in the districts.-

Hillite icers bring the Valley Home

As the Arthur Hill Icers race from the locker room, the crowd goes wild.

The sensation all what is to come brings AH fans to their feet in preparation of screams, cheers, and cries of glory.

With a record of 17-3-1, AH brought home the Saginaw Valley League Title.

Although the season started a little shaky, with a first loss to Midland Dow with a score of 4 to 3.

It didn't take too long for the rebellious Icers to get their act together and skate into Valley Champs.

With a tremendous season the AH blades of steel have many memories.

Junior wingger Todd Luckey said, My most memorable moment on the ice would probably be the brawl we go into with Midland High.

Other Icers agree with Luckey that this is truly a memorable experience.

Yet for Senior and left winger Jason Diebold, The last 30 seconds of the second Midland High game, where we won the Valley Championship.

As each player holds a memory they also hold the joy of an important play they made, which step by step brought them the championship.

Sophomore goalie, Kevin Pockrandt said, Stopping a break-away against Dow, which was my first save of the season was my most important play.

Jeff Gray, senior, said, I think my most important play was scoring the first goal against Midland High to get the team fired up.

Trevor Wagner recalls helping Luckey score the game winning goal against Traverse City as yet another important play in the step toward Valley victory.

On the flip side of the coin, a few of notorious Icers found it necessary to admit they're not perfect, but close to it.

Most of the players agreed that Eric Gaudreau and Gerald Lang were the most loyal school fans, with the most support driving here and there, even to Traverse City to watch each game.

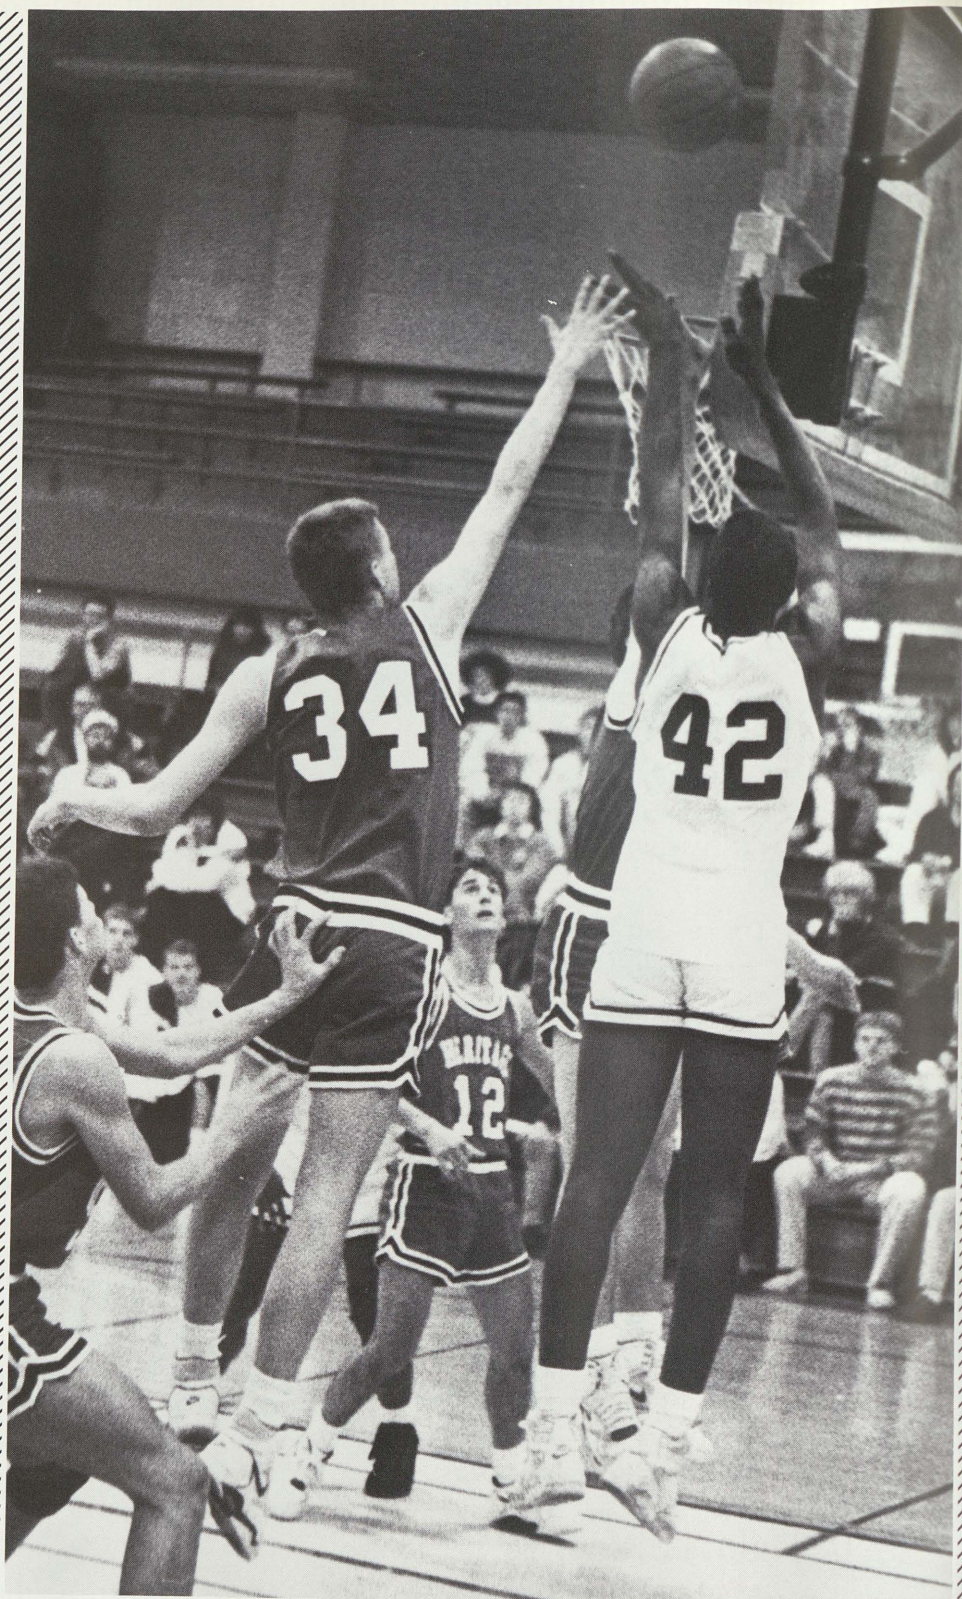

Along with Amy Steel, another loyal fan, many parents, girlfriends and other close friends are what make up the 90-91 hockey fan community.

Basketball: Hoop Season

One of the most exciting sports at the Hill is basketball and this season has been a good one. Our team at Arthur Hill really had the winning spirit, both Varsity and JV.

As the basketball season began the varsity basketball team had a great start. The players were ready and hyped to show everyone that they had no time for games, it was time for strictly business so they began to practice with perfection and move with action.

One player who had a lot to say about the basketball team is Erik Harrison he said, I feel our team is one of the best in state and our records prove it , were 10th in the state.

I asked Erik does his coach mean business when there playing against other teams and he said, Yes, coach Kub is really intense on the floor, he can really get into it.

The most exciting basketball game was when Arthur Hill played the High at Saginaw Valley. It was packed and every one was really into the game there were fans rooting for the Hill and there were fans yelling and screaming for the High.

Both Varsity and JV lost the first game against the High. When we played Saginaw high the second time Varsity lost and JV won. That also was an exciting game JV was real happy that they beat against the high, that was the talk of the school for a whole week straight.

Vate Lyons, said This is my last year and I want it to be something I ll always remember, that s why I try my hardest to do my best when I'm on the floor playing for the Hill.

Lyons also states, The team did good this year because there so extremely skilled and balanced and the coach is really nice if you make a shot but if you miss it or turn it over your in for trouble.

The team has a score of 17-3 and that is good when your playing against the best teams around and you beat them. J.V also did good they had a score of 16-4 which was wonderful because they really tried to go for the perfect score 20-0.

Antwan Turner had alot to say about the J.V basketball team he said, I feel the J.V was an very interesting team who didn t get alot of respect, and attention, but contributed 100% to Arthur Hill.

Turner also said, Coach T is a baby when things are good, then when something bad happen, get out the earplugs cause he screams your mistakes.

The season went well and everyone on the team did there best since this is an exciting year and a the last year for most seniors we want to make this the best basketball season ever.

Arthur Hill Tankers secure title, tradition

As they did in past years, the AH Tankers kept the tradition alive and swimming by taking the title once again at the Saginaw Valley League Championship.

The team not only took the 43rd title, but with the help of Steve Skelcy, set a new record for the 500 freestyle.

The SVL championship was on the mind of every swim team member as they prepared for the awesome challenge that they must face every year.

I m proud of their accomplishments, new Head Coach Kent Howenstine said, who returned as swim team coach after retiring in 1986.

The Tankers kept the title in 1990 under Coach Dave Staudacher. Lumberjack history was made once again this year as Coach Howenstine led the team to another victory.

I was pleased by the way that the team responded to the change in coaching I brought this year, Coach Howenstine said.

Esau Pritchett, who won the 100 butterfly and qualified for the state meet, said that the competition was hard, but worth the effort. He also said that many team members who didn t place last year did this year.

Before the competition, the AH swim team fed their wake to many area teams, including Saginaw High and Midland High.

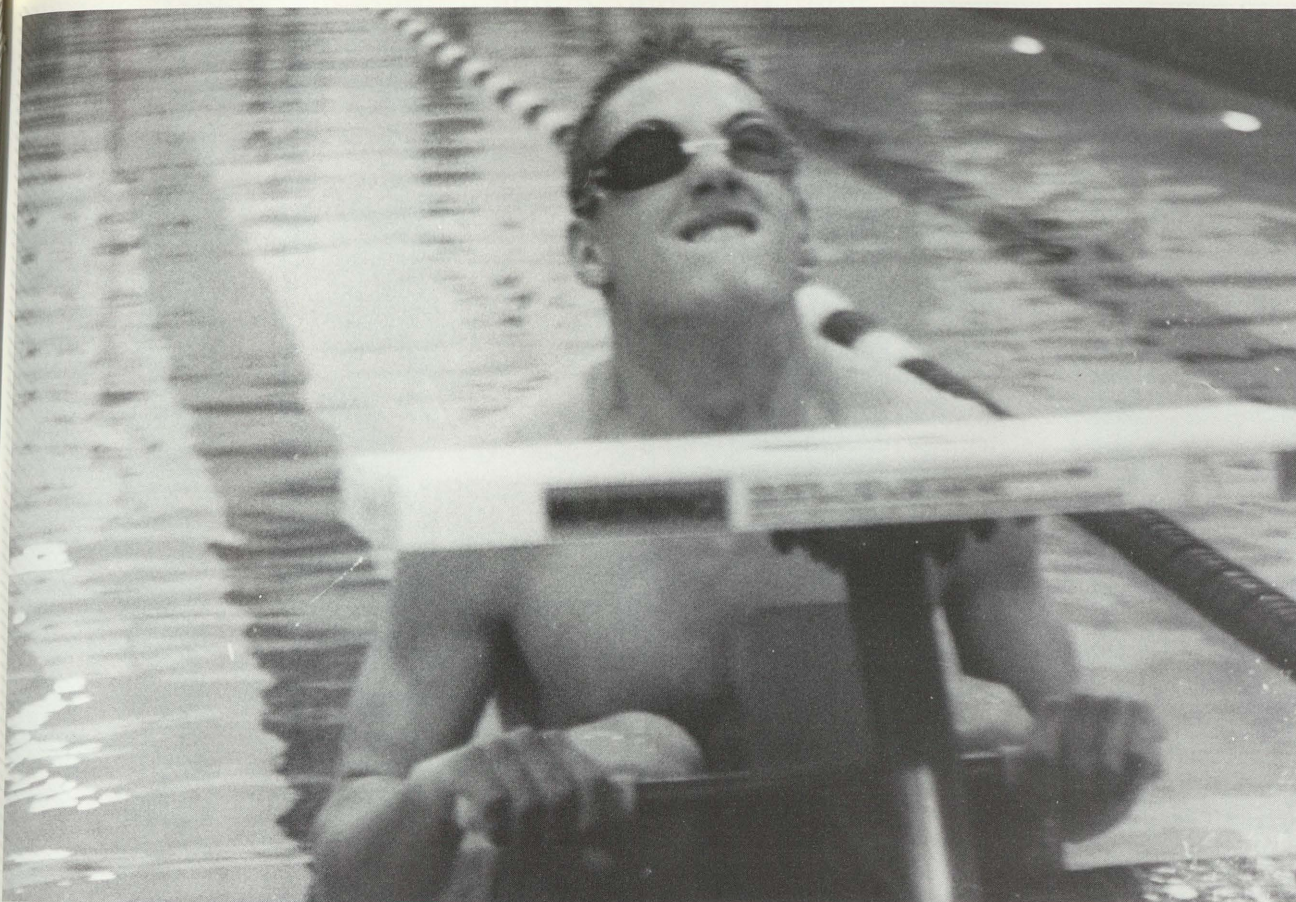

The Tankers have definitely continued the pride, tradition, and dedication that has become a symbol of the Arthur Hill swim team.

Spikers Spike the Season

The Arthur Hill Spikers, spiking and hard hitting gave them confidence. They opened their season against arch rival Saginaw High with a dual competition.

They came out on top winning two out of three matches. Although the spikers started out strong. Elmer Shultz; the girls volleyball coach of five years, didn't expect a winning streak but did expect a little more.

This year's starters are co-captains Teresa Hall and Lindy Minard, Jamie Oldeck, Karen Engelhardt, Cathy Coates and Julie Richards.

"Minard was definitely a key player this year. Lindy is a big asset to the team and without her we wouldn't have been able to set up as many great plays," said junior spiker Jamie Oldeck.

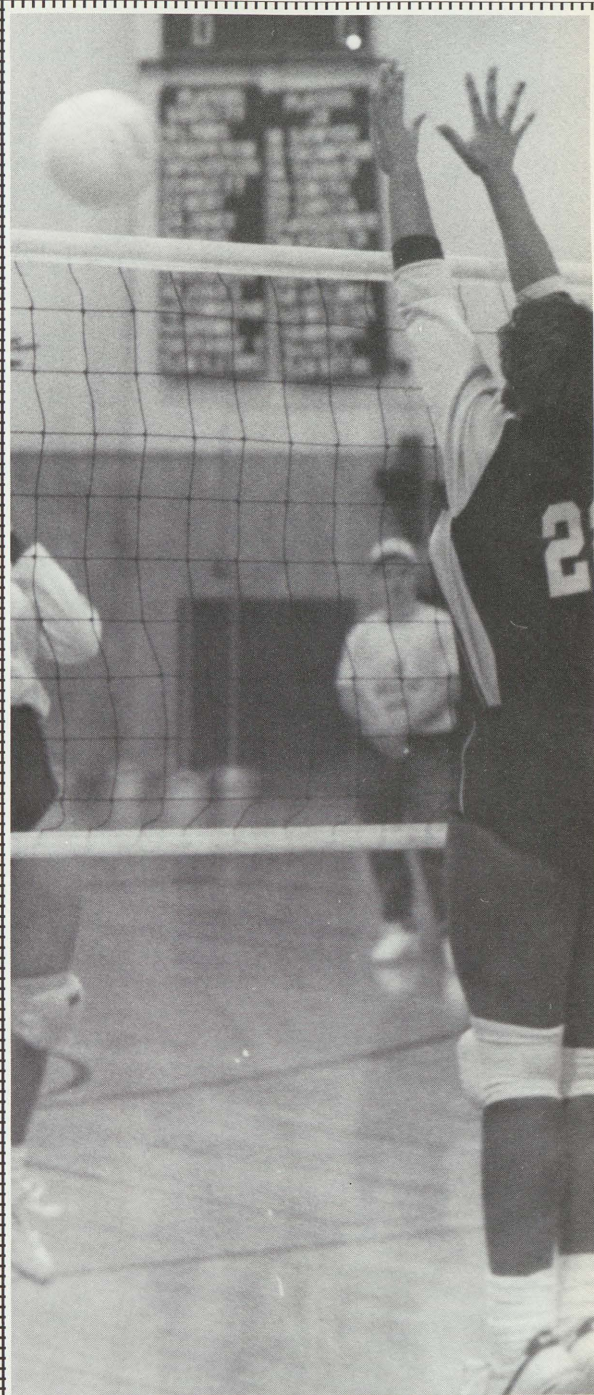

Everyone is an asset to the team, even the ones that don't play a lot, everyone has a role, says Coach Shultz. That's why this is a team sport.

Shultz also added, Theresa Hall, Cathy Coates, and Karen Engelhardt all had great attitudes and were good role models to all the other girls.

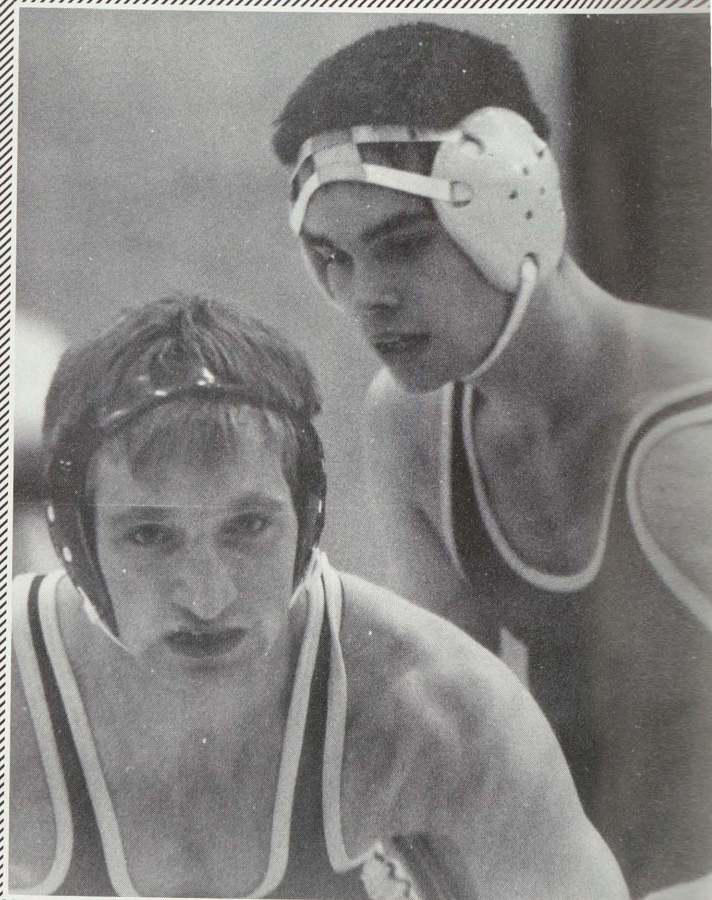

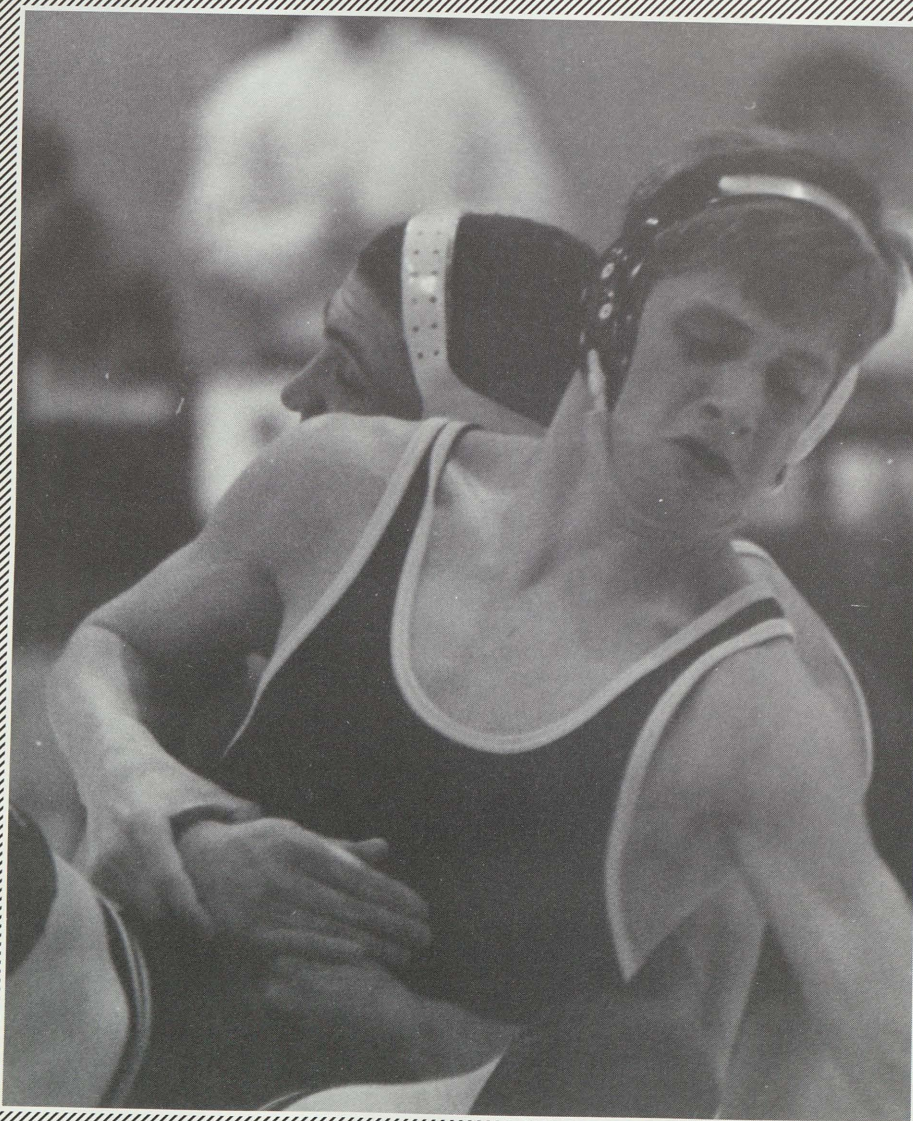

Senior Karen Engelhardt said, "The season could have went better but, we played better than last year and the game against Midland High was definitely a high point to the season.

Senior Lindy Minard who agreed with Karen, said "We could have done better this year, though we have improved from last year.

"Everyone got along great this season, we had lots of team unity and I guess the hardest part was losing and coming so close to winning. We came close so much," said Minard.

Wrestlers pin Till the End

Every team wants to have a champion. This year s wrestling team is no different. Coach McNair thinks that junior Mike Seibel is the person for the task.

The 103 pound junior Seibel has placed second in the Valley championship. Seibel has had many second and first place finishes to pace the Hillites.

Captains Jeff Doud and Chris Fredericks feel that the leaders fro next year s will be Seibel and Marcos Juarez. They feel that the team will be better next year.

This year s team was not at their full capability because they did not have a full team. The team had suffered many setbacks due to the people who left the team and not able to make weights.

The team was not very experienced because seniors have not come back to wrestle.

Coach was getting frustrated because the team was living up to their capabilities , said Doud.

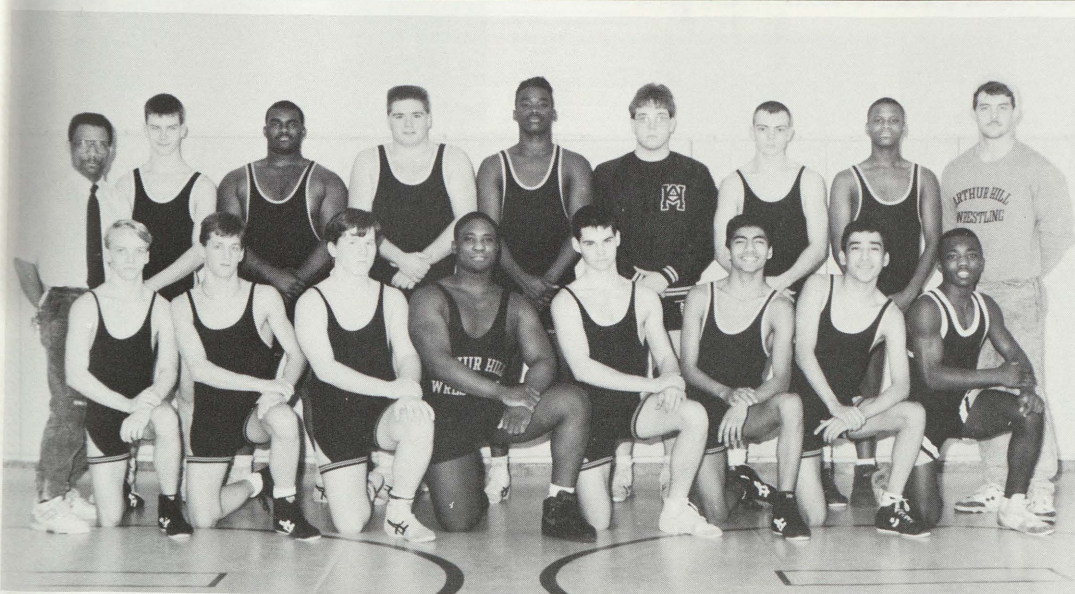

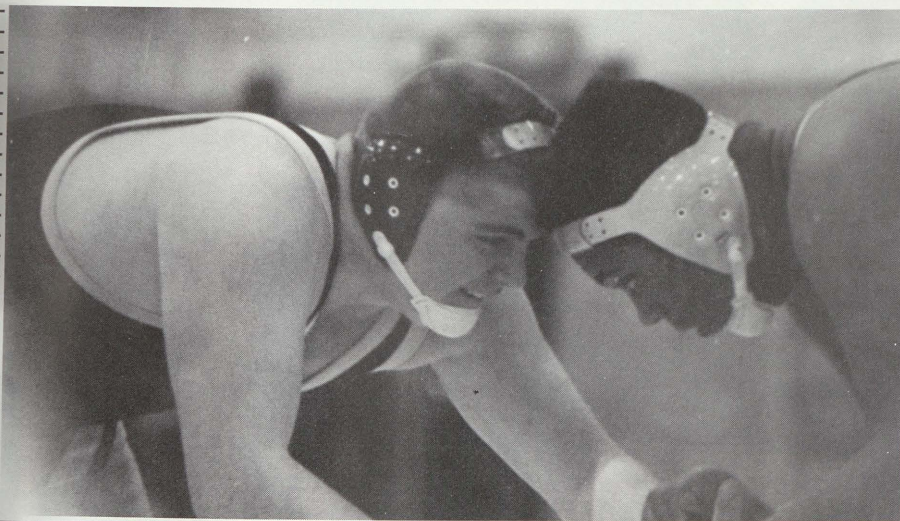

One of their wins were against Buena Vista which kept high hopes.

Ricardo Juarez, along with Doud and Fredericks, feel that the hardest team that they went against was Mt. Pleasant. While Ruben Irvin feels that the hardest was Detroit C.C.

This year s team may have not done very well but they kept their spirits up and kept their sportmanship in tact. This makes a true Hillite. That makes this team special because they overcame their obstacles and tried their best.

Cheerleaders Fire Hillites Up!

To some people cheerleading is not a sport but in fact it is. Cheerleading takes a lot of time, effort and practice to achieve maxium crowd enthusium.

With this Cheerleading is a sport and a very important part of the game.

Without cheerleaders at a game many times there would not be crowd involvement. To a team crowd participation gets them fired up and helps them to achieve their goal. In so many ways cheerleaders help the crowd to get involved by using what are called crowd cheers

This year the varsity and junior varsity cheerleading teams were coached by Laura Fitzpatrick

. The Captains of varsity were Lisa Chorenko and Kim Howie and for the junior varsity the captains were Ellen Erway and Lisa Turner.

To the cheerleaders, we thank you for a great year and for keeping our school fired up !

Pom-Pom, Attitude, enjoyment key to the squad's success

For years, Arthur Hill fans have attended school functions, and the Arthur Hill pom-pom squads have been a source of entertainment and optimism during good and bad times.

The junior varsity pom-pom squad consisted of sophomores who have the potential of being an excellent squad. Captain Samantha Danhoff said,

We could use more improvement. The squad is enjoying their new experiences in the pom-pom squad. I enjoy the routines the squad performs because they are challenging and fun. So far, the most memorable experience for me is participating in the Homecoming festivities, especially the parade and the Homecoming game, Sophomore Martha Blum said.

Captain Samantha Danhoff adds, I joined the pom-pom because I thought it would help me meet new people. The dance routines are eye-catching and up-to-date and I really enjoyed the competition we had in February.

The varsity squad consisted of juniors and seniors who exuded confidence during every performance. The confidence comes from the input they contribute to the routines.

The fact that we have variety contributes to the success of the varsity pom-pom squad. When different pairs of girls make up routines, we get that variety. I think the crowd likes that, Captain LeAndrea Williams said.

Dedication and cooperativeness is also the key to the success of our squad, Co-captain Jennifer Thomas said.

Although the varsity squad will continue to evolve, the seniors will not be here for the evolution. The seniors will have only memories of their experiences. Senior Ruth Murray said, I will miss the dance routines and the people I knew.

Dedication to Our Coaches

Coaches are a very important part of every team.

They supply the players with their knowledge to improve our skills and techniques.

They provide the moral support we need to keep going, and have the confidence to win.

They give us the extra push we need to reach our fullest potential. When we feel we can't go no farther they make us, taking no excuses, we may not like it but they are our coaches so we do it.

Coaches are as big of part of the team as the star player.

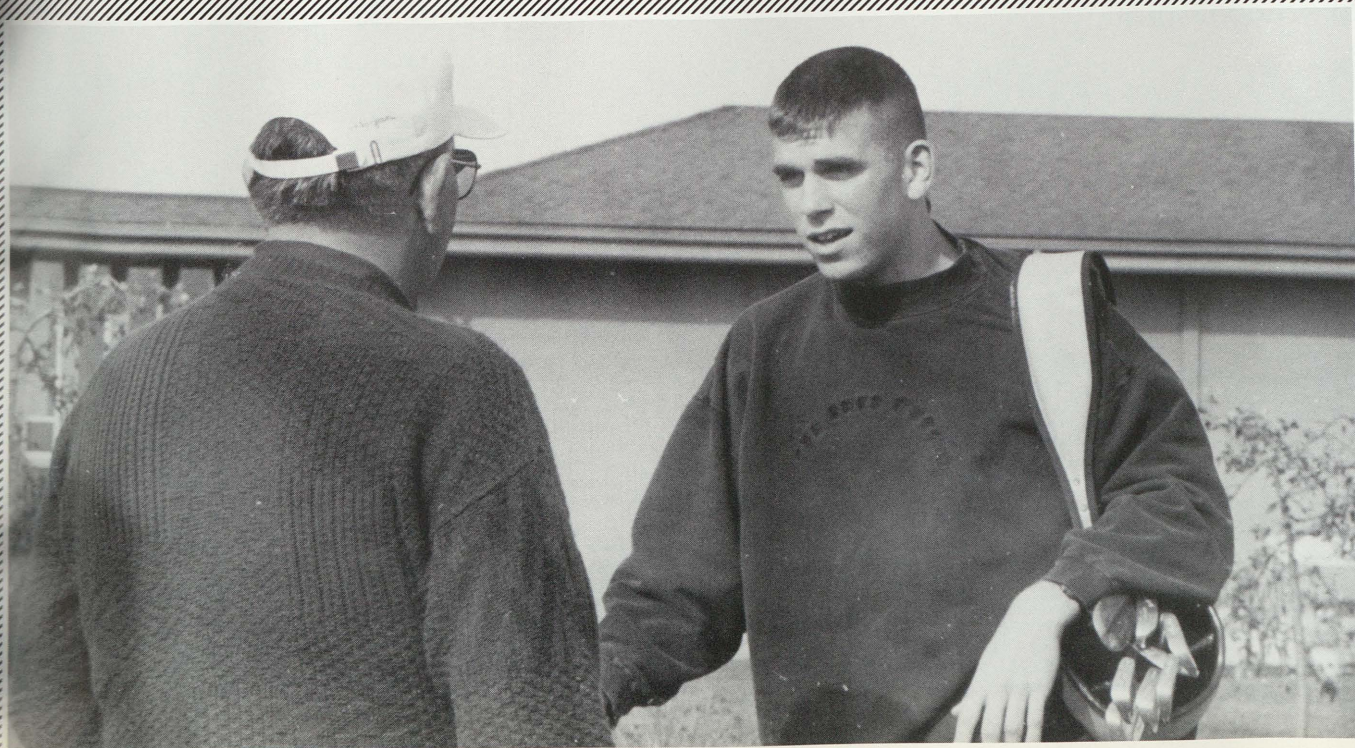

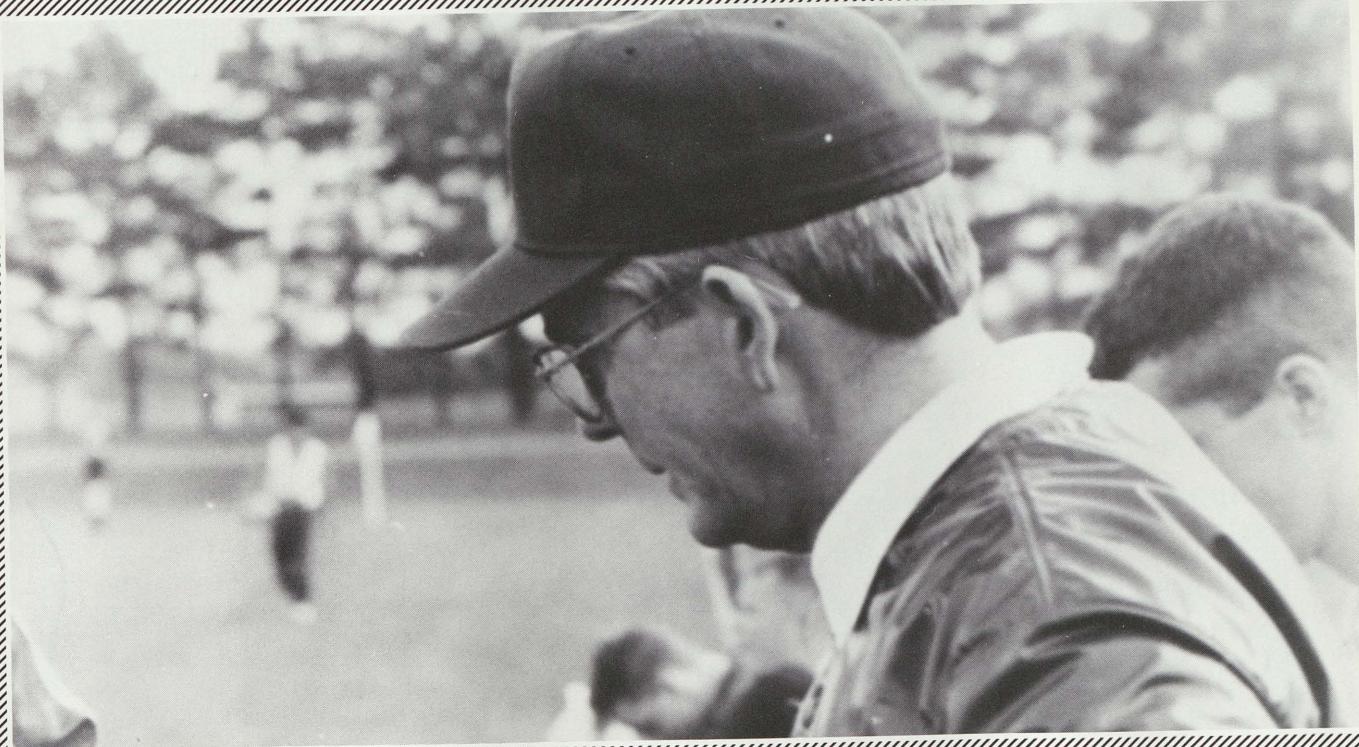

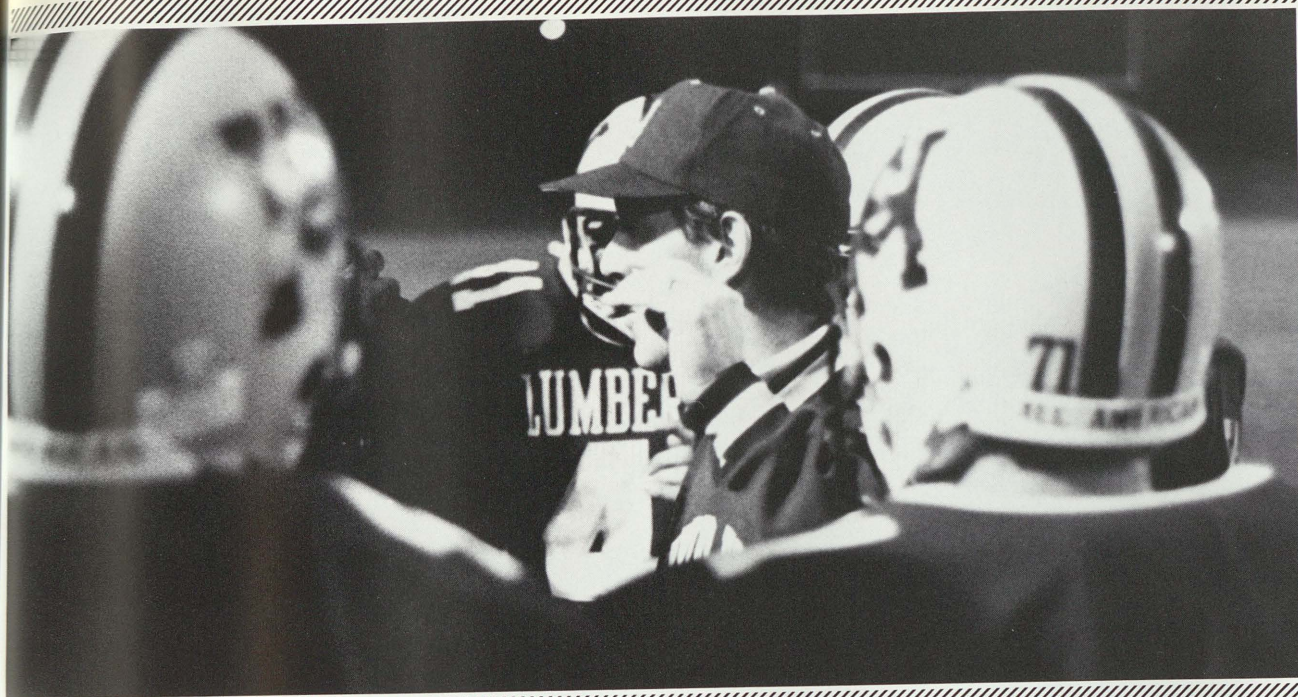

They are the backbone of the team and give us the direction to stay focused on our objectives.

Remember when you drop 5 seconds or make the winning point, it is not only a victory for you but also for your coach.

Without these caring generous people who give up weekends and every spare second to their athletes the Hillites wouldn't be where they are today.

Thank you for making us what we are today! We wouldn't have made it without you.

"When I was your age....."

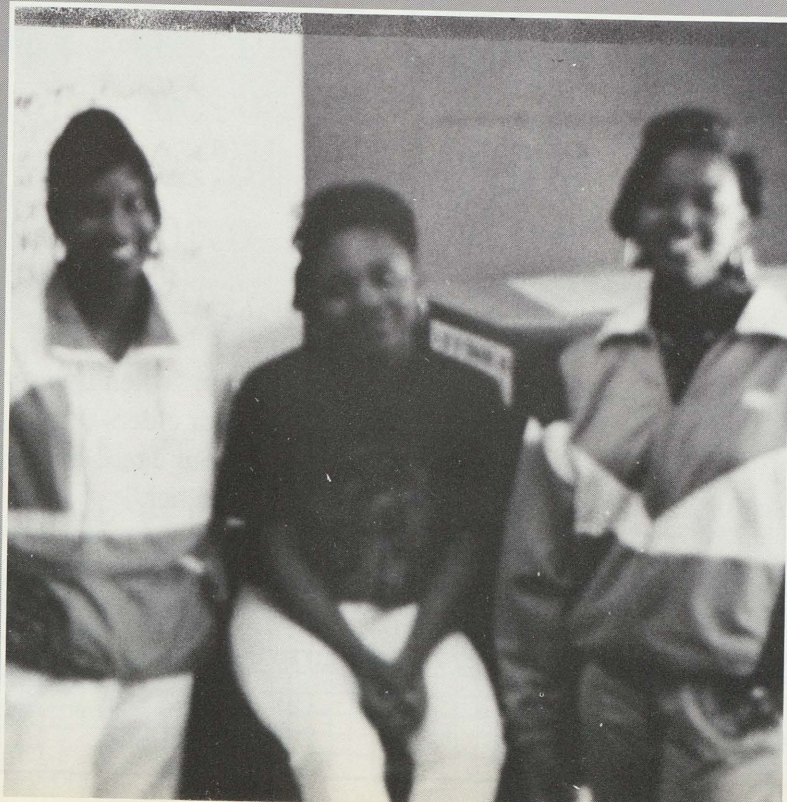

It seems to be a common statement among parents and grandparents to say, "when I was your age....." They often tell you of the great prices and how everything now-a-days is so expensive. When our elders don't agree on the price of something, they use that well known statement "$5.00 for a movie! Well, when I was your age, I could go to the movies with a dollar and practically buy out the concession stand, and still have change for my mother."

Yes, prices have sure changed, and not for the better. The only thing that has remained the same since the beginning of Arthur Hill is the price of four car tires. Senior pictures have jumped from $0.29 to $150.00. Talk about inflation! Trying to imagine what things will cost in another fifty years is scary.

We may find ourselves saying, "When I was your age, I would go to the movies with only $10.00, and practically buy out the concession stand....."

-Mary Baukus

Friends... You'll Never Forget Them

Friends are a special part of a persons life. They are there when you need them and give you advice when they can. They are the part of life a person never outgrows.

Wherever you go you will meet someone who will leave a lasting impression on your thoughts and on your personality. They may change the way you view things on different aspects of your life. This someone could be called a friend.

"I think that I'll stay in touch with my friends after I leave school... yeah... I'm sure I will," said Senoir Joel Borsenik.

The friends you meet in school play a very important role in your life.

"I don't know what I would do if I didn't have my friends to share things with," said Senoir Meika Tanner,"my friends are the greatest."

Soon the high school years come to an end and you and your friends must go your separte ways. Graduation day is over and college life now begins.

Senoir Mary Lynn Kusowski said,"I won't forget my friends when I go off tocollege. I know that they will come down and visit me and I will deinitley be back home."

No matter where your life may take you friends will always be friends. They will always have a special place in your heart and you will forever hold the lasting memories that you and your friends have made together.

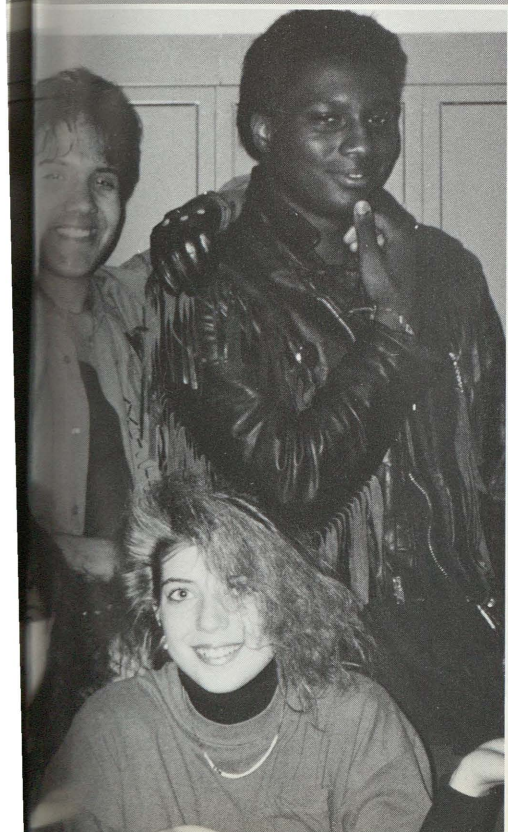

"My friends are unforgettable," said Senoir Amy Small," They've been one of the best parts of my high school life."

When you say "goodbye" never mean forever because one day soon your friends and you will be back together.

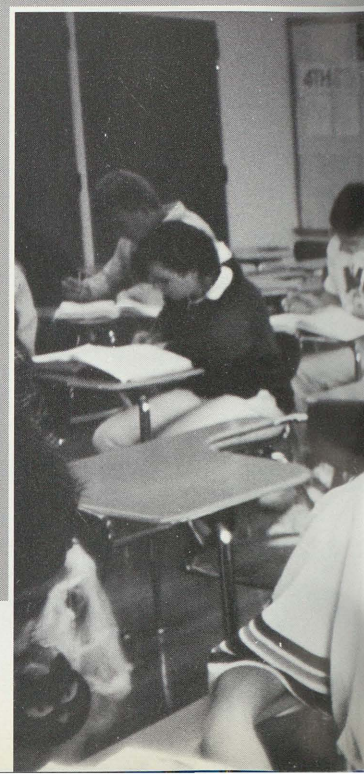

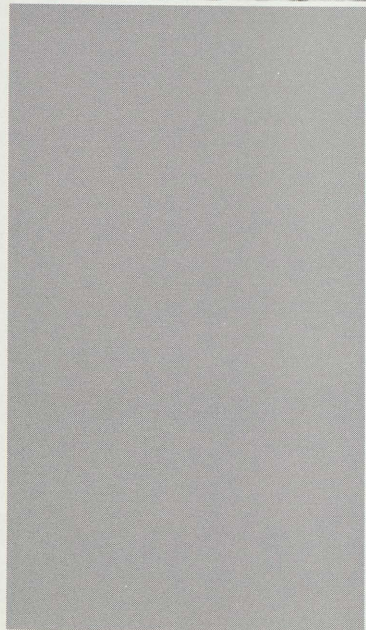

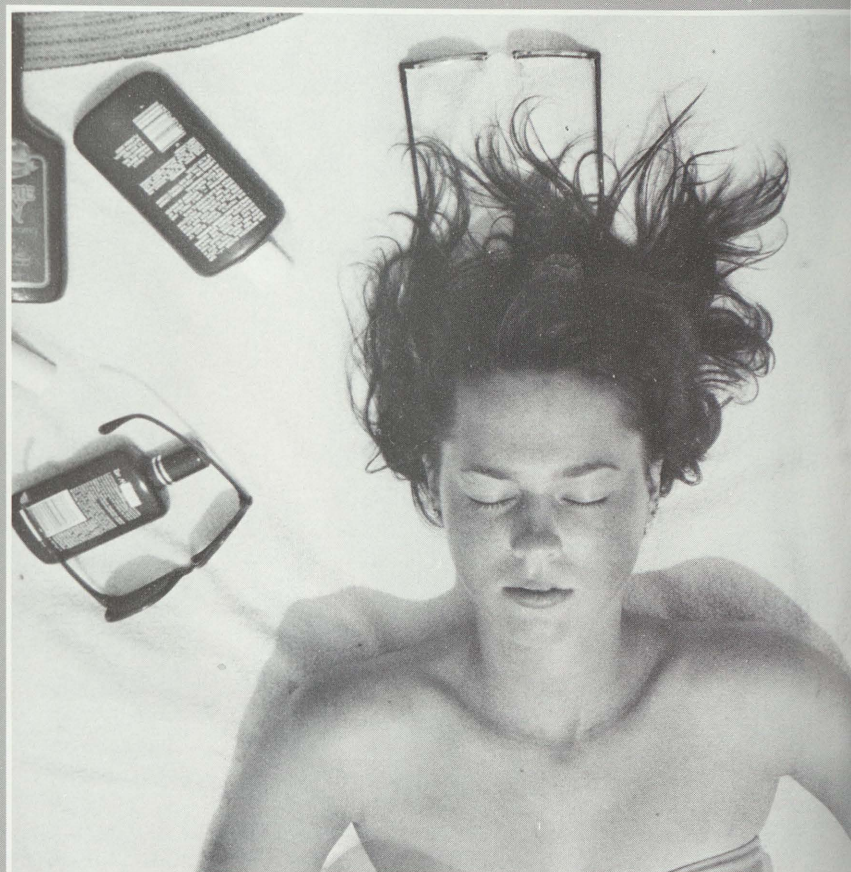

-Jodi Saldana .

Closing....

The year started off rolling even after the teacher strike for the first two weeks of the school year. As soon as it was over the students of Arthur Hill jumped in with both feet to make the 1990-1991 year a success.

The students of Arthur Hill were met with a new feature in their classroom, Channel One, a twelve minute broadcast, 10 minutes of news, 2 minutes of commercials. Although there was some controversy about the commercial part, soon it was excepted and became a part of everyone's life at AH.

As students got settled in, the fall of 1990 held many events, one of them the sports. The sports offered in the fall include: cross country, girl's swimming, tennis, basketball, boys soccer, golf, and football.

Football was a big success when the Hillites went all the way to claim Valley Champs. The football team also took victory at the homecoming game against Flint Northwestern. This game was among the many activities that highlighted 1990's homecoming week in October. On the tenth of that month, the annual fiesta had many clubs participate in the festivities and then was polished off by the powder-puff game in which the Seniors won. That following Friday the Homecoming assembly was held for the students of Arthur Hill and the theme, "Here and Now" by Luther Vandros, was heard over and over again as the court members were presented. Later that evening the 50th anniversary activities were kicked off by a parade that started on the corner of Court St. and Harrison St., the location of the old Arthur Hill. The dedication to a new statue that now stands in the newly named Friendship Square was held directly after the parade. On the next day, the 13th, the week was wrapped up with the homecoming dance.

The clubs offered at Arthur Hill spice up the regular day to day activities of the students. The art club gave a twist to the third floor cafeteria with a mural. Also in the cafeteria this year the black studies club had their Kwanza celebration in which poetry and music was apart of the festivities.

Another added extra bit of fun was the burgers for bucks in which the senior, junior and sophomore class took part in. This years competition was a bit different from last years program instead of Arthur Hill competing against another school we competed among ourselves. At the end of it all the senior class came up on top winning $500 for their senior class.

While all of this was going on the winter sport teams were practicing to make their season the best. That is exactly what they did when the boy's swim team and the hockey team took Valley Champs and boy's basketball came in second for Valley following our cross town rivals, Saginaw High. Other sports this winter included wrestling and girls volley ball.

Even though this school year was filled with many joyous occasions there was world news that hit a little close to home. America was shocked when on August 2nd news of Iraq invading Kuwait, a small country in the middle east which most of us never heard of, was broadcast world wide. Soon troops from across the country were shipped out to the gulf and many were families of Arthur Hill and many of AH alumni's. Students coped and one of the ways was to have a special item drive for the soldiers. The materials collected consisted of toothpaste, combs, newspapers and many more things. Another way was the student council was handing Christmas cards and addresses out to all those who wished to give a soldier a Christmas wish.

1990 ended the first 50 years of Arthur Hill and 1991 started the next 50. The school has seen the BIG FIVE-O and that doesn't keep the Hillites down, no.....we'll keep going strong for every birthday "the Hill" has to celebrate.
